YONKERS

WESTCHESTER COUNTY

N.Y. CITY LINE

In the N.Y. histories there are several spellings of the "brook" and "neck" names. You can guess what they would be

THE BRONX

At this point the brook enters a sewer. Before it becomes a sunken sewer it flows in and out of a beautiful lake in Van Cortlandt Park

Name of Spuyten Duyvil before the American Revolution Tibbets (Tibbets, Tibbets) Neck. After the Revolution Berrien's Neck, then Spuyten Duyvil Neck, now Spuyten Duyvil. On a precipitous hill, but with a patch of cultivable land on top, stood George Tibbets' house, now vanished. The site is now a poorer grove. Berrien's house on top of hill is now a part of another house still to be seen. All the land along the Hudson lofty, opposite the Jersey palisades. Eastward of the narrow border of the river hills stretch the flat lands of the Bronx.

George Tibbets (or Tibbets) of Flushing and Yonkers, N.Y., born probably about 1638, died in Aug. or Sept. 1675. He married, between 1660-1663, Maritima Betts, daughter of William Betts of Westchester, N.Y. He left two children, George 2 and Maritima 2.

He owned a farm at the point where the Harlem connects with the Hudson, along Tibbets' point.

The Tibbets who owned this farm at time of the Revolution was a Tory, so the state confiscated it, put it up at auction, and it was purchased by Tibbets' son-in-law, Sumner Berrien, a Whig, married to Dorcas Tibbets, and therefore it was retained in the family.

Tibbets Brook ran from the hills back of Yonkers south to the Harlem river which it entered about where the Harlem narrows into Spuyten Duyvil. The course of the brook lay back of the ridge that fronts the Hudson and it never was big enough to escape the fate of all brooks before the onset of huge cities. It is now one of New York's numerous sewers. It was known locally as Tibbets Brook.

George Tibbets (Tibbets) is first mentioned in Flushing, Long Island, N.Y., as coming from Mass., Rhode Island and Westchester, N.Y. (See New York Times and Biog. Record, vol. 50, pages 354-364. Volumes 51 and 52 give the later descendants of George). He owned a small island near Tibbets Brook above Fordham, N.Y. There is now in New York City a Tibbets Ave., which extends from a point near the Spuyten Duyvil at West 235th street to West 240th street.

Of spirit lowly, unaffected sense
He lived without one sorrow in his breast;
And when kind Nature call'd that Spirit hence
Without one Sigh he languished into rest;

The breath of Angels seem'd to swell that sail,
And waft him gently to the Shores of Heaven.

BRAUNSTON BENEFACTORS.

JAMES TIBBITS ESQRE.

Braunston (Northants) (my wife's home) is about one mile away from Wolfhamcote (commonly called OVENCOTE) /COTE/ and the dear old Church is full of interest. Only the Manor House.

the home of the Tibbits, is left, all the people have moved to Flecknoe where a new Church has been built. I have met the old Gentleman (Mr. Tibbits) who, I believe, has since died, but the present Lord Hood is quite a young man and recently married.

The home of the Tibbits-Hood, Viscount Hood, is at Barton Seagrave, near Kettering, some 30 miles away, but in the same County of Northampton. I have written to the Librarian, the Carnegie Library, Northampton (where I have spent many hours in research work) to ask for whatever particulars he can send me.

There should therefore be more Inscriptions, pedigree, heraldry, etc.

My copies of the Tibbits Arms were taken at the commencement of my Pedigree &c. work, and are not very decipherable.

Following are some notes I have collected elsewhere.

BROUGHTON (near Kettering) Registers.

1592. Sep. 16. Everate (Everard) Tybbote, of hobote (probably Holcote, Northants) and margret Wyne (Wynne) of pychley (close to Broughton) was married in Broughton Church the xvjth (16th) daye of September 1592. by vertue of a lycence obteyned from my lorde of peterborough (the Bishop of this Diocese), the banes (banns) being published once before the marriage.

1695. Jan. 14. Thomas Tebbot of Broughton, buried in woolen. †

† This refers to an Act of Charles II. to protect the woolen industry; a fine being payable for the use of linen.

1731. Aug. 23. Samuel Tebbot and Martha Mansell, both of Broughton, by Banns. (Marriage.)

The Maunsell's, of Thorpe Malsor Hall, near Kettering, are a very old family and related to the best County people. The late Squire and Parson (called a Squarson!) was a very dear friend of mine, and frequently called; he never forgot our children's birthdays. The present squire is Captain Maunsell.

If you would like to see photographs of Thorpe Malsor hall, I could lend you some.

(The above records compiled by Rev. S.W. Blin-Stoyle M.A.

"The County families of the United Kingdom, or Royal Manual of the titled and untitled aristocracy of Great Britain and Ireland," by Edward Walford, M.A. Pub. London, 1872.

Tibbitts, John Barlase, Esq^{rs}, of Barton Seagrave, Northamptonshire; 4th son of the late Col. Thomas Philip Maunsell of Thorpe Malsor, co. Northampton (who d. 1866), by the Hon. Caroline, daughter of the late Hon. William Cockayne and sister of the last Viscount Gellon (ext), b. 1820; m. 1858, Mary Isabella Vicountess Hood; Educated at Eton; assumed the name of Tibbitts in lieu of Maunsell by royal license in 1858; is a J. P. and D. L. for county Northampton. Lord of the Manor and Hundred of Rothwell; was formerly Captain 12th Lancers Barton Seagrave and Rothwell Grange. Kettering Army and Navy Club s. w.

As will be seen above, one branch of the Tibbitts family in England are related to the Hood-Nelson-Hood family (Lord Bridport), Mary Tibbitts marrying Viscount Hood, an English naval celebrity. She was a daughter of Richard Tibbitts. This branch related to Lord Nelson. An important branch of the above quarter their arms with Maunsell (Argent, a chevron between three maunches, sable), and Barlase of Cornwall), originally of Barlase in the Parish of St. Wynn of Norman origin:—Arms—Ermine, one bend sable two hands issuing from clouds proper rending a golden horseshoe.

"It is to Norman influence we owe the firm establishment of several names, which had already got securely settled on the Continent on account of the odour of sanctity which had gathered about them. The Reformation threw into the shade of oblivion the memories of many holy men and women who in their day and generation exercised a powerful influence on our nomenclature.

page 59: "Having referred to (St Gilbert and the surnames formed from Gilbert) we must needs notice 'Theobald' and 'Tib'. 'St. Theobald' if he has not himself given much prominence to the title, nevertheless represents a name whose susceptibility to change was something amazing.

The common form with the French was 'Thibault' or 'Thibaud', and this was represented in England in such entries as 'Thebald de Englescheville', 'Richard Thebaud', or 'Roger Tebbott'.

A still curter form was 'Tibbe' or 'Tebbe'; hence such registrations as 'Tebbe Molendinarius' or 'Tebb fil William'. In this dress it is found in the Latin lines commemorative of Tyler's insurrection: -

"Hudde ferit, quem Judde terit, dum Tibbe juvatur Jacke domosque viros vellit, en ence neeat".

Among other surnames that speak for its faded popularity are 'Tibbes', 'Tebbes' and 'Tubbs', 'Theobald' and 'Tibbald', 'Tibble' and 'Tipple', 'Tiphins' and 'Tippins' and 'Tipson', and our endlessly varied 'Tibbats', 'Tibbets', 'Tibbits', 'Tebbatts', 'Tebbotts' and 'Tebbutts'. Indeed the name has simply run riot among the vowels".

The following extract from "A Dictionary of English and Welch Surnames with special American instances", by Charles Wareing Bardsley, M.A., pub. in 1901, elaborates still further upon this name:

page 740: Tebbitt, Tebboth, Tebbott, Tebbut, Tebbutt, Tebbets, Tebbetts. ---- (1) Baptismal 'the son of Theobald'. These are not diminutives formed from the nickname 'Tebb' q. v. though practically they became so. They are corrupted forms of the shorter Tebald. (2) Baptismal 'the son of Isabella' from the nickname, Tib, diminutive Tibot; (cf. the Yorkshire Till for Matilda and Tagg for Agnes. This solution is important as helping to the origination of Tib. Tibby is still the pet name of Isabella in the North of England. v. Tebb).

Tibet Talkapace is one of the heroines in Udall's "Ralph Roister Doister" (circa 1550).

"Work, Tibet; work, Annot; work, Margery;
Sew, Tibet; knit, Annot; spin, Margery;
Let us see who will win the victory".

The surnames derived from the above two names (Theobald and Isabella) are now inextricably mixed.

denly interrupted by the Norman conquest. The Anglo-Saxon names which persisted, remained in a state of arrested development and seldom formed familiar derivatives. Those which seem to form exceptions, do so because the corresponding name existed in Old French and thus preserved a vitality which the Anglo-Saxon form had lost. Thus, Rawle, Rawlins, Rawkins, etc., belong to Fr.
Raoul, from O.G. Radwulf, counsel wolf, and our Tibbs, Tibbets, Tibbles, etc., derive from the Fr. Thibaut, O.G. Theodobald, people name.

Explanation of the double dating of the year.

From the union of the Crowns of Scotland and England, which was about 1607-8 to 1752 we find this double dating.

In Scotland the year commenced the first day of January. At that time it began in England the 25th day of March, which was New Year's day, and March was called the first month, and February the twelfth month of the year.

In all the English records you will find the double dating from 1607-8 to September 3, 1752. In the double dating, the first date is the English and the second date is the Scotch. When they changed the year to begin January 1, the year had lost eleven days ---for the next day after September 3 was September 14 ---so you never look for any records between September 3 and September 14, for September 14 was the next day after September 3, changed by statute.

This was changed by Act of Parliament in 1752, and from that time on, the first day of the year commenced on the first day of January, to the present time.

These do not include the duplicates i, e, persons whose records are given twice, and in one or two cases, three times, under different spellings of the name.

HEADS OF FAMILIES IN 1790.

Census Bureau announces an unusual publication.

"Washington. July 29, 1908. -- The Director of the Census announces that under the title "Heads of Families in 1790" the returns for Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, North and South Carolina, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Maryland have been compiled and are now in press. Each state will be published separately as a part of volume, consisting of from 100 to 300 pages. The schedules of 1790 form a unique inheritance for the nation, since they represent a complete list of the heads of families in the United States at the time of the adoption of the constitution."

(Note by W. T. J. --)

In these books I find that under the name of

TIBBETS TIBBETS THERE WERE IN

- MAINE - - - - - 51 families
- NEW HAMPSHIRE - - - - - 6 families

- MASSACHUSETTS - - - - - 3 families

- RHODE ISLAND - - - - - 9 families
- NEW YORK STATE - - - - - 2 families

CONNECTICUT - - - - - 2 families

There are groups of Tibbetts families which cannot be placed. Undoubtedly the ancestor of some of these was Benjamin³ of the third generation, the names of whose children have not been obtained by any of the searchers whose work is known. It is hoped that further research may show where these families belong.

Timothy⁴ Tibbetts (whose wife was Phebe), removed from Somersworth, N.H. after 1735. Names of his children have not been ascertained. He was undoubtedly the ancestor of many of the Tibbetts families whose branches cannot be connected.

Under date of 13 April 1927, Charles Wesley Tibbetts writes: "There are several Tibbetts women that cannot be placed, among them the "Margret Tebbets" of Dover, a widow, who brought her creatures' ear marks to be recorded in November, 1720 (the day is so torn as to be illegible)".

"There was a Jeremiah Tibbetts of the fourth generation (son of Jeremiah and Mary (Twombly) Tibbetts), who had property that had to be administered on. He was accidentally shot in the thigh by his brother John 22 Aug. 1709, and died 31 Aug. 1709. He was old enough to have a family, and perhaps did."

"Another, "John Tebbets" witnessed a deed from Thomas Perkins, Sr. to his son Nathaniel Perkins, both of Dover, date of deed April 25, 1693. The oldest John Tebbets I have is John, born Aug. 29, 1685, the son of Capt. Thomas and Judith (Dam) Tebbets. He would have been seven years and a half old in 1693, certainly too young for a witness to a deed."

"A certain John Tibbetts I found in Ipswich and from that place he went up into central New Hampshire and there was a mix-up and the person I thought went over to Northwood and Laconia, I later found him down east, so I do not dare to place those people's lines until I go over the New Hampshire deeds and wills thoroughly again."

"I have a long list of Tibbetts' who came from the Island of Grand Menan and I am sending to New Brunswick for abstracts of deeds and wills. One John L. Tibbetts came from Grand Menan and several of his descendants have applied for membership into the Tibbetts Family Association."

Under date of 27 Dec. 1921, Charles Wesley Tibbetts makes the following statement: "For the past two months I have been writing up the descendants of the fifth generation of the Tibbetts family. I have sixty men of that generation. There is one family of the third generation, that of Benjamin³, I have not yet found; and three or four of the fourth generation, the names of whose children I have not yet obtained."

"Of Nathaniel⁵ Tibbetts, founder of the Boothbay, Maine, branch of the family, I have names of 354 descendants and perhaps there are one hundred more names I have not yet obtained."

"Of Lieut. Nathaniel^b and Lois (Davis) Tibbetts of Woolwich, Maine, I have names of about one hundred and fifty descendants, with perhaps fifty more which I have not obtained."

Under date of 1 Dec. 1924, Mr. Tibbetts states: "I was in Portland, Maine, the other day looking over the city Directory for 1924 and I found sixty-one Tibbetts families and of course there are as many more on the female side who have married out of the name."

Boston Telephone Directory for year 1917 gives 38 Tibbetts names under various spellings. The Boston city directory for same year would undoubtedly give many more.

Lynn, Mass. for year 1917, seven Tibbetts families.

Peabody, Mass., for year 1917, three Tibbetts families.

Boston Telephone Directory for year 1920 gives fifty Tibbetts names under various spellings. The city directory for same year would undoubtedly give more.

Boston Telephone Directory for year 1922 gives seventy-five Tibbetts names under various spellings. The city directory for same year would undoubtedly give more.

San Francisco Telephone Directory for year 1916 gives twenty Tibbetts names.

San Francisco Telephone Directory for year 1933 gives nine Tibbetts families.

Oakland Telephone Directory for year 1933 gives sixteen Tibbetts families.

Los Angeles Telephone Directory for year 1916 gives seventeen Tibbetts families under various spellings of the name. Probably city directory gives many more.

Los Angeles Telephone Directory for year 1932 gives thirty-three Tibbetts families. Probably city directory for same year gives many more.

Tippet.

As shown in the quotation given below, the name of Tippet is found among the Moravians, in 1777, two brothers and a sister, one brother and the sister residing in the Choir Houses in Letitz, a new Brethren's Congregation-Place in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, seventy miles from Philadelphia. They were related to a Mr. Padget.

Records of the Moravians in North Carolina, vol. 3, p. 1159, by Fries, 1776-1779:

Salem Diary, 1777. August 9 Again an Advertisement was sent to our three towns ordering us to attend Muster on Sept. 10th. This was in accordance with a resolution of Court Martial, held June 5th, and was probably in order to establish their right to collect fines, therefore we did not post the Advertisement.

Brother Ernst wrote that Michael and George Hauser and Heinrich Schor attended the General Muster at Richmond last Tuesday. Mr. Padget brought a relative, Tippet by name, who has a brother and a sister in the Choir Houses in Lititz; he asked for work for several weeks with Brother Yarrell, as he is a leather-dresser, and it was given him.

The building thereof was begun in 1757, and there is a roomy Meeting-house, Choir Houses for the Single Brethren and the Single Sisters, also many family Dwelling Houses.

Petition of Inhabitants of Wiscasset, Maine.

Among those who signed petition of inhabitants of Wiscasset, Me., 13 March 1754, Paul Tibbetts, Daniel Tibbetts, Olisha Kenny, Olisha Kenny, Jr.,
Thomas Kenny and others (New Eng. Hist. Gen. Register, vol. 28, p. 411).

The history of the Tibbetts family in this country has been sadly neglected. It is one of the oldest families in New England. So little can be found in printed books in libraries that many persons, after making a thorough search, have not been able to connect their lines. The first five generations comprised in this book are probably as complete, so far as names and dates are concerned, as they stand on the books of the Tibbetts Family Association. All dates have been verified with painstaking care.

On 5 Sept. 1921, Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., of Ogunquit beach, Wells, Maine (P.O. Moody), organized the Tibbetts Family Association (see Vol. 2), of which association he was elected president and continued in that office until his death 21 Oct. 1928, at the age of 82 years. He was succeeded by Charles Fremont Tibbetts, Esq. of Sanford, Me., whose resignation took place in 1931, and, at the annual meeting, 22 Aug. 1931, George Warren Tibbetts, Esq. of Lyman, Me., was elected president.

The genealogical manuscripts of the late Charles Wesley Tibbetts are now, 1934, in possession of the Tibbetts Family Association and are in charge of Mrs. Helen Legro of 13 Elm Street, Somersworth, New Hampshire, treasurer and historian of the association. It is to be hoped that some day a middle-west and western branch may be organized, which will co-operate with the main association.

To all who have rendered assistance in contributing data, I am sincerely grateful. I am especially indebted to George Walter Chamberlain, Esq., of Malden, Mass., for the interesting and valuable material from Massachusetts Archives relative to Capt. Benjamin Tibbetts of Lebanon, Maine, his garrison house at Lebanon and service in the Indian wars at Saco; also, to Charles Thornton Libby, Esq., of Yarmouth and Portland, Me., for certain genealogical items.

If, in years to come, any Tibbetts descendant, or group of descendants, should be willing to defray the expense of publishing this book, under the auspices of the Newberry Library, Chicago, or of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, Boston, or Library of Congress, Washington, I am willing that this should be done, if the proof-reading be done by experienced workers who will carefully verify all dates, and with the provision that half of the edition be presented to libraries, including all state libraries and others featuring a genealogical department.

Only six copies of this book have been made. They will be placed in the libraries mentioned above and in Public Library of the city of Los Angeles, Calif., Sutro Branch State Library, San Francisco, Calif., and State Library, Augusta, Maine.

1st Generation

111

HENRY TIBBETTS OF DOVER, NEW HAMPSHIRE AND
SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

By Mrs. May (Tibbetts) Jarvis of San Diego, California.

Compiled from records, the greater part of the fifth and sixth generations of which I purchased from the late Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., of Ogunquit beach, Wells, Maine, and from the Tibbetts Family Association to which he bequeathed his records; therefore be it remembered that Mr. Tibbetts is the authority and to him all credit is due.

The account herein given represents only a small proportion of families of the sixth and later generations. Although still incomplete it will form a working basis for those interested in the history of this family.

Charles Wesley Tibbetts, retired lawyer, died at his summer home, Ogunquit beach, 21 Oct. 1928, aged 82 years. For more than fifty years, in his untiring search, he had faithfully gathered Tebbetts, Tibbetts records from all available sources and, with painstaking accuracy which characterized all his work, had copied land-grants, town records, deeds, wills, gravestone inscriptions and family Bible entries.

He bequeathed his genealogical manuscripts to the Tibbetts Family Association, which he organized and of which he was the first president.

Certain errors are noted in Savage's "Genealogical Dictionary" (vol. 4, pp. 299-300), which gives the first three generations of the Tebbetts, Tibbetts family. The Rev. Alonzo H. Quint (New Eng. Hist. Gen. Register, vol. 8, pp. 130, 131, 132) followed Savage, and, with additional records from vital statistics of Dover, New Hampshire, carried out eighteen families, giving names of children in the fourth generation.

There was a Walter Tibbetts (Tybbot) of Marshfield, 1640, later of Gloucester, Mass., the freeman of 19 May 1642, selectman that and three following years, who was born in 1584 and came with the Rev. Blynman party, which party was composed of persons who were largely it is supposed members of Rev. Blynman's church at Chepstow, Monmouthshire, Wales (New Eng. Hist. Gen. Register, vol. 53, pp. 234-7). He died in Salem, Mass., 14 Aug. 1651. He left no sons. His daughter Mary married 6 Nov. 1645, William Haskell of Salem, 1637, who died at Gloucester 20 Aug. 1693. Another daughter (presumably Agnes) married Edward Clark. The will of Walter Tibbetts (Tybbot) dated 5 June 1651, makes wife executrix, names grandchildren Richard Dike, Joseph and William Haskell, John and Joseph Clark, besides Elizabeth Dike, perhaps mother, probably sister of Richard, Elinor Luscombe and Salome Trill (Savage's "Genealogical Dictionary," vol. 4, p. 300). (Pope's "Pioneers of Massachusetts," p. 45-4).

This Walter of Marshfield and Gloucester, and Henry of Dover Neck, New Hampshire (our ancestor), are the only ones of the name who are known to have come over early. Whether they were related is not known.

May Tibbetts Jarvis

I. The founder in America of the Tebbetts, Tibbetts family which forms the subject of this genealogy, and the progenitor of the great majority of this surname who are of New England ancestry (whatever the various spellings of the name), was Henry¹ Tibbetts, born in England in 1596, who came to New England in the "James," which sailed from London 13 July 1635, aged 39, with wife Elizabeth, aged 39, and two children, Jeremiah ("Jeremy"), aged 4, Samuel, aged 2, and *Remembrance, aged 28 (his sister) (Register, vol. 14, p. 321). Where he first located is unknown. The tradition is that it was in Boston. He settled at *Remembrance Tibbetts (sister of Henry¹), married John Ault (Libby's "Gen. Dict. Maine and New Hampshire," vol. 1, p. 68), of Dover, N.H., who was sent to Piscataqua by Capt. John Mason on or before 1631. John Ault was born in England in 1601 (as by deposition), was an inhabitant of Oyster River Point in 1645. Constable, 1650, 1657. Grand Jury, 1650, 1660; was living in 1679; his farm bordered on Plum Swamp brook. They deeded land to their three daughters in 1669, 1672 and 1674. Children: i. Rebecca, b. 1641; m. (1) in 1660, Henry Hallowell; m. (2) 28 Sept. 1665, Thomas¹ Egerly (Register, vol. 34, p. 282), of Dover, N.H., who emigrated from England; resided at Oyster River (now Durham), N.H. ii. Elizabeth; m. William Perkins of Oyster River. iii. Remembrance, b. about 1650; m. John² Rand (Francis¹), of Oyster River, who was b. in 1645. Probably both were slain by Indians in the massacre of 1694 (Stackpole's Hist Durham, vol. 1, pp. 44, 95).

Dover, (New Hampshire), 1635-1650.
and shoemaker. He is said by Pope ("Pioneers of Maine and New Hampshire," p. 206) to have been a proprietor at Dover Neck in 1642. He died there in 1676, at the age of eighty years, having survived his wife Elizabeth several years. The statement has sometimes appeared in print that he had second wife, Mary, but this is an error.

The following brief probate record of his will is to be found in New Hampshire Province Probate Records, Book 5, p. 18, on file in Concord, N.H.:

"1676 June 27 Will of Henry Tibbetts proved by Mrs. Judith Reyer. She was probably the witness. Allow John Roberts an inventory of the estate lb. 207.05.00 Sworn to by John Roberts."

By some error the above probate record of the will of Henry Tibbetts the immigrant has been omitted from "Probate Records of the Province of New Hampshire, vol. 1, 1635-1717, State Papers Series. This omission is greatly to be regretted.

He was admitted freeman at Dover, 1653. 2mo: 5 (Register, vol. 4, p. 247). He was constable 5 April 1653; was "viewer of fences" took the oath of office as "sealer of leather" for the town in 1661; testified in the suit of John Ault against Capt. Thomas Wiggin in 1645; had lawsuit in 1647. He, planter, sold land in Dover to John Tuttle 6 June 1657; brought suit in 1659 against Charles Allen of Dover for using certain lands of his; supported the jurisdiction of Massachusetts in 1665; joined in petition of inhabitants to the General Court 10 Oct. 1665 (Mass. Archives, 106, 160).

He had several grants of land from the town. In all the grants and deeds his name is spelled in various ways. He had a grant in 1643 of 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres for a house lot on Dover Neck, bounded east by William Furber's, north by John Heard's, south by George Walton's, west by the common (Dover Old Book of Records, p. 12). This homestead lot was on the east side of High Street and was near the site of the schoolhouse. Its location is given on the map of Dover Neck Village.

His first grant from the town, in the year 1642, comprised twenty acres situated on the west side of Back River, designated as Lot No. 3, and this was his farm which was reached by boat. These 20 acre lots which were laid out to the early inhabitants are described in "Old Series 315 Dover Old Book of Records", as located "On the west sied of ye Back Reuer or ouer ye Back Reuer," and as being "in Breadth at the waterside 40 Poell and in lenketh 80 Pole vp in to the woods."

He had a grant in the year 1656 of one hundred acres of land lying between St. Alban's Cove and Quamphegan, known by the name of the Eighth Lot (Dover Old Book of Records, p. 70). This hundred-acre tract was in the family in succeeding generations. It was conveyed by deed from Henry Tibbetts in the year 1659, to his son Jeremiah Tibbetts and son-in-law Thomas Nock. The deed was witnessed by William Pomphrett and Humphrey Varney (Rockingham County, New Hampshire Deeds, Grantors, Book 9, p. 126).

Scales' Hist. Dover, Tercentenary edition, p. 179, states: "The river lots from St. Alban's Cove to Quamphegan, granted in 1656, ranged upwards as follows: Lieut. Ralph Hall, John Roberts, Deacon John Hall, Henry Magoun, James Grant, Thomas Canney, Joseph Austin, Henry Tebbetts, John Damme and Thomas Beard; and there they reached the land of Thomas Broughton. In 1658, a second and interior range was granted going northward, to Jeremy Tebbetts, Clement."

He was taxed in 1648, and each succeeding year to 1675, as a resident of Dover Neck. In the year 1648, in the earliest tax rate of Dover now on record, Henry Tibbetts "Rated 0087:00:00 and to pay 4d. pL is 0001:09:00."

He was a member of the first parish in Dover (Stackpole's Hist. New Hampshire, vol. 1, p. 33). His name is found among those who paid the tax rate for support of the minister in 1658, 1662, 1666 and in other years.

He may have been in the Wiggin immigration although he did not come with Capt. Wiggin's first group of colonists. Undoubtedly he came from the west of England. The tradition has been handed down in some branches of the family that this first Henry Tibbetts came from Wales. This does not mean that he came from modern Wales, but merely that he was Welch, that is to say, of the ancient British stock, not Anglo-Saxon. Devon and Cornwall were in ancient days called West Wales.

He did not continue to reside on the east side of High Street. Note the following old Dover record:

1652, 5, 10 mo. "Ordered that the Inhabitants of Dover Necke shall have the Land that Lyeth Waste on the west side of the Necke to make them a Calves Pasture from the Lott of John Hall & Philip Lewis to the Springe near Henery Tebutts & so to the waterside to be fenced in by the Inhabitants."

This was the spring that was later known as the Pinkham spring, and, although now overgrown, it may still be located a few rods west of the stone marker which marks the site of the Pinkham garrison which stood on the north side of a lane leading from the west side of High Street (now the State road and known as Dover Point road) towards Back River. His home was on Low Street and he dwelt near his son Jeremiah.

In connection with holding minor offices in the town, the fact that he took the "oath of office" is evidence that he was not a Quaker. There are no records to prove that Henry¹ Tibbetts had any more children than his two sons, Jeremiah and Samuel, who came with him from England, and his daughter Rebecca, who was born in New England and who married Thomas Nook. If the Henry Tibbits, Quaker, who appears in Rhode Island in 1660, and married Sarah Stanton there in 1661, was his son, no record has yet been found that will prove this relationship, although it is reasonable to suppose that he may have been. There is, or was, an old Dover record which stated that a Henry Tibbetts, in 1659, was brought into court and fined for being a Quaker, and (if the record has been quoted correctly) it may have referred to the Henry who settled in Kings Town, R. I. in 1660 ("Gen. Dict. of Rhode Island," p. 202; Hotten's 2nd edition, 1880), known to have been a member of the Society of Friends, whose descendants for the most part have spelled their surname Tibbits and their genealogical lines have been worked out independently. The majority of the New York state and Canada Tibbits and Tibbetts families are descended from the Rhode Island family. Some of the New York group were ardent Tories while others were good Revolutionary soldiers as New York Revolutionary rolls testify.

Savage's "Genealogical Dictionary" attributes a Thomas as son of Henry, the immigrant. The name of "Tho: Tibbott" is on the subscription list for the support of the minister in Portsmouth for the year 1671; subscriptions began to be taken March 17

ly no money was collected. The late Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., expressed the opinion that the "Tho: Tibbott" who subscribed toward the maintenance of the minister in Portsmouth in 1671, was Capt. Thomas³, without doubt, when he worked in Portsmouth as a boy, who, boy-fashion, subscribed for the minister. Mr. Tibbetts further states. "As to the Otto or Otho Tibbetts in New Hampshire Adjutant's Report, I looked at the original record the other day and it was Tho: with a big flourish of the T, which they read as O."

The old spelling of the surname of the New Hampshire and Maine families was undoubtedly Tebbets as shown in early wills, deeds, public records and family papers, and this old spelling is still in use by some branches, as well as Tebbetts. However, the great majority now use the spelling Tibbetts and Tibbets, as shown by city directories of the present day in the United States, while various other spellings are also found. The branches who use the spelling Tippetts are undoubtedly descendants of Henry¹ of Dover.

His descendants number twelve generations to the present time. All are eligible to membership in the society of "Piscataqua Pioneers." Many were soldiers in the Revolutionary War and many, many served in the Civil War. By the end of the Revolutionary period we find a little more than half the number of Tibbetts families residing in Maine, as shown by the United States Census of 1790.

Under date of 18 Dec. 1926 Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., of Moody, Maine, writes as follows:

Have you made any study of the Rhode Island family of Tibbetts? A Henry Tibbetts went to that state in 1660 and married there in 1661; he was a Quaker. A Henry Tibbetts a Quaker was prosecuted in New Hampshire in 1659. I am inclined to think that Henry Tibbitts Tibbitts the Quaker of Rhode Island was a son of Henry Tibbetts of Dover, New Hampshire, the immigrant.

When I first began looking up the family, I remember of finding a record of the prosecution of Henry Tibbetts of New Hampshire in 1659 at one of the sessions in that year. At the time I thought it must be Henry the immigrant, but our Henry had been holding public offices right along and I find that in 1661 he took the oath of office as "sealer of leather", and if he had been a Quaker he would not have done so. The very next year, 1660, Henry Tibbitts, a young man, appears in Rhode Island a Quaker, and in 1661 married a woman there and lived there the rest of his life.

At first I thought the Henry of Portsmouth was the same person, but I find that he was not. I shall closely examine all the court records and see what I can find, but I am almost confident that the Henry of Rhode Island was a son of our Henry of Dover, New Hampshire. Look up what you can find on the Quaker books of about 1650 to 1670 of the Quakers who came to these parts and of their converts, especially of Henry Tibbitts."

Pub. 1929: Stackpole's Hist. Durham, vol. 1, pp. 43-44.

Remembrance¹ Tibbetts, born in England, in 1607, sister of Henry Tibbetts, the immigrant, came to New England with her brother Henry's family in the ship "James", in July, 1635, all of whom settled in Dover, New Hampshire (at Dover Neck). In the list of ship's passengers their name is spelled Tybbot.

She married John Ault of Oyster River (now Durham), New Hampshire, who was sent to Piscataqua by Capt. John Mason on or before 1631.

John Ault was born in England in 1601 (as by deposition), was an inhabitant of Oyster River Point in 1645. Constable, 1650, 1657. Grand Jury, 1650, 1660; was living in 1679. They deeded land to their three daughters in 1669, 1672 and 1674.

Stackpole's Hist. Durham, vol. 1, p. 43, states that John Ault must have settled at Oyster River about the year 1635. His farm lay between Long Creek and the next brook north called in ancient deeds Plumb Swamp Brook. It stretched from Little Bay back into the woods. John Ault conveyed to his son-in-law John Rand, 21 April 1674, "all y^e place or plantation whereon I now live."

Children:

- i. Rebecca Ault, b. 1641; m. (1) in 1660, Henry Hallowell; m. (2) 28 Sept. 1665, Thomas¹ Edgerly of Dover, N.H., who emigrated from England. They resided at Oyster River (now Durham), N.H. (Further records hereafter).
- ii. Elizabeth Ault; m. William Perkins of Oyster River.
- iii. Remembrance Ault, b. about 1650; (made a deposition 5 July 1682, aged thirty-two years or thereabout).
She m. John² Rand (Francis¹), of Oyster River Point, who was b. in 1645. Probably both were slain by Indians in the massacre of 1694. (Stackpole's Hist. Durham, vol. 1, pp. 44, 95). He was the son of Francis¹ Rand, an early New Hampshire colonist, b. 1616 in England, sent over by Capt. John Mason about 1633, settled in that part of Portsmouth, which is now Rye, was killed by the Indians at Sandy Beach 29 Sept. 1691, whose wife was named Christian (also killed by Indians). (See Parson's Hist. Rye, N.H., p. 499: Pope's "Pioneers of Maine and New Hampshire, pp. 168-9: Stackpole's Hist. Durham, N.H., vol. 2, p. 310).

On 18 April 1718, Hannah and Francis Rand, Nathaniel Rand and wife Elizabeth, of Newington, sold to Job Reynolds of

Family of John and Remembrance (Tibbetts) Ault of Oyster River (now Durham), New Hampshire. (cont.)

Oyster River, land at Oyster River, which John Ault gave to his son-in-law, John Rand, and wife Remembrance.

Children of John² and Remembrance (Ault) Rand:

- 1. John³ Rand; m. Elizabeth -----. He d. before 1 Aug. 1698.

On 18 Feb. 1697/8, John³ Rand and wife Elizabeth sold to John Edgerly, a piece of land called "ye meadow ground." John³ Rand of Oyster River had estate administered by wife Elizabeth. She was appointed administratrix 1 Aug. 1698.

Their children were:

- (1) John⁴ Rand. This John⁴ Rand, minor, chose Francis Matthews for guardian. He m. 17 Dec. 1718, Joanna⁴ Willey (Thomas³, Stephen², Thomas¹), daughter of Thomas and Frances Willey of Oyster River, and granddaughter of Stephen and Abigail (Pittman) Willey of Oyster River.

The above-named John⁴ Rand of Oyster River sold to Francis Matthews, 17 Nov. 1718, thirty acres called "Rand's Plantation." He was living in Durham in 1737, with wife Joanna.

- (2) Christian⁴ Rand; m. 6 Dec. 1717, Naphtali Kincaid.

- 2. Remembrance⁵ Rand; carried into captivity by the Indians in the raid of 1694; was still a captive in 1710. (Hist. Durham, vol. 1, p. 96, and p. 102).
- 3. A boy named Samuel Rand was redeemed from captivity in 1695; was probably youngest child of John and Remembrance (Ault) Rand.

Location of the farm of John and Remembrance (Tibbetts) Ault, at Oyster River (now Durham), Township of Dover, New Hampshire, which was divided between their sons-in-law, Thomas Edgerly and John Rand.

Copied from Stackpole's Hist. Durham, vol. 1, p. 41:

"In 1658 the selectmen laid out for the use of the town a grove of pine trees, "lieinge and beinge on the north west sied of the letell Bay half a mile or thereabout from a creeke called the Long Creek bounded upon the South by Tho Willey his grant."

On the 10th of the 2^d month, 1654, Thomas Willey had a grant on the northwest side of Little Bay "threescore rods by the Water side to begin at the mouth of Long Creeke and so upwards eight score rods into the woods." Willey sold this to William Perkins, and, 28 January 1669, William Perkins and Elizabeth, his wife, conveyed to Thomas Edgerly a parcel of land "lying & being on the northwest side of the Little Bay and on the southwest side of the long creek in the town of Dover afores^d containing twenty pole by ye water side, being marked and bounded by the long creek afores^d on the north east side of said parcell of land and by a hemlock tree on the other side which standoth by the water side containing twenty acres more or less, the which parcell of land is a part of the sixty acres purchased of Thomas Willey."

These twenty acres passed to Thomas Degerly's son John and, 4 February 1711, John Edgerly and wife, Elizabeth, conveyed to Samuel Edgerly (his brother) twenty acres on the northwest side of Little Bay, bounded on the north "by the Creeke called and known by the name of the Mill Creek, bounded on the east with the aforesaid Little Bay, bounded on the south with the land of John Wheelers lately deceased."

Thus it seems that John Wheeler had acquired before 1711 the land laid out in 1658 for a pine grove for the use of the town.

This land of Edgerly's is now in the possession of James Meader and Long Creek is called today Meader's Creek. A two-branched creek flows through the field in front of Meader's house and empties into the head of Long Creek, called also Mill Creek in some deeds, because a mill was erected at an early date near the mouth of it. Long Creek winds up into the woods that conceal it perhaps less than an eighth of a mile. It is broad and deep, an admirable refuge for fishing craft in the old days. Just south of it, on the elevated land, amid the woods that may have formed a part of the pine grove reservation, have recently been built some summer cottages.

North of Long Creek it is difficult to locate with precision the first settlers, because there were so frequent transfers of grants of land. The following citation from Dover records will aid us. The record has been slightly mutilated. "The grant of land by the Town of Dover to Thomas Footman of twenty acres as appears by ye date of of the first month, 1651, and also a grant of ten acres granted to John Hill, granted to him by ye Town of Dover at a meeting they had ye 10 of ye 8"

These two grants are laid out and bounded as follows, 65 rods along ye shore from Thomas Mumphreys next John Alts long creek near ye mill and from thence west nor west 90 rods to a marked tree marked T.C. and from y^t tree it runs north northeast 50 rods to a red oak tree marked again with T.C. and from thence it runs east southeast till it comes to ye same brook where it began, and wheress the town intended a high way. & landing place att long Creek it is ordered yt there all be three rod in bedth as it is now marked to the end of the lott and what wast land is between the high way and ye creek, equall with ye creek, is Thomas Edgerlys by in consideration of ye high way.

This land we find to be Thomas Edgerlys by ye consent of his father in law John Alt and John Bickford of Oyster River senior, so then we finds thaß the brook that is betweene John Alts and Thomas Edgerlys is the bound given by John Alt to ye said Edgerly his land and is laid out and bounded this 18 of November 1678." Signed by John Davis and Robert Burnum.

p. 43: "Here mention is made of a mill on Long Creek and a high way therefrom. These are again mentioned in a deed from Thomas Edgerly, senior, and his wife, Rebecca, to their son, Samuel Edgerly, dated 21 May 1700. It conveyed fifteen acres "bounded from a marked pine tree at ye head of ye old dam, seated between the long Cricke brook and the high way that goeth out into ye Commons, lying to ye west of ye little bay in Oyster River."

On 28 January 1711, Thomas Edgerly and wife Rebecca, sold to their son John Edgerly, seventy or eighty acres of land on the north-west side of the Little Bay "bounded on the north by land of John Rand. It fronteth on the aforesaid little bay and is bounded on the south by the creek called and known by the name of the mill creek, at the water side and from there into the woods."

Thus we see that Thomas Edgerly owned land on both sides of Long or Mill Creek. That on the north side came to him by marrying Rebecca, widow of Henry Hallowell, and daughter of John Ault. The marriage took place in 1685. His garrison house was evidently north of Long Creek, now Meader's Creek, and was burned by the Indians in 1694. Shortly afterward he petitioned that the neighboring house of John Rand should be made a garrison. Rand had married Remembrance, the other daughter of John Ault, and so had half of the original estate of John Ault, who was one of Capt. John Mason's colonists and must have settled at Oyster River about the year 1635.

p. 44: "His, John Ault's farm lay between Long Creek and the next brook north called in ancient deeds Plumb Swamp Brook. John Ault conveyed to his son-in-law John Rand, 21 April 1674, "All ye place or plantation whereon I now live."

On 17 November 1718, John Rand, son of the John Rand who, with wife, Remembrance, was probably killed by Indians in the massacre of 1694, conveyed to Francis Matthes thirty acres of "Rand's Plantation," "on the northwest side of ye Little Bay," between John Edgerly's land on the south and John Ambler's land on the north."

On 26 Nov. 1720, Job Runnels sold to John Ambler land which John Ault gave to his son-in-law, John Rand and wife Remembrance, in 1764, which land Runnels bought of Nathaniel Rand and Francis Rand."

p. 95: "Thomas Edgerly, senior, sent a petition to the Governor and Council at Strawberry Bank. It has no date but it was considered in Council 20 July, so that it must have been written the next day after the massacre. It is as follows:

"Whereas it has pleased God to cast affliction upon him and his Neighbors by the sudden incursion of the Indian Enemyes, having his Son wounded, now remaining at Strawberry Bank under Capt. Facker's hand, and his dwelling house burned, and his goods Destroyed.

Humbly Desires your Consideration of his Low Condition and that you would Graunt him and his Neighbors Liberty to make the house of John Rand Deceased a Garrison ffor the Security and defence of some of the Remaining ffamilies adjacent, and to Graunt us supply of six men, and we shall always pray ffor your happiness and Prosperity " (N. H. State Papers, vol. XVIII, p. 640).

John Rand, mentioned in this petition, married Remembrance, daughter of John Ault, and sister to Rebecca, wife of Thomas Edgerly.

"The old farm of John Ault, bordering on Plum Swamp brook, had been divided between Edgerly and Rand. It stretched from Little Bay back into the woods, and on this farm was the Rand-Edgerly garrison, where soldiers were quartered after the time of the massacre, soldiers impressed from Hampton. The probate records disclose that administration on the estate of John Rand and Remembrance Rand was granted to John Rand, probably their son, and that his bond, dated March 1694/5 had for sureties Thomas Edgerly and Edward Leathers.

It is probable that John Rand and his wife, Remembrance, perished in the massacre. A boy, named Samuel Rand, was redeemed from captivity in 1695, and Remeembrance Rand was still a captive in 1710. (See Coll. of the Maine Historical Society, 2nd Series, Vol. V, 516).

At the memorable attack on Oyster River settlement by the Indians on the 18th of July 1694, his son Zachariah was killed, his garrison house was destroyed, and he was taken prisoner, but soon after escaped. Dover Neck, New Hampshire.

(Copied from Wentworth Genealogy, vol. 1, p. 86):

Dover Neck. "After some changes of ownership Capt. Thomas Wiggin (who first came in 1631, but returned for more supplies), as agent for the proprietors, brought over in 1633 "about thirty", who were from the west of England, and most of whom were of good estates, "and of some account for religion." These landed at Salem, Mass., 10 Oct. 1633, from the ship "James", Capt. Grant. They settled a little farther up than the Hilton's on a swell of land known as Dover Neck. Here was the church built, and this place was long the principal part of the town. Others soon settled across the Piscataqua southward, on a tract known as Bloody Point. Others settled on Oyster River, west of Dover Neck, and that place bore the name of the river. It is now Durham.

In a few years, perhaps as early as 1640, Richard Walderne built mills at the lower falls of the Cocheco, about four miles north of Dover Neck, and this settlement was known as Cocheco. The four parts, Dover Neck, Bloody Point, Oyster River and Cocheco, were all in the limits of Dover, the part known as Cocheco coming (as settled) to reach the Quamhegan and Newichawanock on the northeast. The Newichawanock River and the Piscataqua (into which it flows at Dover Point) was the eastern boundary of Dover; and the former river is still that boundary of the present Dover, and separates it from the State of Maine.

The original Dover comprised the present city of Dover and the towns Durham, Madbury, Lee, Somersworth and Rollinsford, and parts of Newington (Bloody Point) and a little of Greenland.

Cocheco is now the central part of the city of Dover and the falls are the site of the extensive cotton mills. In early times Cocheco was the main trading post of that section with the Indians, and its general business increased so steadily that before 1700 it had outgrown the other parts of the town.

(Copied from Scales' Hist. Dover, p. 91: Tercent. edition, pub. 1923):

The settlement on Dover Neck began in October, 1633. The colonists who struck the first blow to prepare for habitation came over from the west of England, in the ship "James", and landed at Salem, Mass., 10th of October, 1633. There were "about thirty" in the party, nearly all men There is no record of just what these pioneers did at first, but from what we know was done it seems reasonably sure that first of all they cut a path through the woods along the shore from Pomeroy's Cove, where now the railroad crosses the State Road, to the rise of the ground a short distance below where stood the old Millet apple tree, in front of the Coleman House.

From the foot of the hill they cut a path northwesterly to the height of land, between what is now (1923) the State Road and Back Cove, where later they located their first log Meeting-house.

Also they cut a path a short distance up the hill, where the State Road is. Then, having cleared the trees away, the first houses were built in this section, the meeting-house being the center of business during the first years, as all public meetings were held there, town meetings as well as religious meetings.

Page 92: "In a couple of years the village had grown so that the settlement reached the top of the hill, above where the second meeting-house was built in 1654, and its site is now marked by a wall with a bronze tablet."

Back River (now called the Bellamy river) is situated between Cochecho and Oyster River (now Durham).

Oyster River, now Durham, was formerly a part of Dover. Cochecho was that part of Dover where the compact part of the town is now located.

The old church of Rev. John Pike's time stood about four miles to the southward of Cochecho, at what is now called Dover Neck. Salmon Falls is a village in the town of Rollinsford, formerly a part of Dover.

Saw-mills at Quamphegan and at what is now Salmon Falls gathered a population.

Journal of Rev. John Pike 1678-1709.

"The original journal of Rev. John Pike is now in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society at Boston. By permission of the society a copy of the journal was published in Vol. 3, Oct. 1905, of the New Hampshire Genealogical Record, an illustrated quarterly magazine. Rev. John Pike was born May 13, 1653, at Salisbury, Mass. He was son of Maj. Robert and Sarah (Sanders) Pike, and grandson of John Pike who came from Langford, England in the ship "James" in 1635. Rev. John Pike graduated from Harvard College in the year 1675. He commenced preaching occasionally at Dover, N. H. though he was not settled there until Aug. 31, 1681, being the ninth minister of Dover. He died at Dover 1709-10.

Dover Neck.

page 112: There were two streets and numerous lanes in the village when it was at the height of its prosperity and was "Dover" per se.

High Street, now the State Road, and Low Street, which was about thirty-six rods west of High Street and parallel to it, through what is now fields and gardens of prosperous farmers.

The map prepared (in 1914) and reproduced in this volume shows where the lanes were but possibly not all of them.

Low Street

page 114: Low Street was low only in name. It was on the western side of the hill but was high above Back River. On this street were located the first meeting-house, the parsonage, the prison, the stocks, the pillory and possibly the whipping-post, but there is no record that they had such a post in Dover; however as the town was under Massachusetts and the people were subject to the criminal laws of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, the whipping-post may have been a necessity required to fulfil the law.

On this street also were the cooper shops where the workmen put the pipe staves into shape and headed and hooped the casks, then took them apart and packed them for transportation to Barbadoes Island where the material was put into shape again by the coopers there ready for the use of the sugar planters.

On this street also were the blacksmith shops and the carpenter shops. So it is manifest that Low Street was a very busy place for many years.

page 207: It is well to bear in mind that the Indians did not trouble Dover people before 1675, more than thirty years after the grants of land were made. So there were no garrisons before that date. Another point to bear in mind is that there was no call for building garrisons after 1725, when the Indian wars ceased here, having continued fifty years. The last Dover man who lost his scalp was John Evans, the poet Whittier's great-grandfather.

page 179: The river lots from St. Alban's Cove to Quamphegan, granted in 1656, ranged upward as follows: Lieut. Ralph Hall, John Roberts, Deacon John Hall, Henry Magoun, James Grant, Thomas Canney, Joseph Austin, Henry Tibbetts, John (Dammo) and Thomas Beard; and then they reached the land of Thomas Broughton. In 1658 a second and interior range was granted going northward to Jeremy Tibbets, Thomas Hanson and Ralph Twombly; and interior of these to Job Clement. While only a few of these persons settled on the above grants, their children did to a great extent, and not a few names are recognized in this twentieth century."

Saw-mills at Quamphegan and at what now is Salmon Falls gathered a population.

Oldest burial ground at Dover Neck, New Hampshire.

The oldest burial ground at Dover Neck, New Hampshire, is a short distance north of Riverview Hall.

Here many of our Tibbetts ancestors were buried.

Although it is not possible to locate them now, there is no doubt that in this old burial ground were the graves of Henry Tibbetts, the Emigrant, and Elizabeth his wife, their son, Jeremiah Tibbetts and Mary Canney his wife, also Mary's father, Thomas Canney, and others of that first colony in Dover in whom we have a direct interest.

It is a matter of general interest that the Colonial and patriotic organizations have bent their efforts toward preserving old landmarks and marking historic spots.

The Society of Colonial Wars of New Hampshire held its 28th annual meeting and field day, Wednesday Sept. 21, 1921, at Riverview hall, Dover Neck. At the close of the addresses, the party assembled at the oldest cemetery in Dover Neck, a short distance north of the hall, and unveiled a memorial headstone to mark the burial spot of Gov. Thomas Roberts, so that it may be known to future generations. He was the last Colonial Governor, 1640-1643.

Two or three blocks north of the stone wall erected by the Margery Sullivan Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, to mark the site of the old Second Meeting-House built in 1654, on the same side of the street you come to the old Pinckham homestead, which is now (1922) owned by Albert L. Howell. In the rear of his yard is a cement marker, which reads:

Pinkham's Garrison

The above marker was placed there about 1903-4 by Devell Pinckham

A few rods west of this marker is still to be found the spring, formerly called "Tibbetts spring", near which stood the home of Henry Tibbetts the Emigrant, and Elizabeth his wife. Their house stood on Low street. Low street is now a thing of the past. The lane, that was called "Tibbetts lane" is still visible, running along the south side of Albert L. Howell's premises (formerly the old Pinckham homestead).

It is a very beautiful site and location, the place of settlement of the first large colony of Dover Neck.

There are few persons living today who can point out the site of the old Common, the Swamps, usually called the ox Pasture, the Calves Pasture etc etc., which are so frequently mentioned in old deeds and records.

Thomas¹ Canney of Piscataqua, 1631, and of Dover, 1633, was sent over by Capt. John Mason on or before 1631; signed the Dover Combination in 1640. Constable in 1648 (p. 32 "The Pioneers of Maine and New Hampshire," 1623-1660, by Charles Henry Pope. Pub. 1908). Grand Jury, 1643, 1656; petty jury, 1651 (Libby's Dict., part 2, p. 127). Protest 1641. Was freeman in 1653; had grants of land 1652-55, etc. Selectman of Dover 1658 April 19 (Scales' Hist. Dover, p. 256. Tercent. edition). He was taxed at Dover in 1648 to 1668. He joined in petition of inhabitants to the General Court 10 Oct. 1665.

He lived at first on the Piscataqua shore of Newington. Later he lived at Dover Neck near the vicinity of the Friends' burial ground (See map of Dover Neck Village in Scales' Hist. Dover, New Hampshire. Tercent. edition. Pub. 1923).

He was one of twelve men, residents in the Bloody Point (Newington) section of Dover, who, in 1632, petitioned the Massachusetts General Court to have their territory restored to Dover (Mass. Archives, 3, 438: See also, Scales' Hist. Dover, p. 173).

In 1671 he had removed to Yprk but returned to Dover. He died after 1681, aged at least 71 years or more. We find in print the statement that he had second wife Jane (New Eng. Hist. Gen. Register, vol. 5, p. 128: also, vol. 5, p. 452).

The following statements appear in Libby's Genealogical Dictionary of Maine and New Hampshire, Part 2, p. 127. (Pub. 1229):

"Before 1651 Thomas Canney had bought 'Thomson's Point,' and was then granted 16 acres adjoining 'the outmost point turning up to Cochecco.' In 1652 he administered Henry Plympton's estate. In 1723 his right in the ox-pasture, 1-25th of Dover Point, was sold by John (and wife Esther) Hall."

Copied from New. Eng. Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 5, page 452):

Wiggin in Dover, 1634, which in 1647 was bounded thus:- butting upon y^e High street west, and on y^e east near y^e river of Newichawannock, on y^e lands of Joseph Austin south, and upon y^e lands adjoining to y^e spring north. Edited by Charles Wesley Tibbetts): "Thomas Canney, or Canne, as the name was usually written, was of Dover, New Hampshire very early. He was the ancestor of all or nearly all of the Canney family of New Hampshire. It is not known where he emigrated from when he came to Dover but, like the larger part of the New Hampshire settlers, he probably came from the west part of England

The writer found the following names on the Index of Wills for the Deanery of Totnes, County of Devon, England:

- Nicholas Canne, residence Okehampton, will proved 1587.
- John Canne, residence Okehampton, will proved 1605.

"At Thompson's Point is the locality where the "Thomson Poynt house" stood that is on the tax list of 1648, as will be seen by reference to the tax lists in another part of this book. On pages 151-152 of "Landmarks in Ancient Dover," Miss Thompson says: "This point is mentioned again, the 15th 10 mo. 1652, when orders were given to begin at Tomson's Pointe to mark the three hundred pines and 100 oak trees granted to Capt. Thomas Wiggin and others, and thence upward into Mr. Walderne's grant.

Thomas Canney had a grant of sixteen acres of upland the 6th 10 mo. 1656, to be laid out adjoining his perches at Tomson's poynt. This land was laid out from the utmost point turning up to Coheco 50 rods to the long creek westward below Tomson's poynt, butting on Fore River, thence running three score and ten rods up the long Creek side, reserving a cartway from the woods to the water side at the head of the creek, and up Coheco River three score and ten rods, and thence on a straight line over to the bound at the head of long creek."

"Job Clement had a grant of 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres of upland 23d, 10 mo. 1658, part of which was below "the highway that goeth from Thomas Canney's into the woods towards "Thomson's Poynt," bounded E. by the Fore River, on the northern side of the hollow, where the ship was built. This ship was the frigate built by Major Richard Walderne, as referred to elsewhere. A lane from Parson Reyner's land to Thompson's Point is mentioned in 1675.

Thomas, eldest son and rightful heir of Thomas Canney, Jr., and his wife Grace, conveyed to his brother Samuel, Aug. 12, 1703, forty-five acres of land in tenure of said Samuel, adjacent to Thompson's Point and next to Henry Tibbetts' land. Joshua Canney, son of Samuel, conveyed to John Gage, December 17, 1745, a tract of land extending to the mouth of the Coheco River and westerly on said river to Thompson's Point, adjoining Gage's land on the south, along Fore River. Mr. Gage had a famous brick yard there, as long as the clay bank continued to serve him for that purpose."

THE WIFE OR WIVES OF ELDER WILLIAM¹ WENTWORTH.

After the most thorough and exhaustive search, the only records found relating to the wife or wives of Elder William¹ Wentworth are these:—

1. An entry in the Abbe C. Tanguay's Dictionnaire Généalogique des Familles Canadiennes, 1871, in a list of Anglais taken captive by the French and Indians, translated and published in the N. E. Hist. and Gen. Register, April 1874, as follows:—

* Nathaniel Fryer lived at New Castle, N. H.; was Representative, and of the Council. He died 13 August 1765. Counsellor James Fryer was his eldest son.

of his children; but if we suppose that each son was put upon the tax-list as he came of age, then John² (the second) was born about 1647; Gershom², 1649; Ezekiel², 1651; and Elizabeth, by record, 1653. Paul², Sylvanus², and Timothy², according to tradition, were also children of the first wife; and while neither name is on the tax-lists, there is nothing in dates which prove them to have come of age to oppose this tradition. The place of Sarah² (whom we consider his daughter) is uncertain; but Ephraim² and Benjamin² must both be regarded, from tradition and age, as children of the second wife. The dates agree with this, and the tradition that these children were born after some of the Elder's grandchildren (the first of whom, Samuel³ (12), son of Samuel², was born 9 April 1666) place their birth after that date. The second marriage can easily be supposed to be anywhere from 1665 to 1670, or even later, his later children being born thirty years after he was first a father.

There can be no question that one wife of Elder William¹ was Elizabeth Kenny. The Canadian record already quoted is exact. It is also clear that she was the mother of Elizabeth², who was born in 1653. If this date is correct, it seems clear that Elizabeth Kenny must have been the first wife. The Elder was not "advanced in years" if he married her in 1652, being only thirty-five years old; and other children, who have always been regarded as children of the first wife, must of necessity have been born later than 1653.

Who was she? A family of that name, called variously on the records Kenny, Kenney, Canning, Cannie, Canne, Canney, was of Dover at that period. THOMAS CANNING or CANNIE, the first one found, was of the company sent over by Capt. Mason as early as 1631. In 1634 he was of Dover, and took a lot from Capt. Wiggin, agent of the proprietors. In 1640 he was a signer of the Dover combination for government. He was taxed to 1668, was made freeman in 1653, and seems to have been living in 1677. He was twice married, his second wife named Jane. Of his family, were two sons and two daughters, known from deeds, viz. Thomas Canney, born before 1645, who died about 1674-5, leaving six children, of which the eldest was eleven years of age; Joseph Canney, who married, in 1670, Mary, daughter of Counsellor Job Clements; Mary Canney, who married Jeremy Tebbetts before 1655, and must have been born as early as 1635; and a daughter, who married Henry Hobbs. Thomas Canney may have had other daughters, but it is of course impossible, by reason of age, that Elizabeth Kenny, if Elder William's¹ first wife, and mother of Samuel², born in 1641, could have been his daughter. A careful and protracted reinvestigation of county and other records has failed to find the least trace of connection of the families. The only occasion which unites Elder William¹ and Thomas Canney is that in 1652 and onward they were (with others) joint proprietors of the Fresh Creek saw-mill and timber lands.

It is of course possible that Elder William's¹ first wife, if Elizabeth Kenny, was a sister of Thomas Canney, but no American record affords any light upon this question, and the English records upon this name have not been searched.

There is also a question whether Elizabeth Knight, of Wells, Me., was one of the wives of Elder William¹ Wentworth. When Ezekiel Knight, of Wells, died in 1687; he willed, date 18 April 1687, property to his son Ezekiel Knight, jr., and to his daughter Elizabeth Wentworth, of Cochecho; and in case the son die issueless, his share was to be equally divided among the children of his daughter Elizabeth.

At the time of making this Will, there were two, and but two, Elizabeths who were wives of Wentworths, and there were no Elizabeths who were widows. One of these was the wife of Elder William¹, and the other was the wife of his son Ezekiel², and both had children at that date. Ezekiel Knight could not have had a daughter old enough to be the mother of Samuel² in 1640. She must have been a second wife, or else the wife of his son Ezekiel²; but the information given under the head of Ezekiel² does not render it certain whether his wife was the daughter of Ezekiel Knight or not, but the probabilities are altogether in that direction.

Elder William¹ Wentworth and Ezekiel Knight were both living at Wells at or about the time of birth of Elder William's¹ son Ezekiel² (5) Wentworth, and of Ezekiel Knight's daughter Elizabeth. Elder William¹ may have named his son Ezekiel² for his friend Ezekiel Knight, and Ezekiel Knight may have named his daughter Elizabeth for the Elder's wife; and the greater probability is that these two children married.

But the subject of Elder William's¹ marriages must evidently still be left greatly in obscurity. The difficulty as to the second wife, if one was married in Dover, is due to the fact that there are no extant lists of marriages either on the town or church records prior to 1700

2nd Generation

Elizabeth Wentworth, daughter of William, elder in the anglo-calvinistic religion, and Elizabeth Kenny, born in 1655 at Piscataque, married, 1st, James Sharp, of Kent; 2d, Richard Tozer [Tozer: taken in war, 18 March 1690, by Hertel: god-daughter of Claude Ramezay, governor of Trois Rivières, and in the service of M. Pierre Boucher, Lord of Boucherville.

2. A deed from Elder William¹ Wentworth to Peter Coffin, 18 November 1666-7, in which his wife Elizabeth makes her mark.

3. A deed from Elder William¹ to his son Paul², 16 April 1696, and one to son Timothy² 27 May following, in each of which his wife Elizabeth makes her mark.

In other conveyances so far found, viz. in 1674, 1677, and 1693, no wife signs.

4. His widow Elizabeth returned his inventory 4 April 1697, and is not again heard of.

To these may be added traditions from two independent sources, each of which maintain that Elder William¹ was twice married; the second marriage being when he was somewhat advanced in years, and the second wife being very young, and that he had children by each wife, — children by the second wife being born after some of his grandchildren.

2. Jeremiah² Tibbetts (Henry¹), of Dover, New Hampshire (Dover Neck), or "Jeremy", as his name is usually given in the old Dover records, born in England in 1631 (as by deposition), brought to New England by his parents in 1635; died at Dover Neck in the summer of 1677, aged 46 years. He was the eldest child of Henry Tibbetts, the immigrant, and Elizabeth his wife.

He was constable in 1663 and 1666; keeper of Dover jail in 1670 and for several years thereafter.

He married about 1654-5, Mary Canney, daughter by the first wife of Thomas¹ Canney of Dover who was sent over by Capt. Mason on or before 1631. The modern spelling of this name is Kenney.

Many years after his death his widow married secondly, Nathaniel Loomer or Loomis. She died at Dover Neck, 2 July 1706.

In his will, dated 5 May 1677, which was proved 31 October 1677, Jeremiah Tibbetts "of Douer vpon Piscatuqua: now Lyeinge Vpon my sick bed but of my perfect minde & memory", bequeathed to his eldest son, Jeremiah, one half of house and land described as "y^e Remainer of that ten Acres of land which I bought of y^e towne which Lyeth now without fence with two yearlinge steeres Already in his possession bee to him & his forever for & on y^e accompt of thirteen pounds giuen to my s^d sonn by his Grandfather Thomas Canny which I made use of for my owne behoofe"; named his wife Mary and his eldest son, Jeremiah, to be his "True and Lawfull" executors, and "doe Appoint & ordane to be in the hands of mary my wife for ye bringing up of our smale Children all my present Estate: Except what shall be heereafter nominated: & ye one halfe of my now dwelling house & barne to be for her owne proper use during her lifetime but the former during her widowhood or as my Executors shall see Cause. It is to be understood y^t I Assigne to my wife the new end of the house": bequeathed to his son Thomas "at his one & twentieth yeare of age to bee for him & his forever, the other halfe of the fenced ground which is of that ten Acres which I bought of the towne & also the halfe of my dwelling house and barne now left in the Custody of my wife"; bequeathed to his daughter Mary Rawlins, and named younger children, "Hannah, Joseph, Samuel, Benjamin, Ephraim, Martha, Elizabeth, Nathaniel and Henry"; and "doe Appoint my Brother Joseph Canny & my trusty & Loveing freind Serjant John Roberts" to be overseers for "the well management". The will was witnessed by Job Clements and John Roberts.

The estate was valued at L 264:00:90. The Inventory specifies "house and Lande" with five acres that he "bought of the towne", and his "intrest three akeres of Land that hee tooke of thee towne" (Probate Records of the Province of New Hampshire, vol. 1, pp. 182-
84. File No. 102. Recorded Book B, p. 168. Inventory, File No.
102, Recorded Book B, p. 170).

"In 1679 Widow Tibbet and her son Jerimi were taxed instead".
"12th Nov. 1677 "It is agreed by Mary Tippit and her son Jeremy Tippit that her youngest son shall serve his Uncle Matthew Austin".
This agreement has reference to her son Joseph, who, although not the youngest in point of years, was her youngest son of working age at that time.

Jeremiah Tibbetts "stood up in 1665 for the jurisdiction of Massachusetts". He had several grants of land from the town. He had a grant, 1655, 24, 10 mo. of 2½ acres on Dover Neck. He had a grant in 1658, of one hundred acres in what is now Rollinsford, a tract of upland between Cochecho (Dover) and Salmon Falls.

1662, 2d mo April 23 Quit Claim deed from "Jeremy Tibbetts" and wife "Mary Tibbetts" released right of dower, to "M^r Job Clements, "ffive Score acres of Land given and granted by the Selectmen of Dover aforesaid to me y^e s^d Jer. Tibbetts in y^e yeare (58). The deed was witnessed by Charles Buckner and Mary Buckner. "This deede was acknowledged by Jeremy Tibbetts above written and his wife Mary surrendered up her right of Dowry this 23^d of Apr^{ll} 1662 before me "Tho: Wiggin" (Rockingham County, New Hampshire Deeds, Book 2, folio 65, Grantors).

The will of Job³ Clement of Dover, made in 1716, has the clause: "I do give and bequeath unto my son Jame Clement one hundred acres of land which my father bought of Jeremiah Tebbetts Lyinge in Coheca woods".

"At a Meitting of the Sellecktmen the twenty fifth of January liberty is Granted by the said sellecktmen to John Roberds and Jeremy Tebbets of Dover for to improue Six Acres of land in the Comon lyinge of the Ester sled of the paeth that doeth Goe unto the watering place on Dover Necke, Neir unto Thomas Perkins his house wich land is for to be Improued by them Seven yeir for their use and then for to be Returned unto the Townes use and to be left for feding Ground".

His name is to be found among a list of twenty-one inhabitants of Dover Neck "that have right of commonage to the Calves Pasture". The northern boundary of "the calves pasture" was a line from Pinkham's Spring, near his garrison, to Back River, on a line parallel with Nutter's lane. There were thirty-six acres in this pasture and there were twenty-one shares to owners when it was divided.

He was one of nine constables who were fined twenty shillings each, in the year 1700, and counts with the Treasurer.

In an Indenture dated 26 October 1703 (Rockingham County, New Hampshire Deeds, Book 5, page 174), signed by five of Jeremiah's sons, their sister Hannah Perkins and her husband Nathaniel Perkins, they release to their brother Ephraim, all their interest in their father's homestead on Dover Neck, "Ten acres more or less", in consideration "of there brother Ephraim Tibbetts his well managem^t of y^e mesuadge or tenement Lette by there Deceased father for y^e future Supporte Comforte and well beinge of there mother and winteringe two Cows and Six Shepe yearly and Every years for her Dursinge her life time Annually Reserving y^e one third parte of all Sorts of graine, and Apples and Sidder that Shall be produced of y^e aforesaid Messuadge or Tenement for and Dursinge the Life of our mother allowinge onto her one garden and garden place of Ten Rods of ground where Shee Shall Choose it to be at her Dispose Dursinge her life time", and also for "the said Ephraim providinge for and findinge vnto ovr Said mother Mary Loomes the one halfe parte of her fier wood for and Dursinge her widdohood", and "further for the Consideration of Thirty Pounds in money or goods at money price to be paid by y^e Aforesaid Ephraim".

The location of this homestead is accurately described in deed dated 14 December 1706: "a Sertaine Messuadge or tenement that was p^rformerly our fathers Jeremy Tibbetts Sittuate on Dover Necke Lyinge and beinge betwene Jn^o Pinkhams and Tho^s Whitehouses Containing of the oldeste End of the Dwelling house together wth the Barne Orchard and Land Adjacent thereunto bounded as folloeth to Saye wth the Loc Straete on the Este, wth a Lane Leadinge to Tibbetts Slipe formerly So Called on the North, wth the Bake River

THE WILL OF JEREMIAH TIBBETTS OF DOVER, NEW HAMPSHIRE
WIFE MARY CANLEY. (his name also spelled Tebbets)

The Will of Jeremiah Tibbetts of Dover, New Hampshire, is to be found in

Probate Records of the Province of New Hampshire
Vol. I 1635 --- 1717
State Papers Series, edited by Albert Stillman Betchellor.
Pub. in Concord, N. H. 1907.

Note: Jeremiah² Tibbetts or Jeremy, as his name is also given, and his surname is spelled both Tebbets and Tibbetts, was born in England, in 1631, came with his parents on the "James" in 1635 to New England, and lived all his life at Dover Neck, New Hampshire; married Mary Canney; he died at Dover Neck in the summer of 1677, aged 46 years; made his will May 5, 1677; which was proved Oct. 31, 1677.

Through the courtesy of Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., the will of Jeremiah Tibbetts, as herein given, was copied from his records, and his copy was made about the year 1890, from the original, which is on file in Concord, New Hampshire. The old New Hampshire wills have now been published, and are to be found in the volumes entitled "Probate Records of the Province of New Hampshire, State Papers Series", which include wills and administrations. These volumes do not, however, include the Inventories, which are most interesting. The will of Jeremiah Tibbetts, as herein given, including the Inventory, is an absolutely correct copy. It has been verified three times, twice by the compiler, and once by Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq.

In the Will of Jeremiah Tibbetts of Dover, New Hampshire, and the Inventory of his estate, it will be noted that his name is spelled in various ways, viz: Tippet, Tippetts, Tippetts, Tibbits, and on the back is the following:

Samuel² Tibbetts, the son of Henry the immigrant.

3. Samuel² Tibbetts, born in England in 1633; came at the age of two years with his parents in the ship "James", in July, 1635, to New England. He was the second son and child of Henry Tibbetts the immigrant and Elizabeth his wife. No further record in regard to him has been found. He may have died young. If he had lived to maturity around Dover, New Hampshire, surely some trace of him would have been found in the land records, tax-lists, etc. If he grew to manhood he probably married and had children born in New Hampshire or elsewhere whose births were never recorded. Until we know what became of this Samuel Tibbetts, we cannot be sure that he left no children. All attempts to work out the Tibbetts genealogy seem to be through Jeremiah, the eldest son of Henry the immigrant, but there are groups of families which cannot be placed, and it is possible that the above-mentioned Samuel may be the ancestor of these.

Who was this Henry Tibbetts?

Was he son of Samuel² and grandson of Henry the Immigrant?

Henry Tibbetts 1683

Who was this Henry Tibbetts who died in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1683? The very fact of his being in Portsmouth at this early day would seem to indicate that he must have been closely related to Henry Tibbetts of Dover, N. H., the immigrant.

Under date of 5 August 1926 Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., of Moody, Maine, president of the Tibbetts Family Association, writes as follows:

"The Henry Tibbetts who lived for a short time at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and died there in 1683, I think was an emigrant or fisherman, and died leaving his family probably in England. He was indicted by the court for not going to live with his wife but died before he went. She had apparently not come from England. If he had been a citizen they would not have taken that action against him. If he had been born in Dover, New Hampshire, and the son of Henry the immigrant, he would have been a resident there and they never would have tried to drive him away.

He had no property of any account, just some old clothes and a few shillings in money, and two hundred pounds of refuse fish."

The inventory of his estate taken Dec. 10, 1683, specifies the bill of John Tucker for care in sickness and cost of burial.

3rd Generation

Mary (Tibbetts) Rawlins. 62b

Mary³ Tibbetts (Jeremiah², Henry¹), born 15 April 1658, at Dover Neck, was eldest daughter and second child of Jeremiah and Mary (Canney) Tibbetts. Her records are given on page 28, in their proper place, in the sketch of her father's family.

She married about 1674, at the age of about sixteen years, Ichabod² Rawlins (James¹), of Dover (Bloody Point, now Newington), carpenter, eldest son of James¹ Rawlins.

"Ichabod² (James¹) res. Bloody Point, was taxed there in 1665. Being the oldest son he probably remained on the farm occupied by his father. This farm (now, 1873, in possession of a lineal descendant) extended along the river, and was favorably situated for water communication with Kittery and Portsmouth; a wide clearing, no doubt, as contrasted with the pleasant farms of modern Newington.

On the opposite side of the river, at Dover Neck, dwelt at the same time, Jeremiah or Jeremy Tibbetts, whose daughter, Mary, seems to have possessed special attractions for young Ichabod Rawlins; and though a rapid stream intervened between them, it seems to have been no barrier, or to have been powerless to dampen their affection for each other. There may not have been so much romance in their intercourse as attached to the story of Hero and Leander, and we are not informed whether he ever attempted the feat of swimming his little Hellespont for moonlight meetings, when the toil of the day was o'er; but it is pretty certain that he must have "paddled his own canoe", as most of his successors have done; and it is still more certain that he did not share Leander's fate, because in the present case the lovers' hopes were crowned with fruition, and they were married. Their happiness, however, was of short duration, for Mary Rawlins died before the age of 30, leaving one son.

After Mary's death Ichabod Rawlins married a second wife. He was survived by second wife and two daughters. He was killed by the Indians 8 July 1707.

Scales' Hist. Dover, p. 210 (Tercent. edition) states: "Rev. John Pike, for many years pastor of the First Church at Dover Neck, relates that July 8, 1707, John Bunker and Ichabod Rawlins were going with a cart from Lieut. Zachius Field's garrison to James Bunker's, at Oyster River, for a loom, when they were slain by the Indians."

Mary had several descendants named Ichabod and in the following generation and succeeding generations in the Tibbetts family we find the name of Ichabod among Mary's relatives, undoubtedly given in memory of Ichabod Rawlins.

A photostatic print from the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 84. For April, 1930.

years later he returned to Boston and served various newspapers as writer, copy reader, and proof reader, until he retired three years ago, although he continued his newspaper writing under the pseudonym of "Old Timer." He wrote hundreds of columns of stories, verses, and editorials. He had been Boston correspondent for the Philadelphia Press, the Chicago News, and the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

He gave much time to genealogical and historical research, was a frequent contributor to the REGISTER, and in 1906 published "William Yates and His Descendants."

He was a member of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Sons of Union Veterans, and the Boston Typographical Union. He was an Unitarian and a Mason.

He married 24 September 1879 Flora Louisa Richmond, the daughter of Sylvester and Eliza Brickett (Eastman) Richmond of Cape Elizabeth, Me. A son, Edward Milwood Yates, was born 9 August 1889 and died 9 August 1895.

EDWARD WARREN ROLLINS, S.B., LL.D., of Dover, N. H., a life member since 1926, was born at Concord, N. H., 25 November 1850, the son of Hon. Edward Henry and Ellen Elizabeth (West) Rollins, and died at Dover 6 October 1929.

He was descended from ^{Joseph} Rollins, who came to New England in 1632 and settled at Dover as early as 1644, through Ichabod, murdered by the Indians in 1707, whose wife was Mary Tibbatts, Jeremiah, about 1773-1767, who married Elizabeth Ham, Hon. Ichabod, 1722-1800, Judge of Probate of New Hampshire, 1776-1784, who married Abigail Wentworth, James, 1755-1813, whose wife was Hannah Carr, Daniel, 1797-1864, who married Mary Plummer of Rollinsford, and Hon. Edward Henry, his father, a member of the House of Representatives of New Hampshire, 1855-1857, where he served the last two years as speaker, Representative in Congress, 1861-1867, and United States Senator, 1877-1883, who was born at Somersworth, N. H., 3 October 1824, and died at the Isles of Shoals 31 July 1889. His mother, Ellen Elizabeth West, born at Concord 18 September 1827, died at York, Me., 8 October 1893, the daughter of John and Nancy (Montgomery) West.

He received his education in the public schools of his native city and at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which granted him the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1871. In February 1929, Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla., conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

For several years he was resident engineer of the Colorado Central Railroad, and later became cashier and treasurer of the construction company engaged in building the road. His capture by the Indians is spoken of by Belknap. In the Journal of Rev. John Pike is recorded: "November 4, 1705. Seb. "Old Kittery and her Families", by Everett S. Stackpole, page 136, has some information of interest, giving the location of the earliest settlers.

After mentioning the Wentworth, Grant, McIntire and other old families of Kittery, Mr. Stackpole says:

"Thus we have sailed up the river and gone around the Falls, marking the estates of the first settlers. Thousands of descendants of almost every emigrant will be interested to know the precise spot of the original homestead. The location has been indicated on the map as nearly as can now be determined.

The history of the region is not complete till we know the settlers on the New Hampshire shore, for the river was at first the highway and often the nearest neighbors lived across in ancient Dover, N. H. (Hanson, Twombly, Wentworth and Tuttle families lived in Dover). Below Quamphegan Falls is a strip of land along the river called "Sligo" as early as 1708. At one time Henry Tibbetts had a hundred acres here and next below him lived James Stackpole and his son Philip. His farm (Stackpole's) now belongs to the estate of the late Samuel Hale. Below Stackpole's came Thomas Canney 2nd and Henry Hobbs, Sylvanus Nock and others."

Family of Henry and Joyce Otis Tibbetts of Dover, New Hampshire.

11. Henry³ Tibbetts (Jeremiah² (No. 2), Henry¹), born in Dover, New Hampshire (Dover Neck), about 1675; died there between 14 August 1727, when his will was dated, and 6 Sept. 1727, when it was proved (Probate Records of the Province of New Hampshire, vol. 2, p. 314, State Papers Series. File No. 756). He was the eighth son and twelfth child of Jeremiah and Mary (Canney) Tibbetts.

He lived at Dover Upper Neck, nearer the city proper.

He married first, in Dover, N.H., by Rev. John Pike, 25 Feb. 1699/1700, widow Joyce Otis (See Dover Historical Collections, vol. 1, p. 130). She was the widow of Nicholas Otis who was killed by the Indians 26 July 1696, as recorded in the Journal of Rev. John Pike. Her maiden surname is not known; undoubtedly she belonged to one of the early Dover or Portsmouth families. She died after 1707. They were members of the Society of Friends.

In the Otis Genealogy, by William A. Otis (Pub. 1924), the author quotes the Journal of Rev. John Pike incorrectly, when he states that among those killed by the Indians 26 July 1696, was Nicholas Otis's wife.

Journal of Rev. John Pike, 1678--1709:

The original journal of Rev. John Pike is now in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society, in Boston. By permission of the society a copy of the journal was published in the New Hampshire Genealogical Record, vol. III, from which the following is a copy, vol. III, p. 83, for Oct., 1905:

"July 26, 1696. Being sacrament day. An Ambush of Indians layd between Capt. Ger: field, & Tobias Hansons Orchard, shot upon the poor peo; returning from Meeting, killed Nicho: Otice, Mary Downs, & Mary Jones. Wounded Rich: Otice, Antho: Lowden & Exp: Heard. Took John Tucker, Nic: Otices w: & Judith Riccor."

Belknap adds that the captives were taken to Penobscot, but "soon found their way home."

The article on the Otis family, published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 5, p. 187, for April, 1851, has the following:

"Nicholas² Otis had a grant of land at Dover, 1694, was killed by the Indians 26 July 1696, and his inventory was returned 18 May 1697, by Nathaniel Heird and George Ricard. In the settlement of what little property he had, no children are mentioned. Nicholas Otis Jr. (no doubt his son) is recorded as having been captured in 1696 and "carried to Penobscot from whence he soon found his way home." If he ever returned to Dover -- of which there is some doubt -- he had no family and was dead in 1722."

Henry Tibbetts married secondly, in Portsmouth, N.H., about 1715, Mary (Ackerman) Sampson of Portsmouth (See Libby's "Genealogical Dictionary of Maine and New Hampshire, vol. 1, p. 59. Pub. 1929).

She survived him and is named in his will. She was the daughter of widow Sarah Ackerman of Portsmouth, N. H. (sister-in-law of Edward Melcher). In the year 1719, widow Sarah Ackerman deeded land to her daughter Mary, wife of Henry Tibbetts, who in 1713 was Mary Sampson.

The date of Henry Tibbetts' second marriage can only be surmised. In his will, dated 14 Aug. 1727, his bequest to his youngest child, Richard, would indicate that Richard must have been then a lad of eleven or twelve years of age.

Henry Tibbetts served in the Indian and French wars in Capt James Davis' company from 15 May to 12 Oct. 1712 (See State Papers of New Hampshire, ed. by Hammond, Vol. I, page 3, Revolutionary Rolls, being Vol. XIV of the Series). This list of Capt. Davis' company is found under heading "French War Rolls", and includes names of thirty men, evidently all Dover, N.H. men. The name of Henry Tibbetts under spelling Tebbets is the twenty-ninth name in the list (See full list of Capt. Davis' company below). He probably rendered further service in the French and Indian wars. The fact that he had land granted to him in Rochester, New Hampshire, and Canterbury, N.H. and in Scarborough, Maine, would indicate that these grants were given to him in return for service rendered in the Colonial wars.

At one time he owned a hundred acres of land at "Sligo", mentioned by the Rev. Everett S. Stackpole in "Old Kittery and her Families", page 136, as follows: "The history of the region is not complete till we know the settlers on the New Hampshire shore, for the river was at first the highway, and often the nearest neighbors lived across in ancient Dover, New Hampshire. Below Quamphegan Falls is a strip of land along the river called "Sligo" as early as 1708. At one time, Henry Tibbetts owned a hundred acres here, and next below him lived James Stackpole and his son Philip. His farm (Stackpole's) now belongs to the estate of the late Samuel Hele. Below Stackpole's came Thomas Canney 2nd and Henry Hobbs, Sylvanus Nock and others" (Old Kittery and Her Families).

He was one of the "Secondly Half Share Proprietors" of the Town of Rochester, New Hampshire, mentioned as such in McDuffee's History of Rochester, page His brothers, Capt. Thomas Tibbetts, Capt. Samuel Tibbetts and Ephraim Tibbetts (surname also spelled Tebbets) were among the First Whole Share Proprietors of the Town of Rochester, New Hampshire, although not one of them ever resided in the town.

To descendants of Henry and Joyce (Otis) Tibbetts it is interesting to know the exact location of their original homestead, which, as before stated, was at what was called Dover Upper Neck. In the Inventory of his estate mention is made of the dwelling house, barn, and about 19 acres of land. This house, that was to be "Equally Divided Between Benjamin and Edward", where did it stand? The precise location of the homestead is given in the deed quoted below. It should be borne in mind that in early days Dover was called Cochecho.

1736 Nov. 15 Deed from "Benjamin Tebbets of Rochester in ye Province of New Hampshire in New England Innholder" and Abigail Tebbets wife of the said Benjamin Tebbets doth by these presents release dower"

"my Brother Edward Tibbetts of the Town of Dover in the Province afores^d Husbandman con. 130 pounds Quit Claim deed

In his will, dated 14 August 1727, when he was "weak in Body but of Perfect Memorey and Sound Disposeing mind", and proved 6 Sept. 1727, he named his wife Mary and his youngest child, Richard, providing for them first, and bequeathed to his three older sons, Benjamin, Edward and Paul, and to his daughter Susannah (the children of his first marriage). He disposed of his property in the following manner and form:

Imprimis. I Give and Bequeath to Mary my Dearly Beloved wife all my House and Land at Portsm^o with Bed and Bedding and all other House hold Goods thereunto Belonging Duering Her Naturall Life Excepting that House which M^r Crostwhite lives in w^{ch} is Build on the Said Land w^{ch} I now Give to my Son Richard the whole Intrest and Benefitt of that Part Imeadeatly after my Decease for him and his Heirs for Ever Lawfully Begotten of his Body and all the or Part Imeadeatly att the Decease of his mother and if he Should Dye without ISue then to Return to my Sons, Benjamin Edward and Paul Equally alike to be Divided

He named his son Benjamin as Executor, and the will was witnessed by Thomas Tebbets, Ephraim Tibbetts and Samuel Carle.

6 Sept. 1727 Warrant issued to "Capt. Paul Gerrish and Mr Samuel Hearl both of Dover to appraise the estate of Henry Tibbetts late of s^d Dover Dec^d " who "left a will in y^e which his son Benjamin Tibbetts is named executor".

The inventory showed property appraised at £307. 18. 3.

To his will he appended two notes, as follows:

Note Before Signing and Sealing I Constitute and appoint my Loving Brother Cap^t Samuel Tebbets and my Brother Joseph Tibbetts to be my Trustees to See this my Said will perform.

The first & last Evidence Sworn & Ephraim Tibbetts (being a Quaker) Solemnly affirmed ve. 6th Sept^r 1727

The above volume, however, does not include the Inventory, which is interesting to his descendants. The original copy of his will, including the Inventory, is on file in Concord, New Hampshire, in New Hampshire Province Probate Records (File No. 756)

The will, as herein given, including the Inventory, is an absolutely correct copy of the original which is on file in Concord.

4th Generation

12. John⁴ Tibbets (Jeremiah³ (No. 4), Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born ^{about 1683} in Dover, New Hampshire (Dover Neck). ^{He died before 2 May 1750, at Durham, N.H.} He was the son of Jeremiah and Mary (Twombly) Tibbets of Dover, N.H. He was a carpenter.

He married (1) Sarah³ Meador, born 29, 8 mo. 1685, daughter of John² and Sarah (Follett) Meador, of Durham, N.H., and granddaughter of John¹ Meador of Dover, N.H., b. in 1630, and his wife Abigail Tuttle, whom he married before 1660. The above date of birth of Sarah³ Meador is erroneously given as date of her marriage in Stackpole's Hist. Durham, vol. p. 276

He married (2) Tamsen (Meserve) Ham, widow of Joseph Ham, of Dover, N. H.

Under date of 3 February 1713-14, John Meador, Jr., of Durham, N.H., and Sarah his wife, deeded land to their daughter Sarah Tibbets, wife of John Tibbets, Jr. (or 2nd, as we would call him now). He was the above-named John⁴ Tibbets, the son of Jeremiah and Mary (Twombly) Tibbets.

The will of John Meador^{Jr.} of Durham, N.H., dated 2 Nov. 1736, and probated 17 Dec. 1736, names sons Joseph and Nicholas, and daughters Elizabeth Hanson and Abigail Davis, and "my two grandsons, John Tibbets and Jeremiah Tibbets (Probate Records of the Province of New Hampshire, vol. 2, p.).

Children by first wife:

32. i. John⁵, b. 14 Nov. 1711.

33. ii. Jeremiah⁵, b. 4 May 1713.

iii. Nathaniel⁵, b. 28 Feb. 1720; d. young.

Child by second wife:

iv. Sarah⁵, b. 18 Aug. 1725; m. a Pinkham.

The above named Sarah (Follett) Meador was daughter of Nicholas and Abigail Follett.

Family of Timothy and Phebe Tibbets of Dover, N.H., Somersworth, N.H., later of - -

13. Timothy⁴ Tibbets (Jeremiah³ (No. 4), Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born in Dover, New Hampshire, at Dover Neck, the son of Jeremiah and Mary (Twombly) Tibbets, grandson of Jeremiah and Mary (Canney) Tibbotts; and great-grandson of Henry Tibbets, the immigrant.

He married Phebe ----- .

He was taxed at Dover Neck 20 June 1717, on land which had been deeded to him by his father. He resided in that part of Dover which was later called Somersworth, and was living there in the year 1735.

There are various deeds from this Timothy and Phebe Tibbets. He left Somersworth, N.H., and it is thought that he went to Monhegan Island, and that he later removed to some other locality.

This Timothy Tibbets and wife Phebe are undoubtedly the ancestors of many of the Tibbets families whose branches cannot be connected.

Children:

14. Capt. John⁴ Tebbets (Capt. Thomas³ (No. 3¹), Jeremiah², Henry¹), born 29 Aug. 1685, at Dover, N.H. (Dover Neck); died in Somersworth, N.H., in 1742. He was the eldest child of Capt. Thomas and Judith (Dam) Tibbetts.

He married in Dover, about 1710, Mary ----. She was born in Dover, 18 May 1689; died in Somersworth, N.H., 25 Feb. 1771, aged 81 years, 9 mos., 7 days. Capt. John and Mary Tebbets and their children, Timothy, William, Moses, Joshua, Hannah, Abigail and Mary were baptized at Dover, 7 April 1728 (Register, vol. 59, p. 269); (also, vol. 29, p. 263, Baptisms by Rev. Jonathan Cushing).

In his will, dated 21 Jan. 1742, probated 30 March 1743, he gives his "interest in mill privilege at Quamphegan", which, in inventory, was 4 days in a month, to his sons John Tebbets and Thomas Tebbets. He names his other children "to my sons Timothy and William & Moses & Joshua & Henry and to my Daughters viz. Hannah & Mary & Sarah & Elizabeth & Judith to each five shillings. All the rest of his estate was given to his wife Mary, she to take care of and bring up the young children; names wife Mary and his friend Benjamin Mason as executors of will (State Papers of New Hampshire, Probate Records, vol. 3, p. 145. File No. 1114. Inventory Recorded Book F, page 438; also p. 304).

He lived on Dover Neck; his house, which stood on the westerly side of the highway, was the second house north of the Meeting-house; its location is shown in the map of Dover Neck Village, his residence dating from 1709---. He later removed to Somersworth, N.H. He rendered service in the French and Indian war and attained the rank of Captain. His name is to be found on roll of Capt. James Davis's company, Dover, 1712 (State Papers of New Hampshire, vol. 1, p. 3); and also on roll of Capt. Tebbets company, Dover, 1712 (ib., p.14). He was one of the "Secondly Half Share Proprietors" of Rochester, N.H., his name given as "Ens. John Tibbets" of Sligo.

The Rev. Charles N. Sinnett refers to the family of Capt. John Tebbets of Somersworth and the old Tebbets family of Dover as "one of the finest old Congregational families in the state" (Cf. "Our Thompson Family in Maine, New Hampshire and the West", pp. 36, 42).

He was the second child and only son of Nathaniel Tebbets who was captured and carried away by the Indians, and Elizabeth his wife.

He married at Dover, N.H., 23 Jan. 1728/9, Elizabeth³ Meader (Nathaniel², John¹), born 3 April 1702, at Oyster River (now Durham), N.H., daughter of Nathaniel² Meader, b. 14 June 1671, killed by Indians 25 April 1704, and his wife Elinor Hall whom he m. about 1695 (Hist. He was a member of Capt. Thomas Millett's military company, Dover, 1740. He signed petition as a resident of Durham, N.H., dated 10 May 1743.

In his will, Henry Tibbets gave property to his wife Elizabeth (sole executrix) and to his children whom he named. The will was witnessed by William Jackson, Jr., Abijah Finckham and William Bruce (New Hampshire Province Probate Records, Book 18, p. 268. File No. 3319). Family of Capt. Benjamin Tibbets of Lebanon, Maine.

28. Capt. Benjamin⁴ Tibbets (Henry³ (No. 11), Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born 31 October 1700, in Dover, New Hampshire, the eldest son of Henry Tibbetts by his first wife Joyce Otis. He removed from Dover to Rochester, N.H., about 1731; later removed to Lebanon, Maine and lived in the south part of that town near the Berwick line. He died there after 30 June 1761 (as his name appears in Provincial war records under that date), and before 16 Dec. 1761, as shown by York County Deeds, Book 39, page 246).

He married Abigail -----, before 1727, probably in Dover, N.H. She survived him and died after 1769; her maiden surname is not known.

He was named as executor of his father's will.

He undoubtedly rendered colonial war service before leaving Dover, N.H., as there was granted to him (presumably for service in the Indian wars), "A certain tract or tracts of Land scituate lying in the Township of Canterbury, Containing one whole Share as the same was given & granted unto me ye^sd Benjamin Tebbets by the Governor and Council of the aboves^d Province as by the Schedule annexed to the Charter for said Canterbury (Rockingham County, New Hampshire Deeds, Book 78, page 152).

There are many New Hampshire deeds and York County, Maine deeds to and from him, in all of which he signs his name "Benjamin Tebbets" (some of which Abigail his wife signs also), and by means of these we are enabled to trace his history.

He signed petition of the inhabitants of Rochester in 1736.

He settled on the Salmon Falls road in Rochester; the location of his home was near the old Wingate farm. In deed dated 15 Nov. 1736 he is called "Innholder" (New Hampshire Province Deeds, Book 78, page 144).

He and his wife were members of the First Congregational Church in Rochester and they and their children were baptized in this church; their names are to be found in the Rochester Church Book of Records (See McDuffee's Hist. Rochester, p. 588).

He resided in Rochester for a period of ^{many} years, during the last years of which he was trying to make his settlement in Lebanon, Maine, but the Indian warfare greatly retarded the settlement.

It was only six or seven miles from his home in Rochester, N.H., to his place of settlement in Lebanon, Maine, near the Salmon Falls river (the river being the dividing line between New Hampshire and Maine). Towwow was the old Indian name for Lebanon.

The earliest deed which shows that he had purchased land in Lebanon, is dated 1739 June 4, deed from "William Frost of Dover, N.H., to Benjamin Tebbets of Rochester", in which is conveyed a twenty acre home lot, being No. 5 (York County Deeds, Book 28, page 150).

1743/4 March 6 deed from "James Guppy of Berwick in the County of York, Housewright", to "Benjamin Tebbets of the New Township

Family of Capt. Benjamin Tibbets

called Towwow in the county of York afores.^d Husbandman", conveys "The Priviledge or interest of three days in a month or at least the one Eighth part of the stream mill or frame on the north east side of Sammon falls River at a place cal.^d the Lower Stare falls in Berwick aforesaid" "as also the one sixteenth part of an acre of Land next adjoining thereto for a Priviledge of a brow or Log Hill to pass and Repass to and from said mill" (York County Deeds, Book 25, page 182).

The following deeds show the location of his dwelling house:

1743 Aug. 17. Deed from "Jonathan Bowers of Buildreca in the County of Middlesex in the Province of Massachusetts Bay" to "Benjamin Tebbets Resident in the New Township which Lyes at the head of Berwick Township", conveys "one first Division lot or shear of land in said New township originally granted to one Mr Parker of Andover being the seventh Lot in the first Division of said New Township containing Twenty acres or near thereabout be the same more or less Lying and Being near where the s^d Tebbets now Dwells in s^d township" (York County Reg. of Deeds, Book 25, page 182).

. It will be noted that this lot No. 7 was "near where the s^d Tebbets now Dwells". The homestead lot was No. 6, as will be seen by the next deed. He had built a house out in the woods and later bought the twenty acre lot it was on. He probably had an agreement about the purchase of the lot before building his house, and later took his title.

1744. October 11. Quit Claim Deed from "Thomas Wallingford of Summersworth Parish in the Town of Dover", to "Benjamin Tebbets of Rochester, Husbandman", conveys "The Homestead Lot in the New Township at the Head of Berwick", which is the "sixth lot in Number in the Second Range of Home Lots" (York County Deeds, Book 25, page 263).

The above deeds show that this Lot No. 6 is the homestead lot where Benjamin Tibbets had built his house and had lived the year before or perhaps longer. It was now "war time" and he had gone back to Rochester, N.h. for the time being.

In a deed dated 1749/50 March 9 from "Benjamin Tebbets Resident in the New Township commonly called Towwow in the County of York", to "Eleazer Ham of Rochester", N.H., (Rockingham County, New Hampshire Deeds, Grantors, Book 62, page 322), although he gives his residence as Lebanon (Towwow), it is evident that he had not yet brought his family there, as his name is not among the list of the fourteen families settled in Lebanon in 1750 (Mass. Archives, 115:752).

The names of these fourteen families are mentioned in a communication addressed to the General Court to certify that at the New Town called Towwow (Lebanon), "Granted at the head of the Town of Berwick within the County of York there is Settled fourteen Famaleys namely Nathan Lord, Josiah Chandler, Eberszer Moulton, Tobias Leighton, Ichabod Goodwin, Caleb Blodgit, John Lord, Christofer Bradberry, Richard Cutt J.^r, James Frost, Joseph Sayward, Barsam Allien, Elisha Hill, Samuel Came Esq.^r and many more of the Proprietors have Cleared their Lands and Built their Houses thereon and Settling Verey fast and have been at Vast Charge in Clearing ways and Building Bridges in Said Town and in gitting of Meeting House Timber to Build a meeting House which was Burnt with fire and the Proprietors are about Building another and as it is well known to the Great and General Court Warrs and Roumers of Warrs has much hindered and Backwarded the Settlements of the New Towns Granted by the General Court Sun years past which has Greatly hendered the Settlement of the Town at the head of Berwick it lyeing Much Exposed and in the Rainge of the Inden Enemy"(Mass. Archives, 115:752).

After the year 1750 Benjamin Tibbets and his family without doubt resided continuously in Lebanon, although "rumors of wars" continued and the Indians persisted in disturbing the peace of the settlers. About 1754 he built a large Garrison house, which was his dwelling house, in which he lived until the end of his life.

The York County deeds herein given show that he owned Lot No. 6 Second Range and Lot No. 7 in the Second Range of Home or First Division Lots in Lebanon, which two Home Lots contained forty acres more or less and were on the westerly side of the main road leading from Berwick through said Lebanon and adjoining on Salmon Falls river, and he built his Garrison house on Lot No. 6 Second Range.

His eldest son, Solomon Tibbets (whose wife was Elizabeth Spearing), built on Lot No. 4 Second Range (York County Deeds, Book 25, page 265; also Book 37, page 1; also Book 39, page 249), and William Tibbets, his second son (whose wife was Lurana Young), built on Lot No. 19 First Range (York County Deeds, Book 39, page 249; also Book 39, page 246).

The houses of Benjamin Tibbets and his son Solomon must have been near each other and both on westerly side of the road, while William Tibbets' dwelling house was some little distance away, and on the other or easterly side of the road.

Through the courtesy of George Walter Chamberlain, Esq., who has collected material for a history of Lebanon, Maine, we are enabled to quote extracts from the Journal of Capt. William Gerrish, as well as data from Provincial war records, Lebanon, Maine, to be found in Massachusetts Archives.

Mr. Chamberlain has kindly contributed the following items of information and is authority for the statement that Benjamin Tibbets must have built his Garrison house about 1754; that this Garrison house, which was his dwelling house, stood about a quarter of a mile east of the Salmon Falls river, on the westerly side of the road, about opposite the Lower Stair Falls, where he had his saw mill (the Guppy mill): that it was probably a large two-story house, with the upper story projecting over the lower. Nothing now remains to mark the spot except a square of green grass growing over what was the original foundation. The location of this old Garrison house was just south of the old Wesley Varney farm. The last man who lived on the Wesley Varney farm was Eben Willey. There was a good stand of buildings there at the time that Eben Willey lived there, but these buildings all burned about the year 1915.

That part of Lebanon (what is now known as South Lebanon) once had a considerable population. Within the past twenty-five or thirty years there were a number of good dwelling houses still standing there, at least forty or fifty, but one by one they have burned down and now but very few houses remain there.

Benjamin Tibbets was in command of the Garrison house during the Indian wars, as shown by Provincial war records (Mass. Archives 96: 2a), giving

"A Muster Roll of the Twelve of his Majesty's Service

under the Command of Benjamin Tibbets

Although in the Muster Rolls of the Province Service he has only the rank of Sergeant, yet his name will go down in the history of Lebanon bearing the title of Captain.

That he was the outstanding figure in the military situation of Lebanon during those years will be seen when the history of Lebanon is written.

During the Indian War at Saco, which commenced in the summer of 1755, Capt. William Gerrish of Berwick and his scouting company, who were scouting between Lebanon and Saco River, encamped at this Garrison house many times both going and returning. Capt. Gerrish kept a Journal of his proceedings, which has been preserved among Massachusetts Archives. Only a few extracts from his Journal are cited here, such as relate directly to Benjamin Tibbets, whom he mentions as Capt. Tibbets, and the one hundred and seventy souls, including men, women and children, who were being sheltered in his Garrison house. During these Indian wars it was the custom for the people to go to the Garrison house for protection at night, returning to their homes during the daytime, although there were times when it was necessary for all to remain at the Garrison both day and night.

The Journal of Capt. William Gerrish is inscribed:

The following Petition, dated 18 August 1757, and signed by twenty-three of the first settlers of Lebanon, Maine, is to be found in Massachusetts Archives 117: 362-5 (Collections of the Maine Historical Society, Documentary Second Series 13, pp. 103-106). The original document is on file in the State House in Boston. This first group of settlers consisted, as the Petition states, of about twenty families in 1757.

Note the following clauses:

"The said Inhabitants would further Shew or inform this honorable Court that they have no Settled Minister nor are they able to Support the Gospel among them And they live about Six Miles from Rochester ye present place of publick Worship. & a River to pass over, So that they can't but Seldom attend publick Worship. That they have not a School for their Children . . . That they have not a Grist Mill in s^d Township and are obliged to carry their Corn as far as Berwick which is at least Ten Miles & in which they spend so much time as to be a great Hindrance to their Husbandry That they have not been allow'd Soldiers to guard them in this War, and conceive that they are not any better protected by ye ranging Company allow'd by the Governm^t being in great Danger of their own ^{and} Families Lives while upon their Necessary Business abroad". etc. etc.

A photostatic copy of the signatures of those who signed this petition is herein given. The name of Benjamin Tebbets heads the list. The eighth signer was Samuel Kenney, his brother-in-law; the ninth signer was Richard Door his son-in-law (the husband of his daughter Patience); the fourteenth and fifteenth signers were his sons, William Tebbets and Ebenezer Tebbets; the sixteenth signer was his son-in-law, Henry Bickford (the husband of his daughter Abigail); the nineteenth signer was his eldest son, Solomon Tebbets.

In Rev. Amos Main's Account Book, 1755--1759, the following entries are to be found:

The old burial ground at South Lebanon is in the woods across the road from the old Andrew Furbush farm. This farm in 1917 was owned by Mr. Ross Betts.

It was stated by Dr. Pray's mother that the first settlers of Lebanon must have been buried in this old burial ground. Dr. Pray's mother was a Tibbetts, and lived to a great age, and had a remarkable memory for facts and incidents connected with the past, but even in her time there was no one living who remembered the names of those who were interred in this old cemetery. A very careful search has been made for gravestones, but none have been found.

There is no doubt that Benjamin Tibbets must have been buried here. Abigail his widow remained on the homestead with her son William and his family until 1769, when the farm was sold (York County Deeds, Book 41, page 263). She may have removed with them to Gouldsborough, Maine, and ten years later to Bangor, Maine. No record of her death has been found.

Let it be remembered that Capt. Benjamin and his family were the only Tibbets family that lived in Lebanon in those first years of settlement. It was not until many years after his death that others by the name of Tibbets came to reside in Lebanon.

The Lower Stair falls is at the dividing line between Berwick

Indian name. There are other deeds to and from both Benjamin Tebbets and his son William Tebbets but I did not have time to copy all. The Tebbets and Abner Young families lived almost next door neighbors.

Con. Ackl. Aug. 19, 1743.
York Co. Reg. of Deeds B 25 p 182

You will notice that this lot No 7 was "near where the s^d Tebbets now Dwells". The homestead lot was No 6 as you will see by the next deed. He had built a house out in the woods and later bought the twenty acre lot it was on. He probably had an agreement about the purchase of the lot before building his house, and later took his title, which see next deed

1744. October 11. Quit Claim Deed from "Thomas Wallingford of Summersworth Parish in the Town of Dover within his Majesties Province of New Hampshire" to

"Benjamin Tebbets of Rochester in the Province aboves^d Husbandman"

Consideration, "one Pound" Conveys, "The Homestead Lot in the New Township at the Head of Berwick in the county of York within the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England which Town was granted by the General Court of the s^d Province of the Mass^e Bay April 20th 1733 and is the sixth lot in Number in the Second Range of Home Lots that is to say only the whole of said Homestead Lot"

York Co. Reg. of Deeds B 25 p 265

You will notice that this is the homestead lot where Benjamin Tibbets had built his house and had lived the year before and perhaps for several years before. It was now war times and he had gone into the more central settlements for the time being. Lots No 6 and 7 second range were the lots that William Tebbetts sold August 7, 1769. We have now found that Benjamin Tibbetts built on lot No 6 second range, that his son Solomon Tibbetts built on lot no 4 second range and that William Tibbetts built on lot No. 19 first range. The houses of Benjamin Tibbetts and his son Solomon Tibbetts must have been near each other and both on westerly side of the road, while that of William Tibbetts was away some little way and on the other or easterly side of the road. When I go to Alfred again I wish to run these titles down and locate just where and who owns the land now so that the exact location of the old houses may be known. ~~xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx~~

York Co Reg. of Deeds B 37 p 77

You will notice that the last two deeds are dated the same day, the consideration of each was 1000 pounds old tenor, or Provincial bills of credit which had greatly depreciated at that time. So that one tract of forty acres paid for the other forty acres.

Garland's Mill, was the next mill above the Guppy mill in which Benjamin Tibbets owned an interest. I do not think Benjamin Tibbets had any interest in the Garland Mill. You will notice by next deed that Solomon Tebbets built a house and settled on this lot

York Co. Reg. of Deeds Book 48 page 202

Apparently the above levy covered on the 18 acre home tract where Abner Young's house was, but did not carry title on that tract as you will see by the next deed.

1790. Oct. 26. Deed-"Whereas the Proprietors of the Common and undivided Lands Lying Westwardly of the land called the Interest line between the Proprietors of Kittery and Berwick otherwise called the Proprietors of Berwick did at a meeting duly called and held for that Purpose on the second Day of March Seventeen Hundred and Seventy Eight by their vote did impower Benjamin Chadbourn Esq^e, John Hill and Jonathan Hamilton or any two of them to sell and dispose of any of the Lands belonging to said Proprietors in the possession of any Person and the money arising by such sale to be appropriated to Payments of said Proprietors Debts in consideration of Thirteen pounds Ten Shillings paidin for the use of said Proprietors by Abner Young of Berwick aforesaid Husbandman we do in our said capacity by virtue of the aforesaid vote sell and convey to the said Abner Young his heirs and assigns forever all the Right, title claim interest property and Demand the said Proprietors have of in and unto about eighteen acres of land situate in said Berwick or be the same more or less it being the whole of that piece of land where the said Young now and has for many years past Possessed and improved bounded northerly by Lebanon, westerly by the Salmon Falls River on the other parts by lands to us unknown however the same is bounded it is the whole of the lands belonging to said Proprietor's in that Lot where the said Abner now lives. He have and to hold the same to him the said Abner Young his heirs and assigns to his and their use and benefit forever as he is now in possession of the same"

York Co. Reg. of Deeds. B. 53 p 78.

The above deed covers on the north-west corner of Derrick right beside the Tibbetts saw mill or the saw mill at the Lower Stair falls on the Salmon Falls river. There is I am told an old cellar there where Abner Young once lived and perhaps an old burying ground might be found near-by, for William Tibbetts and his father Benjamin lived but a short distance away. You will note that the deed says "land where the said Young now and has for many years past Possessed and improved". How long time is here meant by "many years past," it is hard to tell.-- 1790. Oct. 26. Warranty Deed from Abner Young of Berwick in y^e County of York. Yeoman.

Consideration of Twenty Pounds, paid by Moses Wingate of Rochester in y^e county of Strafford State of New Hampshire Yeoman.

"A certain tract or parcel of land lying in Berwick afor said containing by estimation Eighteen acres or be the same more or less & is bounded northerly by Lebanon Line, westerly by Salmon Falls River, Southerly & Easterly by lands y^e present owners unknown & is y^e same land I have this Day purchased of y^e Committee of y^e Prop^s of Berwick & is y^e same land whereon I now live & have been in possession of for many years past"

Signed Abner Young seal
 Acknowledged by Abner Young Oct. 26, 1790 before Dominious Goodwin J. P.

York County Reg. of Deeds B 53, p. 78

You will notice that Abner Young says that he has been in possession of the above land "for many years past", so the levy of the execution given on page did not hold on the above eighteen acres, but probably held on the other part of the Mary Wallingford quit claim, see page The above deed carried the title, so nothing would be left to levy the execution on. Mr. Young may have moved away, but I would as soon think that he continued to live there. The Berwick tax lists do not go back to that time, so there is nothing to tell when he moved away or died. The above four deeds are all there are to or from Abner Young, at Alfred.

"Abner Young enlisted from Lebanon as a private 3 Sept. 1776 in Capt. John Brewster's Co. of Col. Pierce Long's Regt. stationed at New Castle, N. H. He was No 55 and served until 7 Jan. 1777".

"John Young enlisted from Lebanon as a private 24 Sept. 1776 in Capt. Abraham Perkins Co. of Col. Pierce Long's Regt. stationed in New Castle, N. H. He received one month's advanced pay from 7 Jan. 1777 but when ordered to march to Ticonderoga on 13 Jan. 1777 he refused, claiming that he was a citizen of Mass. he was not bound by the military orders of New Hampshire. He resided in the southerly part of the town. A John Young died of nervous fever 3 Sept. 1785 according to Mr. Hasey's diary for 1785."

"Jonathan Young is named in war rolls. Mass. archives. Vol. 43, p 94 as of Lebanon; mustered between 30 May and 15 June, 1777, in Capt. Samuel Jerby's Co. Col. John Bailey's Battalion. He was mustered by Joseph Bradley of York."

The early tax rates of Berwick, Me. are not in existence. I do not think that Abner Young was the father of Lurana Young, though he may and probably was her brother. I was hoping to find her name in the Berwick publications, but the record began since her marriage to William Tibbets. She probably belonged to the Dover or Rochester Youngs. There were a number of families of that name in Dover and perhaps some of them removed to Rochester when the town was settled. I do not find the name of Lurana Young on the Rochester Church records or on the old Rochester Town Records. On the Rochester town records there were no marriages or only a very few before the Revolution, and it was about the same at Dover between 1750 and 1770. Only a very few of the Justice of Peace marriages were recorded.

A plat of old Rochester may be found in the City Clerk's office, Rochester.

McDuffee's History states" the northeastern boundary of Rochester is the state line, on the east the bank of the Salmon Falls river which separates Rochester from Lebanon and Berwick, Maine. On the southeast it is bounded by Somersworth and Dover, on the southwest by Barrington and Strafford, and on the northwest by Farmingham and the river. The settlement of Rochester was long postponed on account of the Indian wars. Yet for nearly twenty years after the settlement began nothing occurred to interrupt its progress. At this time there must have been nearly 150 families, and being on the frontier they were helplessly exposed to the conflicts of the Indian wars. In 1744 the Proprietors voted to give to the settlers all the mill rents then due, to be appropriated for building five blockhouses or forts, three on the great road that leads to Norway Plains, one at Squamragonic Upper Hill, and one on the road by Newichwanoc river near the widow Tebbets's or, as his Excellency should otherwise order.

The only one of these forts now remaining forms the rear part of the house of Edward Tebbets (1852). The New Hampshire Register gives but nine places incorporated before Rochester. In May 1722 Barrington, Chester, Nottingham and Rochester were incorporated. These towns appear to have been named for distinguished British statesmen of that day. First Whole Share Proprietors. Among the names of the Proprietors of Rochester were Capt. Samuel Tibbets, Capt. Thomas Tibbets, Thomas Young, Ephraim Tibbets and others. Secondly Half Share Proprietors. Henry Tibbets, Mrs. John Tibbets of Sligo, John Kenny, John Gray, one share to be equally divided between them.

It is worthy of note that the names now most common in Rochester (1892) are those which frequently occur in the list of Proprietors. Among these are Rickford, Edgerly, Evans, Foss, Ham, Hanson, Hayes, Horn, Hurd, Roberts, Tebbets, Varney, Wentworth and Whitehouse. Although some of the settlers were of the Scotch-Irish immigrants, the town was settled principally by Dover men, where most of the Proprietors lived.

At a legal town meeting of the qualified voters of the town of Rochester Jan. 24, 1774 to consider on the alarming condition of the country, Ebenezer Tibbets was appointed Clerk of the Committee. ^{Two days after the battle of Bunker Hill this committee enlarged to thirteen members. They were a committee of correspondence to correspond with their brethren committees in the neighboring towns.} Among the company of Rochester men who marched to Portsmouth under command of Capt. David Place and served from four to six weeks on Seavey's Island, are to be found names of Ebenezer Tebbets 1st Lieut.; Jonathan Tebbets, Private. Among the list of Names signed to the printed form of agreement March 14, 1776 sent out by the New Hampshire Committee of Safety are those of Ebenezer Tebbets; Henry Tebbets; Edward Tebbets; Edmond Tebbets. The undesignated persons are of the Society of Friends and do not choose to sign:-- Elisha Tebbets; John Tebbets; Joseph Tebbets; David Tebbets; Elisha Tebbets Jr.; Enoch Tebbets; Robert Tebbets and others.

Family of Ensign Edward Tebbets of Rochester, New Hampshire.

29. Ensign Edward⁴ Tebbets (Henry³ (No. 11), Jeremiah², Henry¹), of Rochester, N.H., farmer and blacksmith, was born 2 February 1702, in Dover, N.H.; died in Rochester. His will, dated 30 Dec. 1780, was proved 17 Nov. 1790. He was the second son of Henry and Joyce Otis Tibbets.

He married first, Charity -----; and secondly, Mary -----.

His second wife Mary died 16 June 1780, aged 79 years; buried in the old cemetery on Meeting House Hill or Haven's Hill, at Rochester (Gravestone).

He retained the old spelling of the name, viz., Tebbets, which spelling is still in use by some of his descendants. There are on file various deeds to and from him and his brothers, Capt. Benjamin and Paul.

It is possible that his whole share of land in the township of Canterbury (N.H. Province Deeds, Book 78, p. 154) may have been granted in return for colonial war service rendered.

He inherited part of his father's homestead at Dover, N.H. (Dover Upper Neck) and resided there until sometime after 1736 when he removed to Rochester, N.H., where he became prominent. He settled in Rochester "on the cross road to the back road to Dover, on a farm where one of his descendants was still living in 1923.

Part of the old log house of the Garrison times is still occupied as a dwelling house though the clapboards have disguised its primitive "rudeness" (See Scales' Hist. Dover, p. 338. Pub. 1923).

An old account book kept by Ensign Edward Tebbets is now, 1934, in possession of the New Hampshire Historical Society and may be found in the society's library in Concord, N.H. It contains two pages of genealogical records of his descendants, which were apparently added at a later date.

of Rochester, New Hampshire.

30. Paul⁴ Tibbets (Henry³ (No. 11), Jeremiah², Henry¹), of Rochester, New Hampshire, farmer, was born 26 June 1705, in Dover, N.H.; died in Rochester, N.H., between 13 and 26 December 1742, aged 37 years, leaving widow Sarah and six children. He was third son of Henry and Joyce Otis Tibbets of Dover, N.H.

He married Sarah -----, probably in Dover, N.H. Her maiden surname has not been ascertained.

He was married and living near his father's home at Dover Upper Neck, in 1727, as shown by his father's will. He inherited property from his father, and various deeds are on record to and from him and his brothers, Benjamin and Edward.

He married first, Mary Pendexter, 8 November 1733, in Portsmouth, New Hampshire. After her death he married a second wife, Jane

He and his three older half-brothers are all named in their father's will, dated 14 August 1727, which was proved 6 September 1727, at which time he, Richard, must have been a lad twelve years of age or thereabout.

Family of Timothy and Experience (Hinckley) Tibbets of Brunswick, Maine, Harpswell, Maine and Topsham, Maine.

36. Timothy⁵ Tibbets (^{bapt.} John⁴ (No. 14), Capt. Thomas³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born in Somersworth, New Hampshire, 10 January 1714, according to the vital records of Dover, New Hampshire, (Somersworth being at that time a parish of Dover).

The family record preserved by the Indianapolis, Indiana branch of his descendants, states that he, Timothy Tibbets, was born 24 January 1716 at Somersworth, New Hampshire and died 14 July 1802, aged 86 years, 6 months. He married Experience Hinckley of the Ospe lod family. She was born 16 January 1720 at Truro, Cape Cod, Mass. She died 15 September 1798, aged 78 years, 8 months.

They had nine sons and three daughters.

(Note. Whatever the discrepancy in these conflicting birth-dates, it is the opinion of Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., that the vital records of Dover must be accepted as authority, and that this Timothy Tibbets who was born in Somersworth, New Hampshire, can be no other than the Timothy who was son of John and Mary Tibbets of Somersworth (their name in some old records spelled Tebbets), because there was no other Tibbets family living in Somersworth in that day except this family of John and Mary Tibbets ~~XXXXXX~~.

The vital records of Dover, N. H., give Timothy as their third child, born 10 January 1714, and there is then a lapse of five years between his birth and the birth of their next child.

Rev. Charles E. Sinnott in his Thompson Genealogy, entitled "Our Thompson family in Maine, New Hampshire and the West", refers to the family of John and Mary Tibbets (in some old records spelled Tebbets), as "one of the finest old Congregational families in the state".

Experience Hinckley was the daughter of Deacon Samuel Hinckley who traced his ancestry to Gov. Hinckley of Massachusetts, who came with the early settlers to Plymouth. Her Hinckley genealogical line is as follows: (Deacon Samuel⁴, Samuel³, Gov. Thomas², Samuel¹). This surname is variously spelled Hinkly, Hinkley and Hinckley.

Deacon Samuel Hinckley resided in Harwich, Mass. (Cape Cod) until 1715, in which year he removed to Truro, Mass., going thence to Maine. He married April 1710 in Harwich, Mass., Mary Freeman, daughter of Edmond and grand-daughter of Maj. John Freeman of Harwich, Mass.

The History of Brunswick, Topsham and Harpswell, Maine, page 754 states: "Deacon Samuel Hinckley was born in Harwich, Mass., Feb. 7, 1711. He moved to Maine and in 1729-30 is named as one of several persons associated together for the purpose of forming the First Church of Biddeford. On Aug. 29, 1735 he purchased of James Kent for one hundred and fifteen pounds thirty-five acres of land in Biddeford. He soon afterward however moved to Brunswick, Maine and settled at New Meadows.

The history of his settlement in Brunswick, Maine, is given in "Maine Historical and Genealogical Recorder", Vol. 9, page 199, which states:

"Deacon Samuel Hinckley, whose ancestors were originally from England, removed with his family from Truro, Cape Cod to Saco Falls, Maine, where they resided some years, from thence he came to Brunswick about 1735. He brought here with him six sons and four daughters. Two of his daughters married men by the name of Thompson, one married a Tibbetts and the fourth married Samuel Scammon of Biddeford, Maine."

Timothy Tibbets may have become acquainted with the family of Deacon Samuel Hinckley during their residence in Biddeford and Saco Falls, Maine. He married their daughter Experience after they removed to Brunswick, Maine, to which place he also went as a single man. He married Experience Hinckley about the year 1737.

Wheeler's History of Brunswick, Topsham and Harpswell, Maine, gives early settlers and land-owners in Brunswick, among whom we find the name of Timothy Tibbets 1739 at New Meadows. In 1760 we find him a resident of Harpswell, Maine, as shown by the following abstract of deed:

Captain John Witherby). He was accompanied by his wife Sarah and four children, and located first at Scituate, Mass., removing to Barnstable, Cape Cod in 1640. His children were Thomas, Susanna, Sarah, Mary, Elizabeth, Samuel (died young), Samuel second and John, besides a daughter and twin children who died in infancy unnamed.

Family of Gov. Thomas Hinckley.

Thomas² eldest child of Samuel and Sarah Hinckley the emigrants, was born in 1618 in England, and died April 25, 1700, at Barnstable, Mass., at the age of about 82 years. A memorial stone is erected on his grave at in Barnstable. He had nearly attained to man's estate when he accompanied his parents to this country, and soon took an active and conspicuous part in the conduct of colonial affairs. He participated in the great Narraganset fight in 1635, and was representative of the General Court in 1647. He served as assistant to the governor and was deputy governor of 1680 and governor from 1681 to 1682. He was king's councillor in Andros from 1692 to 1703. He was married (first), Dec. 4, 1641 to Mary Richards daughter of Thomas and Ashtean Richards. She died in Barnstable June 24, 1659, and he married (second), March 16, 1660, Mrs. Mary Glover, widow of Nathaniel Glover of Dorchester, Mass., and daughter of John Smith. She was born July 20, 1620, at Toxeth Park, near Liverpool, England and died in Barnstable, July 29, 1703. Her father was known by the title of Quartermaster, and his wife and her mother was Mary Hyder of Toxeth Park.

Gov. Thomas Hinckley's children by first marriage were Mary, Sarah, Melatiah, Hannah, Samuel, Bathshua, Thomas, Mehitable. His children by second marriage were Adaire, Ebenezer (died young), Mercy, Experience, John, Abigail, Thankful, Ebenezer and Reliance.

He was a soldier in King Philip's war, and was one of the grantees of Gorham, in the district of Maine. He married Nov. 13, 1676, Sarah Pope, daughter of Capt. John Pope of Sandwich. After his death she became the second wife of Thomas Hutchins of Barnstable.

The Richards Family.

(Ancestry of Mary Richards, the first wife of Gov. Thomas Hinckley).

Extract from the Richards Genealogy.

Mary Richards, daughter of Thomas and Wealthean Richards, died June 24, 1659; she married Thomas Hinckley Gov. of Plymouth. Her sister, Alice Richards, married Major William Bradford Deputy Gov. of Plymouth; she died Dec. 12, 1671. They were the daughters of Thomas Richards, born in England about 1590 and the first of the name who arrived in New England, and was undoubtedly a man of standing and consideration in the mother country. He came to Dorchester, says his contemporary, Capt. Clap, in 1630, the year when the settlement began, and no doubt came over in the Mary and John with his wife and several children. Dorchester from Dorsetshire in England, and named the place of their settlement for their native place. Thomas Richards was probably from Dorsetshire, or perhaps West Bagborough, only a few miles distant, to which his arms unmistakably point.

[Wealthean Richards, widow, in her will, bequeathed as follows:
 "To Mary Bradford I leave the worst of my three feather beds" etc.]

Family of Deacon Samuel and Mary (Freeman) Hinckley of Truro, Mass. and Brunswick, Maine (proving the ancestral line of Experience Hinckley, wife of Timothy Tibbets)

Deacon Samuel⁴ Hinckley (Samuel³, Gov. Thomas², Samuel¹), was born Sept. 24, 1684, in Barnstable, Mass. (Cape Cod), and died in Brunswick, Maine, where he settled about 1735. His surname is variously spelled, Hinkly, Hinkley and Hinckley.

Thomas Hinckley of Barnstable, Cape Cod, Mass., Governor of Plymouth, and Mary Richards his first wife, who died in Barnstable June 24, 1689. She was daughter of Thomas and Wollheer Richards.

A memorial stone is erected over the grave of Gov. Thomas Hinckley in Barnstable. He was born in 1618 in England, and died April 25, 1760 at Barnstable at the age of about 88 years.

Gov. Thomas Hinckley was the eldest child of Samuel Hinckley who was no doubt the ancestor of all in this country bearing the name.

The said Samuel Hinckley was born in 1306, in Canterbury, county of Kent, England, and came to Boston in the Hercules of Sandwich (two hundred tons). He was accompanied by his wife Sarah and four children. He located first at Scituate, removing to Barnstable, Cape Cod, in 1640. FAMILY OF NATHANIEL TIBBETTS OF BOOTHBAY, MAINE, FOUNDER OF THE BOOTHBAY BRANCH OF THE TIBBETTS FAMILY.

45. Nathaniel⁵ Tibbetts of Boothbay, Maine (Capt. Ichabod⁴ (No. 20), Capt. Samuel³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born Aug. 30, 1727, in Dover, New Hampshire. He was second son of Capt. Ichabod Tibbetts and youngest child of his first wife Abigail. As will be noted in his surname, he used a different spelling from that of his father. He settled in Townsend (Boothbay), Maine about 1759, (coming from Dover, New Hampshire), in what is known as the "Dover District", that is, the eastern side of North Boothbay, near Edgecomb, together with some forty families, all of whom came from Dover, New Hampshire. He was the first of the Tibbetts name in Boothbay. He built a log home on what is known as the McClintock place in the Dover district, but later moved further North and built where his son Giles Tibbetts afterwards lived, the place in more recent years going to Frank Tibbetts, son of Giles Tibbetts, Jr. Boothbay was called Townsend before it was incorporated Nov. 3, 1764. To Fred V. Matthews, Esq., an attorney of Portland, Maine, who is a descendant of Nathaniel Tibbetts, we are indebted for the above notes on the settlement of the Tibbetts family in Boothbay, and they are interesting from a historical standpoint, and give a touch of local color.

Mr. Matthews further writes as follows: "I was born September 2, 1865, at Boothbay, where I resided until I was eight only but where I had and still have many relatives--and where I have visited often ever since. I lived at North Boothbay, at Back River, within a mile (in the country) of what was called the "Dover District" at Back Narrows, an arm of the Sheepscot Bay making in to the Eastward between the North end of Boothbay and Edgecomb. If you have Green's History, you may see it making off from the North end of Barter's Island on the map in the back of the book. This peninsular and Barter's Island were first settled by some 47 or 48 families (mostly young men they came from the region of Dover, New Hampshire), hence the name, just as the people of Dover, N.H. brought the name from their old home in Dover, England, when they came over along from 1620 to 1650.

The Dover people went to Boothbay all along from 1740 to 1755, as shown by the records of Dover, New Hampshire, families--and those recorded later in the Boothbay records after the town was incorporated in 1764, when full fledged families are recorded the first two years, some of them with numerous children, grouped, showing that it was more like a census (and so more liable to error) than like the records of births and deaths made as they occur.

When Mr. Green wrote his history of Boothbay I worked with him on the North Boothbay part, for in love of it, and my childhood and friends (see his preface). I have spent much time on the Boothbay records, also those of Dover, New Hampshire. I knew and corresponded much with Mr. Charles Wesley Tibbetts about various Back River Boothbay families (for Dover, N.H. had also its "Back River"). I have a complete set of Mr. Tibbetts' publication "The New Hampshire Genealogical Record".

My mother, Lovesta Hodgdon, wife of Elbridge Matthews, was born in Boothbay, Maine, Nov. 19, 1839. She was daughter of Timothy and Frances (Tibbetts) Hodgdon who lived all their married life on Sawyer's Island, Boothbay, Maine.

When I undertook to ravel out the marvelous network of inter-marriages between these circumscribed families of relatives and friends in a circumscribed area, for three or four generations, the repetitions of the family christian names, and the great difference in the ages of brothers and sisters, owing to the large number of children in each family, were the sources of greatest difficulties.

When I say that all eight of my great grandparents, and all eight of my great-great grandfathers lived within three miles of a given point, that is, where I lived as a child, you can see what I mean. For it was a region of small farms, with no compact center of even five or six houses, and so it remains today - in sorry neglect Boothbay Revolutionary Records. Greene's Hist. of Boothbay, pages 244-45: (See also "Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War, vol. 15, page 727):

Nathaniel Tibbetts, Private, Capt. Davis' co., Col. Frye's regt., enlisted April 2, 1776, service at Boothbay; also commissioned 1st Lieut. Capt. Elijah Grant's co. (5th co.), Col. McCobb's regt.; also served as Lieut. in command of a co. detached to serve with guards on the seacoast of Lincoln County under Major William Lithgow.

Also, on page 214 Greene's History of Boothbay, Nathaniel Tibbetts is recorded as having served as a member of the Committee of Correspondence, Inspection and Safety in 1777 in Boothbay.

There has been considerably controversy about the name of Nathaniel Tibbetts' wife. The evidence seems to be that it was Abigail Giles, and not Elizabeth Giles as Greene's History of Boothbay gives it. This conclusion was reached by the late Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., after sifting the evidence thoroughly, therefore on the books of the Tibbetts Family Association her name stands as Abigail Giles, born 24 Dec. 1729.

Greene's History of Boothbay states that Nathaniel Tibbetts' wife was Elizabeth Giles, born 1729, daughter of Mark and Lydia (Tibbetts) Giles. This date of Elizabeth Giles' birth is wrong, as proven by the vital records of Dover, New Hampshire. Reference is made to the Mark Giles family in Dover Historical Collections, vol. 1, page 55, which states that "Elizabeth Giles, daughter of Mark Giles by his wife Lydia was born in Dover May y^e 2d 1737". This date in Dover Historical Collections must be accepted as authority.

In Maine State Library, at Augusta, Maine, are to be found records from an Oxford Bible, pub. 1780, purported to be the family Bible of Nathaniel Tibbetts, founder of the family in Boothbay, and which is still in possession of his descendants. This Bible gives "Nathaniel Tibbetts, Born Aug. 30, 1727 and dates of birth of their eleven children.
"His wife Abigail Born Dec. 24, 1729"

Inasmuch as the Nathaniel Tibbotts family of Boothbay, Maine, is well established in Greene's History of Boothbay, as the "Family of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Giles) Tibbetts", and is followed out in Maine Genealogy and other books under the same heading, tracing various branches down to descendants who are living at the present time, the compiler of these records can not do otherwise than follow the same example.

Nathaniel Tibbetts, founder of the family in Boothbay, Maine, and Elizabeth Giles his wife, had eleven children, the older ones born in Dover, New Hampshire, and those born after 1759 in Boothbay, Maine, the dates of their birth verified from genealogical records of Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq. and also from Greene's History of Boothbay, Maine, and also from family Bible record above referred to.

Family of Solomon and Elizabeth (Spearing) Tibbetts of Lebanon, Me., Gardiner, Me., and Litchfield, Me.

61. Solomon⁵ Tibbetts (Capt. Benjamin⁴ (No. 28), Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), of Lebanon, Me., Gardiner, Me., and Litchfield, Me., farmer, born about 1725-6 in Dover, New Hampshire; baptized in church in Rochester, N.H., 20 Dec. 1741 (Hist. of Rochester, N.H., p. 588, by Franklin McDuffee); died in Litchfield, Me., in 1790; buried by the shore of Cobbesee pond near his home (Hist. Litchfield, p. 355). He was the eldest child of Capt. Benjamin and Abigail Tibbetts.

He married Elizabeth Spearing about 1750-1, probably at Rochester, N.H., Dover, N.H. or Berwick, Me., as at that time Lebanon had no minister and it was being settled.

He was one of the very first settlers of Lebanon, Maine (what is now South Lebanon) and owned a mill opposite East Rochester, N.H., previously called Garland's mill.

He built his house on Lot No. 4, Second Range, of the above twenty acres in Lebanon, on the westerly side of the main road leading from Berwick through said Lebanon and adjoining on Salmon Falls river (the river being the dividing line between Maine and New Hampshire), and his home was near his father's.

He lived here until 1762 as shown by the following deeds:

RELATING TO BANGOR, MAINE.

(Copied from Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 1, p. 62):

The territory which is now the City of Bangor was originally claimed by the Waldo proprietors who caused a survey to be made by Joseph Chadwick in 1773, and in 1776 another exploration by Jonathan Stone was made by order of Gen. Knox whose wife was one of the Waldo heirs. A part of the report was as follows: "No. 1 in the second range contains twenty-three thousand and eight hundred and ninety-five acres, is bounded on the east and southeast by Penobscot River &c., &c. This township comprehends the head of navigation on this river at the mouth of the Kendisckeig, and is the principal anchorage where about 2 1/2 fathoms at low water. The great falls at the head of the tide afford an excellent shad and alewife fishery, and the mouth of the Kendisckeig is the most convenient landing for rafts of lumber which come down, of any place in the river. These advantages joined to its pleasant situation, and the vast country above, to which it must serve as a seaport, must make it a place of considerable trade in a short time -- but these advantages will be the property of a few individuals if the first settlers who have taken up the farms along the river, are allowed to hold them. There are some tolerable farming lands along the Kendisckeig stream and towards the northerly part; it has likewise large quantities of open meadows.

FIRST SETTLER'S NAMES.

Abram Freeze, Isaac Freeze, Archd. McPheters, Jonathan Towler, Silas Harthorne, Joseph Page, Robert Treat, Widow Harthorne, Levi Bradley, Andrew Webster, William Hasey, Nathaniel Mayo, William Tibbetts, Thomas Howard, Jacob Russell, Elisha Nevers, -----Brown, John Smart, James Budge, Widow Dunning, Jacob Dennett, Ebenezer Mayo, Simon Crosby. The following settlers were before the war, --- Benjamin Rollins, 2 years; Benjamin Low 3 years; William Holt 2 years; Peter Burgess 2 years.

New Settlers----Daniel Spencer, James Mayhew, Amos Mann, George Tibbetts, Abner Tibbetts, Daniel Campbell, Timo. Crosby.

The first settlers in Bangor and their lots.

Bangor Hist. Mag., vol. 1, p. 119: The state owned the township, but in a compromise with the Waldo proprietors, gave actual settlers prior to Feb. 17, 1798, one hundred acres each, and the balance to the Waldo proprietors.

Bangor Hist. Mag., vol. 1, p. 3: Early settlement of Bangor. William Tibbetts from Gouldsborough, Maine, whose sons, William Jr., Daniel, George and Abram (error, Abner) came with him.

(Note by M.T.J. The name Abram is intended for Abner. Daniel was either a brother or nephew of William Tibbetts and not a son).

The town clerks of Bangor, for several years after its incorporation persisted in calling it Condeoskeeg Plantation or Kenduskeeg Plantation. Penobscot is the Indian name of the river.

Notes in regard to settlers of Bangor, Maine.

The Bangor Hist. Mag. states that Rev. Seth Noble was settled minister of Congregational Church in Mangerfield (now Sheffield) on St. John River, New Brunswick, 1771-2.

In 1786, through the influence of Col. Jonathan Eddy and Dr. Elisha Nevers of Bangor, Maine, he came to Penobscot River and preached in Bangor until 1797.

Bangor Hist. Mag., vol. 2, p. 27, states: Daniel Tibbetts was a resident of Hampden, Me. in 1770.

Vol. 2, p. 18 says William and Joseph Tibbetts, first settlers, received deeds of land in Addison, Maine, June 2, 1794.

Vol. 2, p. 210 gives Nathaniel Tibbetts' residence in Frankfort, Nov. 10, 1789.

"Heads of Families in 1790" gives the following residents of Frankfort Township, Hancock Co., Maine: Benjamin Tibbetts, Solomon Tibbetts, Nathaniel Tibbetts. In Camden Township, Hancock County, Thomas Tibbetts. In Condukeag Plantation, Hancock Co. (now Penobscot Co.), William Tibbetts, Abner Tibbetts, George Tibbetts, Daniel Tibbetts, John Tibbetts.

Of the above, Abner and George were sons of William Tibbetts of Condukeag Plantation and, as previously stated, Daniel was either a brother or a nephew of William and had removed with him from Lebanon, Me. to Gouldsborough, Me., and later to Bangor, Me.

Daniel, William and Abner served in the Revolution in the same company, enlisting from Gouldsborough.

It is possible that the Benjamin Tibbetts of Frankfort Township was also brother of William, and removed from Lebanon, Me. to Gouldsborough and later to Bangor. A Benjamin Tibbetts and Nathaniel Tibbetts of Gouldsborough served in the Revolution, enlisting in the same company as Daniel, William and Abner, their records to be found in Vol. 15, p. 726, Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War.

In Robert Treat's Day Book 1786 to 1790 (Bangor, Maine) were to be found the names of William Tibbetts, Abner Tibbetts, George Tibbetts, Benjamin Tibbetts, Solomon Tibbetts, David Tibbetts, Obediah Tibbetts; Robert Treat's Day Book was burned, among the papers of the Bangor Historical Society, in the fire which occurred in Bangor, Sunday, April 30, 1911.

Old Tibbets Record.

Photostatic print of an old Tibbets Record, the original of which was preserved by descendants of William and Lurana (Young) Tibbetts and was sent from Brewer, now Holden, Maine, to Indiana about the year 1840. It is now, 1934, in possession of the compiler and is still very legible.

Every name in this old 'Record' is correct except that of Sampson which is intended to designate Richard⁴ Tibbetts, the son of Henry³ Tibbetts by his second wife Mary (Ackerman) Sampson. Apparently Richard was sometimes called "Sampson" by his older half-brothers.

Family of William and Lurana (Young) Tibbetts of Bangor, Maine.

62. William⁵ Tibbetts (Capt. Benjamin⁴ (28), Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹) was born 21 April 1731, probably in Dover, New Hampshire. The Bangor, Maine Historical Magazine is wrong in stating that he was born in England. He died after 1807 and before 1816 near Corinth, Penobscot County, Maine. He was the son of Capt. Benjamin⁴ and Abigail Tibbetts who removed from Dover, New Hampshire to Rochester, New Hampshire and later removed to Lebanon, Maine. He was baptized in the Congregational Church at Rochester, Aug. 29, 1742 (page 588, Hist. of Rochester, N.H. by Franklin McDuffee, giving baptisms and marriages from the Rochester Church Book of Records).

He married about 1755-6, Lurana Young, probably at Rochester, New Hampshire, Dover, New Hampshire, or possibly Berwick, Maine. He was a farmer and after his marriage had a part of his father's home place in South Lebanon, Maine, near the Berwick line. He and his wife were members of the Congregational Church of Lebanon, whose first settled pastor was the Rev. Isaac Hasey.

In an address by Rev. Charles N. Sinnett (pub. 1903) on "Historic Lebanon, Maine, and the grand work of the Congregational Church in one hundred and thirty-eight years", he speaks of the provisions of the original Town Charter for the support of the minister, the ministry and the schools, and says "How well these first settlers held to these rules is suggested by the names of those among them whose descendants through so many generations have done much for the church and town: Farnham, Copp, Door, Hussey, Rives, Stevens, Blaisdell, Tibbetts, Henny, Wallingford, McCralis, Perkins, Gorson, Burrows, Goodwin, Yeaton, Furbush and Cowell. The towns from which these settlers came also gives good proof of firm integrity and honor, for Berwick, Kittery, Somersworth, Dover and York were the places from which the sons and daughters of sturdish stock came.

The first name of the town was "Towow", but Lebanon it has been since the incorporation in 1767 and the good old Bible name may have been given at the suggestion of the Rev. Isaac Hasey".

The Rev. Isaac Hasey, first settled minister of Lebanon, was graduated at Harvard College in 1762 and was ordained on the 23d of June 1765, the date when the church at Lebanon was organized and was its minister for 47 years. He kept a series of diaries which cover a period of over forty years, from 1765 to 1812, the year in which he died. Among them are to be found the following entries, which, although unimportant, mention William Tibbetts and his wife.

- "Jan. 9, 1766. At Mrs Tibbetts & Deaⁿ Blaisdells.
- June 5, 1766 Mr Tibbetts, Husseys, Kennys, Doors, Doors, Doors, Husseys, Lord worked for Mr Farnham.
- Feb. 24, 1768 At Rⁱ Furbishes P.M. This evening gave Mr Blaisdell an order for Five Dollars for which W^m Tibbetts promised to Deliver me 10 Bush^l corn.
- May 26, 1768 At Mrs Tibbetts with Mrs Hasey and sister Hannah.
- Aug. 17, 1768 x x x x roasting pig by William Tibbetts.
- March 24, 1769. Walked to Mr Tibbetts and Saml Kings with Mrs. Hasey".

William Tibbetts signed petition of the inhabitants of Lebanon,

Maine, dated Aug. 18, 1757. A photostat copy of the signatures of the twenty-three signers of this petition is given herein. (See page). The original copy of this petition is on file in the State House, Boston, in Mass. Archives 117: 362-5. (Collections of the Maine Historical Society, Documentary Second Series 13, pp. 103-106). In this petition he and his brothers and their father use the old spelling of the name, viz., Tebbets.

William Tibbetts sold his Lebanon estate Aug. 7, 1769, as will be seen by the following abstract:

Aug. 7, 1769. Deed from "William Tibbetts of Lebanon in the county of York and Province of the Massachusetts Bay "Yeoman", Abigail Tibbets mother to said William Tibbets and Luraney Tibbets wife to sd William Tibbets released their right of dower to (York County, Maine Deeds, Book 41, page 263).

About that time many of the Tibbetts families went "down east" and William Tibbetts with the others and settled in Gouldsbrough, Maine, where he lived for about ten years, during which time he served in the Revolution, enlisting from Gouldsbrough, as did also his eldest son, Abner. Maine was then, and until 1820, a District of Massachusetts. His Revolutionary record is to be found in Vol. 15, page 726 "Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War", as follows:

"William Tibbetts of Gouldsbrough, Maine, Private. Capt. Francis Shaw Jr.'s Co.; enlisted Sept 11, 1775; served 3 mos. 3 weeks, 6 days; company stationed at Gouldsbrough No 4 Garreguagus and Pleasant River for defense of seacoast; also Capt. discharged Oct. 1, 1777; service 16 days at Machias when British ships lay in that harbor".

After the Revolution, William Tibbetts and his wife Lurana removed with their family from Gouldsborough to Bangor, Maine, in 1779, and were among the earliest settlers. The History of Penobscot County states that "there were not more than a dozen buildings in the place at the time he arrived, and there was not a church in Penobscot County."

The town of Bangor granted to William Tibbetts, as a first settler, two lots, of one hundred acres each, numbered #17 and #87. Lot No. 17 appears to have been the more valuable lot. It adjoined the Penobscot River, having a frontage of fifty rods along the river, "thence north extending one mile, including the whole width, to contain one hundred acres".

He and his four sons were voters and tax payers of Bangor at the time it was incorporated Feb. 25, 1791. Vol. 1, page 4, Bangor Hist. Magazine states that in the first volume of Bangor Town Records is pasted some old records of plantation meetings, among which are the following: "March 27, 1787 Officers chosen for the town: Daniel Campbell and Abner Tibbetts committee on roads to Crosby Meadow Brook: Voted Simon Crosby, Jeremiah Colburn and John Tibbetts fish committee. In 1787 a petition sent to the General Court to incorporate the town of Sunbury on a tract of land in the county of Lincoln on the western side of Penobscot River, signed by Robert Treat, Jacob Dennett, George Tibbetts, Abner Tibbetts and others."

In the United States Census of 1790 William Tibbetts appears as the head of a family of three males over sixteen years, no males under sixteen years, and four females. (In this Census the number of males over sixteen years of age listed in a family, included the head of the family himself, and those over age of his white servants or other males as well as his sons who were living in his family). His residence in 1790 is given as Condukeeg Pl., Hancock Co. (now Penobscot Co.), Maine. (Condukeeg Pl. meaning Bangor, Maine).

The History of Penobscot County, Maine, pub. 1882, gives a short account of him and his family in biographical sketches, under heading: "Charleston, Maine. Notes of Settlement."

The Bangor Historical Magazine, edited by Joseph W. Porter, (1885 to 1891) Vol. 4, page 21 and Vol. 6, page 294 give some records of William and Lurana (Young) Tibbetts and family and state that they removed to Bangor from Gouldsborough in 1779. There are some errors in these records which are greatly to be regretted, especially the statement that William Tibbetts was born in England; and the statement that his son Benjamin married Hannah Rose. (Benjamin Tibbetts married Hannah Snow.) Vols. 4 and 6 both state that Daniel who married widow Margaret Potter Aug. 15, 1789 was son of William and Lurana (Young) Tibbetts; this is wrong. Daniel was William Tibbetts' brother and came with him from Gouldsborough to Bangor.

of Bangor, Maine.

William Tibbetts spent the last years of his life near Corinth, Maine where he died venerated and respected by all who knew him. The date of his death has not been found and his place of burial is unknown. It was probably in Corinth.

He probably lived near the home of his son Abner who was one of the founders of Corinth (1792) which is seventeen miles west of Bangor, and whose home was on Lot #10, First Range in Corinth. This particular locality in Corinth was then designated as "Ohio".

In deed dated 16 March 1807 he conveyed his lot No. 17 to three of his sons, as shown by the following abstract:

Ancestry of Lurana Young.

Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., formerly of Dover, New Hampshire, now (1920) of Moody, Maine, who will be known to future generations as the genealogist of the Tibbetts family, has made an effort to trace the ancestry of Lurana Young and is of the opinion that she was the daughter of Abner Young who was a store-keeper in Dover as early as 1727.

In proof of this he writes as follows:

"I have had to be in Dover on several days lately. One day I looked over the Deeds of Strafford County and another day the Strafford County Wills and probate records but found nothing to help you either day.

I then looked through the old Provincial and State Papers and I found something that will help you.

You and I both have thought that the father of Lurana Young who married William Tibbetts was named Abner Young and that the Berwick Abner Young must have been a brother who served in the Revolution (enlisting from Lebanon, Maine).

In Vol. 18, page 47 of New Hampshire State Papers I found an Abner Young in the year 1727 who must have been your Abner Young, the father of Lurana. Notice the date, 1727, of fifty years before the Revolution and he was living in Dover and must have been a store-keeper. Living right down near where Henry and Joyce Tibbetts the grandparents of William Tibbetts lived and where Benjamin Tibbetts the father of William Tibbetts lived before he moved to Rochester, N.H.

I have copied a part of the record and give it within quotation points as follows:

"(Theodore Atkinson Account of Powder Money)"

"An Acco of Powder money recd by Theodore Atkinson according to an act of the Generall Assembly In May 1727"

"1727. To Cash of Mr. Ben. J. Wentworth for Powder 60."
(There were nine other items I did not copy, bringing (the account up to
" 307.04.11 1/2 "

"By John Parsons 10"

(There were thirty-five other names I did not copy (and another as follows:

"By Abner Young 10.10"

(The whole number bringing acct. up to 307.04.11 1/2")

"May 17th, 1732 sworn to in the house of Representatives"
James Jeffrey Clr. Assm"

New Hampshire State Papers, Vol. 18, p. 47.

The above Theodore Atkinson lived at Portsmouth. The thirty seven persons the powder was sold to must have been store-keepers. You will notice that the quantity sold to Abner Young came to 10.10 or about fifty-two dollars worth.

The record does not tell where Abner Young lived at the time 1727 but the following in quotation fixes that.

(Taxes in Dover 1741)

"Farmers Ms. Town Papers, IV, 299")

"The Countefin of Dover Parish"

Ancestry of Lurana Young.

(There are 104 names on the list. I copied one as follows:)
 "Abner Young 7.4."
 N. H. State Papers, Vol. 24, p. 697.

In 1741 there were two parishes in Dover, one, the above, was called the Dover Parish and the other the Cochecho Parish. The Dover Parish was down at Dover Neck and Dover Point where the Tibbetts family settled.

You will notice that Abner Young in 1741 lived in the Dover Parish and paid a parish tax of seven shillings and four pence, this was mostly for the support of the minister.

Abner Young was a man grown in 1727 and probably born near 1700.

Lurana Young was born about 1735 probably and I think was married about 1756 and was probably married at Dover, if Abner Young continued to live there.

Tibbetts Deeds

The following deed is copied for the reason that Abner Young signs his name as one of the witnesses. It is the opinion of Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., that the said Abner Young was father of Lurana Young, who married William Tibbetts of Lebanon, Me., Gouldsborough, Me., and Bangot, Me. And furthermore, that the said Abner Young was father of the Abner Young of Lebanon, Maine, who served as a Revolutionary soldier from Lebanon.

Family of Ebenezer and Olive (Dore) Tibbetts of Shapleigh, Maine.

63. Ebenezer⁵ Tibbetts (Capt. Benjamin⁴ (No. 28), Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), born about 1733, in Dover, N.H.; bapt. 13 Sept. 1741 in Rochester, N.H.; died after 1790, in Shapleigh, Me. He was the son of Capt. Benjamin and Abigail Tibbetts of Dover, N.H., Rochester, N.H., and Lebanon; Me.

He married (by Parson Main) 7 April 1757, Olive⁴ Dore (sometimes spelled Door), of Lebanon, Me., born in Rochester, N.H., daughter of Philip Jr.³ and Lydia (Mason) Dore of Rochester, N.H., later of Lebanon, Me., and Shapleigh, Me., and granddaughter of Philip and Sarah Dore of Newington, N.H., later of Rochester, N.H. (Scales' Hist. Dover, p. 480; also, Wentworth Genealogy, vol. 1, p. 279). (A great-nephew of Mrs. Olive (Dore) Tibbetts was the Hon. John C. Dore, graduate of Dartmouth College in 1847, and for several years president of the Board of Trade, Chicago, who was son of Ezekiel⁵ and grandson of Benjamin⁴ and Sarah (Locke) Dore).

Ebenezer Tibbetts was in the Province service as a sentinel from 30 Aug. to 31 Oct. 1757, at Lebanon, Me., during the Indian war at Saco (Mass. Archives 96:2a). He signed petition of inhabitants of Lebanon, Me., said petition dated 18 August 1757 (Mass. Archives 117: 362-5 (Collections of the Maine Historical Society, Documentary Second Series 13, pp. 102-106)).

In the United States Census of 1790 Ebenezer Tibbetts is listed as a resident of Shapleigh, Me., and head of a family of one male over 16 and three females.

Children (continued):

Family of Benjamin Tibbetts of Lebanon, Maine, Gouldsborough, Maine, and Frankfort, Waldo County, Maine.

64. Benjamin⁵ Tibbetts (Capt. Benjamin⁴ (No. 28), Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), farmer, of Frankfort, Waldo County, Maine, was born about 1733, either at Dover, New Hampshire or Rochester, New Hampshire; baptized in Rochester, New Hampshire, 13 Sept. 1741 (McDuffee's History of Rochester, N.H., page 588). He died in Frankfort, Maine. He was the son of Capt. Benjamin and Abigail Tibbetts of Dover, New Hampshire, Rochester, New Hampshire, and Lebanon, Maine.

He married _____, probably before removing from Lebanon, Maine. He removed from Lebanon, Maine to Gouldsborough, Maine, where he resided about ten years, during which time he served in the Revolution. He removed about 1779 to Frankfort township, Hancock County (now Waldo County), Maine. His record of service in the Revolution is as follows: (Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, vol. 15, page 726): Benjamin Tibbetts, Gouldsborough, Private, Capt. Samuel Tibby's co., in a detachment from Col. Benjamin Foster's (Lincoln Co.) regt.; enlisted Sept. 2, 1777; discharged Oct. 13, 1777; service 1 month, 11 days at Machias when British ships lay in the harbor.

In Robert Treat's Day Book 1788 to 1790 (Bangor, Maine), were to be found, among others, the names of Benjamin Tibbetts, Solomon Tibbetts, David Tibbetts, Obediah Tibbetts (all probably closely related and probably living in Frankfort township.

Robert Treat's Day Book was burned among the papers of the Bangor Historical Society, in the fire which occurred at Bangor, Maine, Sunday, April 30, 1911.

In the United States Census of 1790, Benjamin Tibbetts appears as the head of a family of two males over 16 years of age and two females, and his residence as Frankfort township, Hancock County, Maine.

Children:

1. Nathaniel⁶ Tibbetts; removed with his father from Lebanon, Maine to Gouldsborough, Maine, and later to Frankfort township, Hancock County, Maine. This Nathaniel Tibbetts married and lived in Frankfort, Maine. The Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 2, page 210, gives Nathaniel Tibbetts' residence in Frankfort, Nov. 10, 1789. In the United States Census of 1790, Nathaniel Tibbetts appears as the head of a family of two males over 16, one male under 16 and one female, and his residence as Frankfort township, Hancock County, Maine. Names of his children have not been ascertained. He served in the Revolution, enlisting from Gouldsborough, Maine, probably as a young, unmarried man, his service record as follows: (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, vol. 15, pages 725-727): Nathaniel Tibbetts, Gouldsborough, Private, Capt. Francis Shaw Jr's co.; enlisted Sept. 7, 1775; service 4 mos., 3 days; company stationed at Gouldsborough, No. 4, Carraguanus and Pleasant River for defense of seacoast; also, Sergeant Capt. Reuben Dyer's co.; enlisted May 26, 1777; discharged July 23, 1777; service 1 month, 27 days; company raised

- ii. Solomon⁶ Tibbetts; married and lived in Frankfort, Maine. He is listed in the U. S. Census of 1790 as a resident of Frankfort township, Hancock County, Maine, and the head of a family of two males over 16 and one female.

And probably other children.

Family of Daniel and Martha (Downs) Tibbetts
of Lebanon, Maine.
and Shapleigh, Maine.

65. Daniel⁵ Tibbetts (Capt. Benjamin⁴(No 28), Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born about 1735, probably in Rochester, New Hampshire; bapt. in Rochester, 13 Sept. 1741 (Rochester Church Book of Records: See McDuffey's History of Rochester, page 588). He was the son of Capt. Benjamin and Abigail Tibbetts of Dover, N. H., Rochester, N. H., and Lebanon, Maine.

He married in Berwick, Maine, 11 May 1758, Martha Downs, daughter of Thomas and Mercy (Downs) Downs, of Berwick, Maine, and granddaughter of Thomas and Sarah (Ham) Downs, of Somersworth, New Hampshire.

The following deed mentions Daniel Tibbetts and wife Martha:

1761 Sept. 17 Deed from Daniel Tibbetts of ye new township at ye head of Berwick commonly known by ye name of Towwow in the County of York in the Province of Mass^{ts} Bay in New England, " and Martha Tibbetts wife of said Daniel Tibbetts, Husbandman

 - ii. Lovicey⁶ Tibbetts, born ; not married in 1816.
 - iii. Solomon⁶ Tibbetts, born ; was residing in Franklin Co., Maine, in 1816, probably Waldo Co., now.
- and probably other children.

Query? Was one of their sons the Daniel Tibbetts who married Meribah Lord, 3 March 1785, in Berwick, Maine? (New Eng. Hist. Gen. Reg., vol. 83, p. 13, "Records of the First Church of Berwick (South Berwick), Maine").

Family of Daniel and Martha (Downs) Tibbetts
of Lebanon, Maine
and Shapleigh, Maine.

Query: Who was the following-named Daniel Tibbetts ?

A Daniel Tibbetts served in the Revolution, enlisting from Gouldsborough, Maine, his service record as follows: (Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, vol. 15, pages 725-726): Daniel Tibbetts, Gouldsborough, Corporal, Capt. Reuben Dyer's co.; enlisted May 26, 1777; discharged July 23, 1777. Service 1 month, 27 days; company raised between Mt. Desert and Machias for expedition to St. Johns, N. S.; also Daniel Tibbetts, Private, Capt. Samuel Libbey's co., in a detachment from Col. Roster's (Lincoln Co.) regt.; enlisted Sept. 16, 1777; discharged Oct. 6, 1777. Service 21 days at Machias when British ships lay in that harbor;

A Daniel Tibbetts removed in 1779 from Gouldsborough, Me., to Bangor, Me., in company with the family of William and Lurana (Young) Tibbetts. The Bangor Historical Magazine, Vol. 4, page 21, and Vol. 6, page 294, states that he was a son of William and Lurana (Young) Tibbetts. This is an error. He was either a brother or a nephew of William Tibbetts.

The Bangor Hist. Mag. further states that this Daniel Tibbetts married in Bangor, Maine, 13 August 1789, Mrs. Margaret Potter, widow, the marriage ceremony performed by the Rev. Seth Noble. (Bangor Hist. Magazine, vol. iv, page 21).

In the United States Census of 1790, Daniel Tibbetts of Condukeeg Plantation, Hancock County, Maine, appears as the head of a family of three males over 16 years of age, five males under 16, and three females. In this Census, the number of males over 16 years of age included the head of the family himself. It is therefore evident that Daniel Tibbetts had a family of seven sons and two daughters.

Emigrating with the Tibbetts families who removed from Bangor, Maine, and Corinth, Maine, to Manchester township, Dearborn County, Indiana, in the year 1816, was a cousin named John Tibbetts who lived for several years in Manchester township and removed to Aurora, Indiana, a town a few miles away. He was held in the highest esteem by his relatives and by the community in which he lived.

It is the opinion of the compiler that this John Tibbetts was a son of the above-named Daniel Tibbetts.

Family of James⁵ Tibbets of Lebanon, Maine, later of -----

66. James⁵ Tibbets (Capt. Benjamin⁴ (No. 28), Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born probably in Dover, New Hampshire and was baptized in the First Congregational Church in Rochester, New Hampshire, 29 Aug. 1742. He was the youngest son of Capt. Benjamin and Abigail Tibbets of Dover, N.H., later of Rochester, N.H., and still later of Lebanon, Maine.

Family of Major Ebenezer and Rebecca (Fisher) Tebbetts of Rochester, N.H. and Dover, N.H.

69. Major Ebenezer⁵ Tebbetts (Ens. Edward⁴ (No. 29), Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), born 24 Sept. 1747, in Rochester, N.H.; died in Dover, N.H., 19 March 1804, aged 56 years. He was the son of Ensign Edward Tebbetts and his second wife Mary.

He married at Needham, Mass., 27 Feb. 1777, Rebecca Fisher, daughter of Nathaniel and Mary (Janvrin) Fisher of Needham (New Eng. Hist. Gen. Register, vol. 56, p. 371). She died 31 Oct. 1810, aged 60 years (See Fisher Genealogy).

Maj. Ebenezer Tebbetts was a member of the New Hampshire Committee of Correspondence and Safety during the Revolution and his residence at that time was in Rochester, N.H.

"At a legal town meeting of the qualified voters of Rochester, 24 Jan. 1774, to consider on the alarming condition of the country, Ebenezer Tebbetts was appointed Clerk of the Committee. Their work was exceedingly important and involved heavy responsibilities. Two days after the battle of Bunker Hill this committee enlarged to thirteen members. They were a committee of Correspondence to correspond with their Brethren Committees in the neighboring towns" (McDuffee's Hist. Rochester, p.).

He served as 1st Lieut. in the company of Rochester men who marched to Portsmouth under command of Capt. David Place and served from four to six weeks on Seavey's Island, 1775 (State Papers of New Hampshire, vol. 14, p. 234; see also, McDuffee's Hist. Rochester, p.). He served as Lieut. in Col. Family of Nathaniel and Hannah (Corson) Tibbetts of Rochester, N.H., Boothbay, Maine and Bristol, Maine.

No. 70.

67. Nathaniel⁵ Tibbetts (Paul⁴ (No. 30), Henry³, Jaconish², Henry¹), of Rochester, N. H., Boothbay, Maine and Bristol, Maine was born about 1727, probably in Dover, New Hampshire. He was the son of Paul and Sarah Tibbetts (name also spelled Tebbets) who removed about 1731 from Dover, N. H. to Rochester, N. H.

He married Hannah Corson at Rochester, N. H., 12 December 1745; marriage record to be found in Vol. 4, page 145, New Hampshire Genealogical Record as follows: "1745 December 12 Married Nathaniel Tibbetts and Hannah Corson at Rochester, N. H."

Nathaniel and Hannah (Corson) Tibbetts had three children before they left Rochester, N. H., whose names were Sarah, Henry and Mary, and all three were baptized at Rochester, N. H., 17 Nov. 1754. About 1756 they removed with these three children to Georgetown, Maine and later removed to Boothbay, Maine and still later to Bristol, Maine

Nathaniel signs name as a witness to quitclaim deed 27 July 1751 from his brother Henry of Pleasant Cove Townsend (Boothbay), Maine to Joseph Carlisle of the County of York, and in his signature uses the old spelling of the name, viz., Tebbets.

The genealogical records of Charles Wesley Tibbetts, Esq., state: "I find Nathaniel and Hannah (Corson) Tibbetts living at Pleasant Cove on the Damariscotta River in Boothbay, Maine on May 31, 1764 (see deed below), and from that place they later removed to Bristol, Maine".

Children of Nathaniel and Hannah (Corson) Tibbetts born in Rochester, New Hampshire, as follows:

- i. Sarah; baptized at Rochester, N. H., Nov. 17, 1754;
129. ii. Henry; baptized at Rochester, N. H., Nov. 17, 1754;
- iii. Mary; baptized at Rochester, N. H., Nov. 17, 1754.

Query? Was this the Mary Tebbetts who died in Bristol, Maine, in 1816, unmarried, buried at Bristol?

Note.

They probably had other children whose names have not been recorded

Family of Henry and Anna (Berry) Tibbets of Rochester, N.H., Pleasant Cove, Boothbay, Maine, and Bristol, Maine.

No. 71.

70. Henry⁵ Tibbets (Paul⁴ (No. 30), Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born about 1729-30, probably in Dover, New Hampshire. He was the son of Paul and Sarah Tibbets of Dover, N.H., and Rochester, N.H. (their name in some old records spelled Tebbets).

He married Anna Berry at Rochester, N. H., 5 April 1752 (marriage record to be found in Vol. 4, page 146, New Hampshire Genealogical Record). They lived at Rochester, N.H. for a time and on 30 June 1754 had their twin children, Paul and Stephen, baptized at Rochester. They removed to Boothbay, Maine about 1756, and lived at Pleasant Cove, Boothbay, for at least a dozen years, as shown by the deeds given below. They later removed to Bristol, Maine.

Henry Tibbets signs his name as a witness to deed dated 31 May 1764, from his brother Nathaniel Tibbets of Pleasant Cove, on the Damariscotta River, Boothbay, Maine, to Ephraim McFarland of Pleasant Cove, and in his signature uses the old spelling of the name, viz., Tebbets.

We find this Henry and Anna Tibbets at Pleasant Cove, on the Damariscotta River, Townsend, now Boothbay, Maine, in 1756. In 1761 they were still residing at Pleasant Cove, and they were of that place in 1768, as shown by the deeds (given below).

We do not know what children they had after leaving New Hampshire. When the county records of York, Cumberland and Lincoln Counties are carefully examined, we will probably get their children's names.

Henry Tibbets served in the Revolution, enlisting from Bristol, Maine, 13 July 1775, in Capt. Caleb Turner's co. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War, vol. 15, pages 722-724).

In the United States Census of 1790, the citizens of Bristol, Maine, appear under the heading Waldoborough, which is a misprint, we are so informed from Augusta, Maine. The census enumerator in this district was, we read, a Frenchman, and some of his work is certainly unique. The name of the above Henry Tibbets appears as Henry Tabet, and he is listed as the head of a family of one free male over 16 years of age, 10 males under 16 years and 2 females.

Children of Henry and Anna (Berry) Tibbets, as follows:

1. Paul⁶ Tibbets (twin), baptized in Rochester, N.H., 30 June 1754.

120. ii. Stephen⁶ Tibbets, twin of preceding, baptized at Rochester, N. H., 30 June 1754.
He married Thankful Otis of Bristol, Maine.
He served in the Revolution from Bristol, Maine; enlisted 13 July 1775, in Capt. Caleb Turner's co., and served several enlistments in Maine militia under different commands throughout the war (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War, vol. 15, pages 722, 724, 725, 729).
He was a Revolutionary pensioner, as appears of record in Pension Office.

(cont.)

In the U. S. Census of 1790, under the heading Waldoborough, Maine (which is a misprint and should be Bristol, Maine), the name of Stephen Tibbets appears as Steven Tabet, and he is listed as the head of a family of one free white male over 16 years, 2 free white males under 16 years, and 3 females.

- iii. Henry⁶ Tibbets? born about 1756-7? in Boothbay, Maine ?
And probably other children.

Note. In the following quitclaim deed from Henry Tibbets, then resident of Townsend, now Boothbay, Maine, his wife Anna releases dower and the deed is witnessed by his brother Nathaniel Tebbets and Eleazer Witham.

Note. Charles Wesley Fibbets, Esq., calls attention to the fact that Henry Tibbets had owned the above land for five years -- that would make it about 1756 when he bought it -- and that is about the time he went to Boothbay. He undoubtedly went there from Rochester, New Hampshire.

Family of Lieut. Samuel and Margaret (Russell) Tibbets of Topsham, Me., Lisbon, Me., and Lindale, Ohio.

79. Lieut. Samuel⁵ Tibbets (Timothy⁵ (No. 36), Capt. John⁴, Capt. Thomas³, Jeromiah², Henry¹), was born 7 Nov. 1739, at New Meadows, Brunswick, Me. He died in Lindale, Ohio, 23 May 1824, aged 84 yrs., 6 mos. He was second son and second child of Timothy and Experience (Hinckley) Tibbets of Brunswick, Me., and Topsham, Me. He was a grandson of Capt. John and Mary Tibbets of Somersworth, New Hampshire (their name in some old records spelled Tebbets).

He married first, in Brunswick, Me., 20 Oct. 1761, Margaret Russell (marriage intention recorded in Brunswick, Me. (See Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 4, p. 95, giving "Intentions of marriage in Brunswick, Maine, 1740-1764"). She died 3 April 1787, in Lisbon, Me., after twenty-six years of married life. She was undoubtedly a descendant of the Russell families of Barnstable, Cape Cod, Mass., some of whom intermarried with the Hinckley families, and branches of both these families removed to Brunswick, Maine, early.

Lieut. Samuel Tibbets married secondly, in Bowdoin, Me. (The part now Lisbon), 22 Dec. 1788, Mrs. Abigail (Thompson) Coombs, born 22 Nov. 1750, in Georgetown, Me., died in Lindale, Ohio, 13 Aug. 1839, daughter of Benjamin and Abigail (Philbrook) Thompson, and widow of Ebenezer Coombs. They were married by Rev. Job Macomber.

This second marriage is referred to in "Our Thompson family in Maine, New Hampshire and the West," compiled by Rev. Charles N. Sinnott, published in Concord, N.H., in 1907, which has the following statement:

Page 153: "Abigail Thompson, born in Georgetown, Maine, 22 Nov. 1750, recorded by town clerk 1750, died in Lindale, Ohio, 13 Aug. 1839; married (first) by Rev. Francis Winter of Bath, Maine, 26 August 1775, Ebenezer Coombs, born in Newburyport, Mass., 31 Jan. 1747; he died 5 October 1783. She married (second), 22 December 1788, Samuel Tibbets Esq., of Lisbon, Maine, who died in Lindale, Ohio, 23 May 1824, aged 84 years, 6 months; justice of the peace in Lisbon, Maine, for many years; moved to Ohio in 1811."

Lieut. Samuel Tibbets may have lived in Brunswick, Me. for a time; removed to Topsham, Me., where we find marriage records of some of his children. He later removed to Lisbon, Me. He was justice of the peace at Lisbon for several years.

"In 1788 when the town of Bowdoin, Me., was incorporated he was chosen Moderator, and Chairman of the Board of Selectmen. Lisbon, Me., was set off from Bowdoin, Me., in 1802; and he was ever one of the prominent citizens. In 1811 he removed to Ohio, where he was an upright and leading citizen. When he left Lisbon, Me., the people gave him a beautifully engraved testimonial of how highly he was esteemed, and how nobly he had helped his fellow citizens. This testimonial is carefully preserved among the descendants." (See "Tebbetts Families in Maine," compiled by the late Rev. Charles N. Sinnott and filed in Maine State Library, Augusta, Me.).

He served in the Revolution, enlisting from Topsham, Maine. His service record as follows:

Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, vol. 15, page 724:

Items relating to the early settlers of North Boothbay, Maine.

Under date of 18 Jan. 1922, Fred V. Matthews, Esq., of 114 Longfellow Street, Portland, Maine, lawyer, contributes the following:

"It is now about twenty years since I was actively engaged in tracing the genealogy of my lines, and more particularly those of my wife who is descended from a passenger of the Mayflower, and it was in order to trace her lines that I first took an interest in the work. It is a limitless quest, and for a number of years now I have had little time to devote to it, fascinating as it was

I was born Sept. 2, 1865, at Boothbay, where I resided until I was eight only, but where I had and still have many relatives, and where I have visited often ever since. I lived at North Boothbay, at Back River, within a mile (in the country) of what was called the "Dover District" at Back Narrows, as are of the Sheepscott Bay making in to the Eastward between the North end of Boothbay and Yeggenomb. If you have Greene's history, you may see it making off from the North end of Barter's Island on the map in the back of the book.

This peninsular and Barter's Island were first settled by some 47 or 48 families, mostly young when they came from the region of Dover, New Hampshire. Hence the name - just as the people of Dover, N.H. brought the name from their old home in England when they came over along from 1622 to 1650. The Dover people went to Boothbay all along from 1740 to 1755, as shown by the Dover, N.H. families, and these recorded later in Boothbay records after the town was incorporated in 1764, when full fledged families are recorded the first two years, some of them with numerous children - grouped - showing that it was more like a census (and so more liable to error), than like the records of births and deaths made as they occur.

I have spent much time in years past on the Boothbay records, also those of Dover, N.H. I knew and corresponded much with Mr. Charles Wesley Tibbets about various Back River Boothbay families (for Dover, N.H. had also its "Back River"). I have a complete set of Mr. Tibbets' publication, the "New Hampshire Genealogical Record."

When Mr. Greene wrote his history of Boothbay, I worked with him on the North Boothbay part, for the love of it and my childhood home and friends. (See his preface)

My mother, Lovesta (Hodgdon) Matthews, wife of Elbridge Matthews, was born in Boothbay, Nov. 19, 1839, the eighth of the nine (of the thirteen) children who lived to marry. Her mother was Frances Tibbets, wife of Timothy Hodgdon. They lived all their married life on Sawyer's Island, Boothbay. She, Frances Tibbets, was born Dec. 2, 1801, the sixth of the twelve children of James Tibbets and his wife Abigail Lewis. This James, born Dec. 9, 1768, was the ninth of the eleven children of Nathaniel who was first of the name at Boothbay. James' brothers, Ichabod, born Dec. 17, 1749, and Nathaniel, born April 9, 1752, were considerably older, James being about twenty years younger than his oldest brother, Ichabod.

The marriage of cousins was the common thing. It was as far removed by blood as the young people could go in the circumstances. When I undertook to reveal out the marvelous network of intermarriages between these circumscribed families of relatives and friends

In a circumscribed area, for three or four generations, the repetitions of the family first names, and the great difference in the ages of brothers and sisters owing to the numerous families, were the sources of greatest difficulties.

When I say that all eight of my great grandparents and all eight of my great great grandfathers lived within three miles of a given point, - that is, where I lived as a child, - you can see what I mean, for it was a region of small farms, with no compact center of even five or six homes, and so it remains today - in sorry neglect."

Family of Abner Tibbetts of Bangor, Maine, Corinth, Maine, and Exeter, Maine.

III. Abner⁶ Tibbetts (William⁵ (No. 62), Capt. Benjamin⁴, Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), farmer, soldier in the Revolution, resident of Bangor, Maine; 1779, one of the founders of Corinth, Maine, 1792-3, later of Exeter, Maine, 1829, was born 1 March 1759 at Lebanon, York County, Maine (what is now South Lebanon); died at his home near Exeter, Maine, 8 April 1843, aged 84 years, 1 month, 7 days; buried in the old "Tibbetts Cemetery" three miles southeast of the village of Exeter and was the first person to be buried in this cemetery. His grave is marked by a Revolutionary soldier's marker placed there some years ago by the societies of S.A.R. and D.A.R. of Bangor, Maine.

He was the eldest son and second child of William and Marana (Young) Tibbetts, early settlers of Bangor, Maine. He removed with his parents from Lebanon, Maine to Gouldsborough, Maine in 1769, and after ^{his settlement in} the Revolution removed with them to Bangor, Maine in 1779.

He married first, in Bangor, Maine, 6 November 1785, Sarah Davis of Exeter, Maine (See Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. iv, page 21). She was born 10 Oct. 1765. She died 14 Aug. 1810 at their home in Corinth, Maine, a woman of great nobility of character, the mother of sixteen children, among whom were two pairs of twins.

He married secondly, in Bangor, Maine, 12 March 1811, Mary (Fisher) Crane, widow, of Eddington Plantation (See marriage record in Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. , page). She was daughter of Ezekiel⁶ Fisher and widow of Elijah Crane. She was born 8 May 1772 in Canton, Mass.; died 12 Sept. 1849, aged 77 years, 4 months, 4 days, at the Abner Tibbetts' home near Exeter, Maine; buried beside husband in the old "Tibbetts Cemetery".

She was married first, 6 Dec. 1787, to Elijah Crane, by whom she had seven children. As above stated, she married secondly, as his second wife, Abner Tibbetts, by whom she had four children, only one of whom lived to have descendants. Two of her daughters by her first marriage, namely, Sarah and Mary Crane, married respectively Joseph and Henry Tibbetts, the twin sons of Abner Tibbetts by his first wife. Among other children by her first marriage, was a son, Fisher Crane, whose grandson, Fred Crane now resides in Exeter, Maine.

The genealogical line of Mrs. Mary (Fisher) (Crane) Tibbetts is as follows: She was daughter of Ezekiel⁶ Fisher, born 5 Aug. 1748, on the Mayo Place in what is now Canton, Mass., and his wife Sarah May; granddaughter of Ezekiel⁵ Fisher, born 12 Oct. 1712, at Dedham, Mass., died 12 July 1793, at Stoughton, Mass., now called Canton, Mass., and his wife Susanna Wadsworth; great-granddaughter of Eleazer⁴ Fisher and his wife Mary Avery (See Fisher Genealogy, which dates back to Anthony Fisher who lived in the latter part of Queen Elizabeth's reign, in the Parish of Syleham, co. Suffolk, England).

Abner Tibbetts was a Revolutionary soldier and pensioner. He enlisted from Gouldsborough, Maine, at the age of seventeen, his service record as follows:

"Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War", vol. 15, page 724:

"Abner Tibbetts, Gouldsborough, Maine, Private, Capt. Reuben Dyer's company; enlisted May 26, 1777; discharged July 23, 1777; service 1 mo., 27 days; company raised between Mt. Desert and Machias for expedition to St. John, N.S.; again in Capt. Libbey's company, Col. Foster's regt. from Sept. 2, to Oct. 6, 1777; and again in Capt. Dyer's company from Oct. 9, to Dec. 6, 1777".

(Note: His service record appears three times in the above-named volume, under three different spellings of the surname).

Pension record: See Vol. 46, #10590, D.A.R. Library, Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D.C. Abner Tibbetts' residence at date of enlistment was Gouldsborough, Maine, and his residence at date of application for pension was Exeter, Maine.

He had lot as an early settler of Bangor, Maine (See Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 1, page 62). He was one of the voters and tax-payers of Bangor at the time it was incorporated, 25 Feb. 1791.

The Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 1, page 4, states that in the first volume of Bangor Town Records is pasted some old records of plantation meetings among which is to be found the following entry: "27 March 1787 Officers chosen for the town; Daniel Campbell and Abner Tibbetts committee on roads to Crosby Meadow Brook".

In 1787 he was one of the signers of a petition sent to the General Court to incorporate the town of Sunbury on a tract of land in the county of Lincoln on the western side of Penobscot river. The petition was without results so far as appears (Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 1, page 5).

In the United States Census of 1790, Abner Tibbetts appears as the head of a family comprising one male over sixteen years (himself) four males under sixteen years and two females, and his residence is given as Conduskeag Plantation, Hancock County (now Penobscot County), Maine.

He was one of the founders of Corinth, Maine, 1792-3 (History of Penobscot County, page).

Under date of 26 April 1927, his grandson, Melvan Tibbetts, Esq., of 154 Court Street, Bangor, Maine, writes as follows:

"In 1792, before anything was known of the country west of Bangor, Abner Tibbetts, my grandfather, went probably on a hunting trip (accompanied by Mr. Daniel Budge), and history states that when they had gone up about twenty miles Abner found and chose the excellent site that became his farm and made a cutting of several acres. The next year, 1793, he returned to this location with Mr.

Daniel Budge, and the two men burned over the cutting which Abner had made the previous year and started a farm. They had decided to go to Ohio previous to finding this land. The location of this land, as given in the county history is "Lot #10, First Range, in Corinth". The present owners of this land (now, 1927) are the heirs of Frank White (who bought it years ago from the Lucas family to whom Abner sold) and a Mr. A. F. Brann. A road from Kenduskeag to Exeter divides the old farm. The White heirs own the north side of the road on which is the site of Abner's old dwelling house (only the cellar of which remains), the well, orchard, etc., and on which side is the White home (where a son of Frank is now living). Mr. A. F. Brann owns the south side of the road where Abner's barn stood. His old building site and the cellar and the well, as he built them with his own hands, are still in perfect shape".

It is stated that he made the wood-work and Mr. John Goodhue the iron-work of the pioneer plow of Corinth.

Corinth is seventeen miles west of Bangor and was incorporated as a town 21 June 1812, and prior to that time it was known as #2, Range #1 North of the Waldo Patent.

The following is copied from "Early Gleanings and Random Recollections of the town of Corinth, Maine, from 1792 to 1863", by Mason S. Palmer:

"The town of Corinth is six miles square, bounded on the north by Charleston, east by Hudson, west by Exeter, south by Levent. The solemn grandeur of the township's native growth of hardy trees, tall and thickly planted, demanded the admiration of the explorer, as he traversed ground free from fallen trees, - ground which the foot of civilized man had never trod, where no effort at improvement had marred the forest's primeval beauty.

Such was Corinth in 1792, when Mr. Abner Tibbetts and Mr. Daniel Budge while on an exploring excursion, were so well pleased with it that they decided at once to abandon the idea of moving to the state of Ohio, and immediately made arrangements for settling upon lands by them recently discovered, naming them "New Ohio".

Mr. Abner Tibbetts and Mr. Budge were men of large capacities and indomitable will and were striving to find the gateway of opportunity for greatness and usefulness; and that such were many of their associates, their works prove them. The forests of Maine were being explored, and several townships near the waters of Penobscot were already surveyed. Provisioned for a week's cruise, they followed the spotted lines of the surveyor as far as his lines extended, and finding themselves in a woodland heretofore unseen by the eye of civilized man, here they pitched their tent upon ground they determined should be their future home; here they dedicated the forest; here offered oblations and sang "New Ohio".

"When Messrs. Tibbetts and Budge returned to clear the ground where lay the trees of their felling, others came with them, and finding true all they had heard of the promised land, entered quickly into the work of cultivating these lands and making homes in their peaceful solitude. Among the new-comers were William Tibbetts and others. At the first town meeting held 17 March 1812, Abner Tibbetts is mentioned as Fence Viewer, Jonathan Snow as Tythingman."

It should be borne in mind that Maine was a district of Massachusetts until the year 1820.

Abner Tibbetts signed his name as a witness to deed dated 15 August 1800, from William Tibbetts and Benjamin Tibbetts "of Condiskeag Plantation without the bounds of any town in the County of Hancock & Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Yeoman, in consideration of one hundred & fifty dollars to us paid by John Thom of Banger in the County and Commonwealth aforesaid, Cordwainer", conveying one hundred acres of land "situate and lying on s^d Condeskeag Plantation lying on Condukeag stream being lot number two as laid out & surveyed by Elihu Warner" (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, vol. 7, page 480).

The town of Banger granted to William Tibbetts Sr., the father of Abner Tibbetts, as a first settler, two lots, of one hundred acres each, numbered #17 and #87. Lot No. 17 appears to have been the more valuable lot. It adjoined the Penobscot river, having a frontage of fifty rods along the river, "thereby north extending one mile, including the whole width, to contain one hundred acres".

In deed dated 16 March 1807, William Tibbetts, of a place called Ohio, in the County of Hancock & Commonwealth of Massachusetts, conveyed this lot No. 17 to his sons Abner Tibbetts, William Tibbetts Jr. and Benjamin Tibbetts, as shown by the following abstract:

(Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds,

Vol. 22, page 155 (on file at Ellsworth, Maine).

The deed was witnessed by Moses Hodsdon and Benja. Conner.

Under date of 16 May 1807 the above hundred-acre tract, designated as lot No. 17, was sold by William Tibbetts Jr., and his brother Benjamin Tibbetts, both of Ohio (so called), in the County of Hancock and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Yeomen, which hundred-acre tract they held as tenants in common with their brother Abner Tibbetts of said "Ohio", as shown by the following deed:

THENCE North one mile containing the width of fifty rods, thence West fifty rods, thence South one mile to the said River to the bound first mentioned, containing one hundred acres, be the same more or less. said lot is the same which is numbered seventeen on the plan and survey of the said town of Bangor made by Park Holland Esq. & adjoins Southerly land of Thomas Howard, and Northerly land of Robert Hichborn formerly owned by Nathaniel Mayhew, and which said lot we the said William Tibbetts Jr. & Benjamin Tibbetts now hold until the enclosing hereof as tenants in common with Abner Tibbetts of said Ohio. (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, vol. 21, page 388) (on file at Ellsworth, Me.)

After thirty-seven years' residence in Corinth, Maine, Abner Tibbetts removed from there in 1829, with his second wife and children, to Exeter, Maine, where he cleared land for his homestead farm, about three miles southeast of the village of Exeter, and here he spent the remainder of his life. The homestead is composed of parts of Lots No. 2 and No. 3 in the Fourth Range of lots in the town of Exeter. It is passed by what was originally one of the county roads, the one that leads from Kenduskeag to Corinna. This farm was inherited by his son Elisha Crane Tibbetts, whose son Clarence Eldon Tibbetts now, 1927, resides on the same homestead.

The land that forms the "Tibbetts Cemetery" is a little way up the hill and across the road from Abner's old homestead, and he was the first to be buried here. The land was originally part of the farm of his son Joseph Tibbetts. It has since been made an Exeter township cemetery, and although many Tibbetts's are buried there, many more of other names and families lie there also. It is owned and cared for by the town of Exeter and in town reports it has always been referred to as the "Tibbetts Cemetery". Abner's son, Elisha Crane Tibbetts was for many years sexton and now Clarence Eldon Tibbetts, Esq., the son of Elisha Crane Tibbetts, looks after the yard for the town, in addition to his varied duties as farmer and fruit-grower.

Abner Tibbetts' descendants are scattered through New England, the middle west and western states. In 1866 his descendants were found in Dubuque, Keokuk, Oscalcoosa and Council Bluffs, Iowa and in Jones County, Iowa and in Omaha and Lincoln, Nebraska.

Of his sixteen children by his first wife, all but two grew to manhood and womanhood and were characterized by remarkable longevity and by exemplary traits, and worked out honorable careers. Of his nine sons by his first wife, one died young, three, namely, Joseph and Henry (twins) and Samuel, remained in Exeter, Penobscot County, Maine, and five went west at an early day, three of whom, namely, William, Abner Jr., and David, settled in Manchester township, Dearborn County, Indiana, all of whom after thirty years' residence there, removed with their families to Iowa.

The two remaining sons who went west at an early day, as single young men were Stephen and Theodore, who settled in Pennsylvania, Theodore dying in Warsaw, Jefferson Co., Pa., childless, and Stephen removing from Potter Co., Pa., about 1855-6 to a farm near Downsville, Wis., where his descendants still reside.

- A large old-fashioned "Family Record", framed, of by inches, originally owned by Abner Tibbetts, is now, 1927, in possession of his grandson, Clarence Eldon Tibbetts, Esq., of Exeter, Maine. This record contains dates of Abner Tibbetts' birth and death, the dates of his two marriages, dates of birth and death of both his wives, and dates of birth of all his children.

Comprised within the present article are all of the dates contained in the "Family Record" above-described. They have been contributed by Mrs. Clarence Eldon Tibbetts who has carefully verified the same.

George Tibbetts was a farmer and is mentioned in the Bangor Historical Magazine as "of Penobscot River". His name appears in the Census of 1790 and his residence as Condukeeg Plantation, Hancock Co. (now Penobscot Co.), Maine. He is listed as the head of a family of one male over 16 years and four females, which list included his wife and two oldest daughters, and probably a maid servant or other female residing in his family at that time.

In 1816 George and Lucretia (Doe) Tibbetts removed west with their family, from Charleston, Penobscot Co., Maine, and after living for a few years on what was known as Licking River, near Covington, Ky., just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati, they removed to Union township, Rush Co., Indiana, where they spent the remainder of their lives. (See histories of Rush and Fayette counties). John Clifford was of New England ancestry, a man much esteemed. He owned real estate in Cincinnati, Ohio, and prior to 1870 owned the present site of the Union Ry. Station in Cincinnati, and other property. In middle life he removed to Indianapolis, Ind., died there, and is buried in Stringtown Cemetery, Rush County, where his first wife, Lucretia, is also buried. 113. Sarah⁶ Tibbetts (William⁵ (No. 62), Capt. Benjamin⁴, Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), was born in 1764 in Lebanon, Maine. She was the eldest daughter of William and Lurana (Young) Tibbetts, early settlers of Bangor, Maine, formerly of Gouldsborough, Maine and Lebanon, Maine.

She married first, in Bangor, Maine, Joseph⁵ Osgood of Orono, Maine, who was born in Tewksbury, Mass., 18 Oct. 1782 (See Osgood Genealogy). He was drowned in Penobscot River in the spring of 1786, about a year and a half after their marriage. They had only one child, as follows:

16. 1841. Stephen Osgood, born 30 March 1786, in Orono, Maine; died in Maine, 12 Feb. 1834 aged 48 years. He married 18 May 1817 in Maine, Lovicey Leighton. Records of their family appear under heading "The Osgood Family".

Two years after Joseph Osgood was drowned, his widow Sarah (Tibbetts) Osgood married secondly in Bangor, Maine, 25 Nov. 1788, David Mann of Orrington (Brewer), the part which is now Holden, Maine, the Rev. Seth Noble who was the first settled minister of Bangor, officiating. She had eight children by her second husband David Mann. She died in Holden, Maine, 19 Aug. 1854 aged 90 years, 5 months, having survived her husband twenty years. She resided until the end of her life in the homestead "Mann's Hill", Holden, Maine, and her son Jacob and his family lived with her. She was a woman of ability and force of character. To her we are indebted for the "Old Tibbetts Record", (a photostat copy of which is given herewith), which she sent to her sister Abigail (Mrs. Elisha Taylor), of Shelbyville, Indiana about the year 1840, which record has made it possible to connect our Tibbetts lines with the older generations of the Tibbetts family in Dover, New Hampshire.

David Mann was born 6 Feb. 1756, in Wrentham, Mass.; died in Holden, Maine, 26 Dec. 1834 aged 78 years. He was a Revolutionary soldier and pensioner. After the Revolution he went to Bangor, Maine, and settled in Orrington. He was one of the original grantees of the town of Orrington and the only one who settled within its limits (the town lines were changed later). His homestead, which was called "Mann's Hill", was in the easterly part of what is now Holden, about seven miles from Bangor.

In his will he named wife Sarah, son-in-law Samuel Silsby, whose wife had died, and giving her children $100, Polly Silsby, Abigail Blake, Eunice Silsby, Joseph and Jacob Mann. (See Bangor Historical Magazine, Vol. VI, pp. 88-89).

The homestead at "Mann's Hill", Holden, Maine, descended to his son Jacob, then to Jacob's son Elbridge, and then to the latter's son, George Mann, who resides there now (1935).

The genealogical line of David Mann is as follows: He was son of Deacon Thomas³ and Mary (Blake) Mann of Wrentham, Mass. (This name is English and was originally spelled Mann); he was grandson of Theodore² and Abigail (Bates) Mann, who were married in 1702 or 1703; great-grandson of Rev. Samuel¹ and Esther (Ware) Mann who were married in 1675. The above named Rev. Samuel¹ Mann was born in 1647 and was the only child of William¹ Mann, the immigrant, and Mary Barnes his wife, of Cambridge, Mass.

William Mann, the immigrant, was the youngest child of a family of eleven children and was born in the County of Kent, England in the year 1607. In his early manhood he came to America and settled in Cambridge, Mass. When about thirty years of age he was married to Mary Jarred who also came from England. Their only child, Rev. Samuel Mann, born 1647, at an early age prepared himself for the ministry in which profession he became distinguished. He was the first settled minister at Wrentham, Mass. (See Mann Genealogy)

The Revolutionary service record of David Mann is to be found in "Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War", Vol. 10, page 165, his name spelled Man; also listed as David Man, Jr. (the Jr. being an error). His service was as follows: his age sixteen years: "David Man, Wrentham. Private Capt. Benj. Haws's co., Col. John Smith's regt. which marched on the alarm of April 19, 1775; service 11 days.

David Man Jr., Wrentham. Copy of an enlistment agreement dated July 2, 1776 signed by said Man and others engaging themselves to serve until Dec. 1, 1776, unless sooner discharged to furnish themselves with blankets, firearms, etc. and to march with dispatch to join the Northern Army.

Enlisted July 6, 1776, also private Capt. Lewis Whitins's co., Col. Peacock's regt., copy of a company return dated Camp at Ticonderoga Aug. 27, 1776, age 19 years."

Family of William Jr. and Sarah (Thom) Tibbetts of Kenduskeag, Maine.

114. William⁶ Tibbetts (William⁵ (No. 62), Revolutionary soldier, Capt. Benjamin⁴, Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), farmer, of Kenduskeag, Penobscot County, Maine, was born 3 April 1755, in Lebanon, York County, Maine (what is now South Lebanon). He was called William Jr. He died in Kenduskeag, Maine, in 1837, aged 72 years. He was third son and fifth child of William and Lurana (Young) Tibbetts, early settlers of Bangor, Maine, formerly of Gouldsborough, Maine, and Lebanon, Maine (what is now South Lebanon).

He was married by Col. Jona. Eddy, in Bangor, Maine, 25 Dec. 1792, to Sarah (Sally) Thom of Orrington (now Brewer), Maine, a suburb of Bangor. (Marriage record to be found in Bangor Historical Magazine, Vol.1, page 41. See also Bangor Historical Magazine, Vol.6, page 91, under records of John Thom's family). She was born 17 Jan. 1772. She survived her husband twenty-eight years. She died in 1865 aged ninety-three years, at the home of her son George in Corinth, Maine. During the last twenty-eight years of her life she lived with her children, Hiram and George Tibbetts and Mrs. Jane Worster. She is buried beside her husband in Kenduskeag cemetery, but their graves are not marked.

She was the daughter of John and Mary Thom of Orrington and Bangor, Maine. (This name was originally spelled Thom, and John Thom's name is to be found in Bangor records under both spellings. The modern spelling used by some branches now residing in Bangor is Thombs. Tradition says that John Thom served in the Revolution and was stationed at St. Edward and St. Henry. On 15 Aug. 1800, John Thom of Bangor (mentioned as "cordwainer", purchased from William Tibbetts Sr. and Benjamin Tibbetts, for the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars, one hundred acres of land lying "on the westerly side of Kenduskeag stream, thence running west to the Town line 156 rods, thence North 100 rods to a cedar tree marked, thence East 175 rods to a stake marked at Kenduskeag stream, thence southerly by said stream about one hundred rods to the first mentioned bounds, be the same otherwise bounded more or less & being lot number two as laid out and surveyed by Elihu Warner". (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, Vol.7, page 480, on file at Ellsworth, Maine). This one-hundred acre farm, lying on the westerly side of Kenduskeag stream, mentioned in the above abstract as being purchased by John Thom 15 Aug. 1800, was probably where he lived to the end of his life. Mrs. Martha Belle (Hill) North, widow of George North of Kenduskeag, Maine, who died in Kenduskeag, 26 Aug. 1921, at the age of ninety-one years, stated that after her marriage to Mr. North, they bought a farm of two hundred acres near the village of Kenduskeag, and that one section of their farm was always called the "Thom's lot").

William Tibbetts Jr., his three brothers and their father were all voters and tax-payers in Bangor at the time it was incorporated, 25 Feb. 1791. He and his wife Sarah (Thom) settled on a farm near Kenduskeag, Maine in 1793. They lived in a "story-and-a-half" house, about a mile south of the village of Kenduskeag, on the west shore of the Kenduskeag stream, and about a mile from the mill,

The History of Penobscot County, Maine, published in 1882, has an article under the heading: "Charleston, Maine, notes of settlement; This article gives a short account of his father's family, and makes the following statements in regard to William Tibbetts Jr.: "William Jr., the third son, was born about the year 1765. He settled in Bangor, where he remained until he became of age, then removed to Kenduskeag where he took up a farm in the wilderness. There was not a white man north of him to the Canada line. He cleared up a farm on which he remained all his life. He married Sarah Thoms of Bangor and was the father of eleven children, five boys and six girls, viz., Elisha, Thomas, Hiram, William, George, Priscilla, Nancy, Jane, Mary, Betsy, Susan".

Four years before the death of William Tibbetts Jr., a letter written by his nephew, Jacob Mann of Brewer (now Holden), Maine, addressed to Elbridge Gary Mayhew of Shelbyville, Indiana (Jacob's first cousin), dated Brewer, Maine, 8 December 1833, refers to a visit that he (Jacob) had made to Kenduskeag, and states: "Uncle William and Aunt Sally look very old. They have moved about a mile from the Mill. They live in a story and a half house. They seem to live very well. Uncle William was quite unwell when I saw him. Elisha Tibbetts lives with his father. He has a very nice wife. The girls are all married but Susan. Aunt Sally wants you to write to them and write all you know about Esq. Cambell, and where they may direct their letters. They had rather you would write to them than Moses. I did not go to Corinth. We heard they were all well"

In deed dated 16 June 1804, which is on file at Ellsworth, Me. (full text of which is given below), William Tibbetts Jr. of Kenduskeag Plantation in the County of Hancock, Yeoman, "in consideration of forty dollars to me paid", conveyed to "Robert Tappish of Bangor, in the County aforesaid, Merchant, "a lot of land lying and being in said Bangor, containing one hundred acres and being numbered eighty seven (#87) as "was surveyed &c. In WITNESS WHEREOF I the said William Tibbetts (Jr.) & Sally Tibbetts in relinquishment of her right of dower have hereunto set our hands and seals this sixteenth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and four" (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, Vol. 15, page 180).

This lot #87 had been granted to his father, William Tibbetts senior, by the town of Bangor, as a first settler. The town of Bangor granted to William Tibbetts Sr., as a first settler, two lots, of one hundred acres each, numbered #17 and #87.

Lot No. 17, appears to have been a more valuable lot. It adjoined the Penobscot river, having a frontage of fifty rods along the river, "thence north extending one mile, including the whole width, to contain one hundred acres".

In deed dated 13 March 1807, William Tibbetts of a place called Ohio, in the County of Hancock & Commonwealth of Massachusetts, conveyed this lot No. 17 to his sons, Abner Tibbetts, William Tibbetts Jr., and Benjamin Tibbetts, "in consideration of ten dollars to me paid, and more especially for my maintenance together the maintenance of my wife for ten years last past" (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, Vol. 22, page 15b, on file at Ellsworth, Maine).

In deed dated 16 May 1807, the above hundred acre tract, designated as lot No. 17, was sold by William Tibbetts Jr. and Benjamin Tibbetts, both of Ohio (so called) in the County of Hancock Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Yeomen, "in consideration of six hundred & sixty dollars paid us by Moses Patten and Amos Patten of Bangor in the County & Commonwealth aforesaid, Merchants, the receipt whereof we do hereby acknowledge . . . and which said lot we the said William Tibbetts Jr. & Benjamin Tibbetts now hold until the ensealing hereof as tenants in common with Abner Tibbetts of said Ohio". (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, Vol. 21, page 388, on file at Ellsworth, Maine).

William Tibbetts Jr. and Sarah (Thom) his wife had eleven children, all born in Kenduskeag, Maine, as follows:

- i. Priscilla⁷ Tibbetts, born 29 Sept 1794; died in 1830.
- ii. He married Mary Jane Hanson, daughter of Daniel Hanson. Four children, as follows:
 - 1. Susan Jane⁸; married Oliver Lunt, a dancing master, and they went to San Francisco, Calif., in 1864, where, for many years they conducted a dancing school, which was patronized by many of the best citizens of the city, whose children were sent there to learn dancing. John⁵, Deacon Isaac⁴, John³, John², Nicholas¹), born 22 Jan. 1772 in Harpswell, Me., died about 1844 in Manchester township, Dearborn Co., Indiana, daughter of Capt. John and Hannah (Larrabee) Snow of Harpswell, Me. Her Snow line is as follows: Nicholas¹ and Constance (Hopkins) Snow: (Nicholas¹ Snow came from England in the "Ann", 1623, was one of the founders of Eastham, Cape Cod, and married Constance Hopkins who came with her father, Stephen Hopkins, on the Mayflower): John² and Mary (Smalley) Snow: John³ and Elizabeth (Ridley) Snow: Deacon Isaac⁴ and Apphia (Atwood) Snow: and Capt. John⁵ and Hannah (Larrabee) Snow. (See Snow Genealogy, compiled by William B. Snow of Malden, Mass. See also article on Snow genealogy in this book.)

Benjamin⁶ Tibbetts, his three brothers and their father, were all veterans and tax-payers of Bangor at the time it was incorporated, 25 February 1791. Some time after his marriage he settled on a farm near Corinth, Maine (Penobscot County), where he lived for a number of years. It is not known how long he resided in Corinth before removing to Indiana, but deed given below shows that in 1807 he was residing at "a place called Ohio", which was in Corinth. Descendants of Benjamin and Hannah (Snow) Tibbetts always referred to them as removing directly from Bangor, Maine to Indiana. Search was made for later deeds showing to whom they sold their home farm near Corinth, Maine, at the time they removed to Indiana in 1816, but none were found. Further search might bring these deeds to light. It is quite possible, however, that the $200. worth of land sold to Isabel Skinner in 1812 (mentioned below), comprised their home farm, and that they moved with their family to Bangor and resided there for the next four years.

The village or town of Corinth is seventeen miles west of Bangor. History states that the town of Corinth is six miles square, bounded on the north by Charleston, east by Hudson, west by Exeter, south by Levant. In the middle west this would be termed the township of Corinth.

All the territory which is now the City of Bangor and vicinity, was originally called Condeeskeag Plantation or Kenduskeag Plantation, and the name was also sometimes spelled Condiskeag Plantation. See article "Relating to Bangor". The town clerks of Bangor for several years after its incorporation persisted in calling it Condeeskeag Plantation or Kenduskeag Plantation.

The four Hancock County, Maine deeds which follow are on file at Ellsworth, Maine, in the office of Registrar of Deeds.

Deed No. 1, dated 15th August 1800, is from William Tibbetts and his son Benjamin Tibbetts (above-named), "of Condiskeeg Plantation without the bounds of any town in the County of Hancock & Commonwealth of Massachusetts" (which is now Penobscot County, Maine, for Penobscot County was once a part of Hancock County, and Maine was a "District of Massachusetts" until the year 1820, when it was admitted as a state into the Union).

In said deed William Tibbetts and his son Benjamin Tibbetts convey to John Thom of Bangor, one hundred acres of land "lying on Condiskeeg stream, bounded as follows" &c. &c., being lot No. 2 as laid out & surveyed by Elihu Warner. (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, vol. 7, page 480).

Deed No. 2, dated March 14th, 1807, from William Tibbetts Sr., "of a place called Ohio in the County of Hancock, & Commonwealth of Massachusetts Yeoman, in consideration of ten dollars to me paid, and more especially for my maintenance together the maintenance of my wife for ten years last past paid by my sons Abner Tibbetts, William Tibbetts Jr., and Benjamin Tibbetts of the Same Ohio and County & Commonwealth, the receipt whereof I do hereby acknowledge, do hereby give, grant, sell, and convey unto the said Abner Tibbetts, William Tibbetts Jr., & Benjamin Tibbetts, them their heirs and assigns all my right, title claim and demand in and unto that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the town of Bangor in said County of Hancock" &c. &c., "to contain one hundred acres, which lot is more particularly known by the name of lot number seventeen in Park Holland Esq^r Survey of Bangor" &c. (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, vol. 22, page 155).

In Deed No. 3, dated Condiskeeg May 16th, 1807, William Tibbetts Junior and his brother Benjamin Tibbetts, "both of Ohio (so call^d) in the County of Hancock, Commonwealth of Massachusetts", convey to Moses Patten and Amos Patten of Bangor, "all our right, title, claim and demand, in and unto a certain tract or parcel of land situated in Bangor aforesaid and adjoining Penobscot River, bounded as follows" 'c., &c., "containing one hundred acres, be the same more or less, said lot is the same which is numbered seventeen on the plan & survey of the said Town of Bangor made by Park Holland Esq^r &c., &c. (Hancock County, Maine Registry of Deeds, vol. 22, p. 155). The above lot No. 17 had been granted to their father, William Tibbetts Sr., by the town of Bangor, as an old Settler.

The town of Bangor granted to William Tibbetts Sr., as a first settler, two lots of one hundred acres each, numbered #17 and #87. Lot No. 17 appears to have been the more valuable lot of the two. It adjoined the Penobscot River, having a frontage of fifty rods along the river, "thence north extending one mile, including the whole width, to contain one hundred acres". (See Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. VI, page 294.)

In Deed No. 4, Benjamin Tibbetts conveys deed to Isabel Skinner for $200. worth of land in Corinth, Maine, dated Nov. 7, 1812. Recorded Dec. 3, 1812, in Book 32, page 449, Penobscot County Deeds on file at Ellsworth, Maine.

In 1816 Benjamin and Hannah (Snow) Tibbetts with their family of ten children, and Benjamin's mother, Lurana, widow of William⁵ Tibbetts, together with quite a colony of relatives and friends from Bangor and vicinity, emigrated to Indiana and settled in Manchester township, Dearborn County, eleven miles northwest of Lawrenceburg which is on the Ohio River about twenty miles from Cincinnati.

This was the year in which Indiana was admitted as a state into the Union. They bought land from the Government and made a home on the forest where they cleared the land, and spent the rest of their lives among neighbors, the most of whom, like themselves, were New Englanders. Their homestead was on Hogan Creek, Sec. 3, near Upper Manchester. From their home could be seen the old County Poor Farm on Sec. 10, a tract of about fifty acres which was sold in 1885 and a new Poor Farm purchased.

They were already located when the "Yankee colony", led by Rev. Daniel Plummer, arrived in 1817. The History of Dearborn County, p. 541, states: "At that time throughout the eastern states, especially in Maine, the people had what was termed the "Ohio fever", and there was a great tide of immigration to that state. In the fall of 1817, fifteen families from about one neighborhood in Maine, and eleven of them, with ten wagons and 24 horses, and 78 souls, started off together from Cumberland County, in one day. It was a great move, and excited the curiosity of the country through which they passed; they were spoken of as the great "land fleet". Their route was through the beautiful cities of Portland, Haverhill, to Albany; thence up the fertile valley of the Mohawk; thence across to Olean Point, on the head waters of the Allegheny; thence down the river, in boats and on rafts to Pittsburg; thence down the beautiful Ohio river to Lawrenceburg in Indiana, where they cast anchor, cabled up and sought each a resting place and a home, in the then wilds of the West, among whom was the Rev. Daniel Plummer and others, and most of them located on what was then called Green Briar Ridge, now known as the pleasant village of Manchester."

"The settlement in Manchester township was one of the most important for number and character. They suffered many hardships and indeed many privations, but they stood their ground like Christian martyrs, and many lived to see tall oaks utilized for other purposes and removed to make room for houses, barns and meadows, and in less than a decade, the Ridge for miles was under a high state of cultivation, and in the Fall rows of teams would be seen on the road hauling off the surplus of their farms and cooper shops. The coopering business was carried on for a number of years, as Manchester was studded over with heavy timber, the tallest and largest trees this side of California."

In the early history of the state, Dearborn was one of the most important counties, having a large flat-boat trade with New Orleans and the lower Mississippi states. It was said that for many years the hay market of New Orleans was governed by the hay crop of Dearborn County, Indiana.

In the History of Dearborn County, Indiana, p. 545 (pub. in 1885), George W. Lane in his sketch of Manchester township, pays the following tribute to Benjamin Tibbetts: "The history of the township would be imperfect without a reference to Ben Tibbetts who, when the writer first knew him, was one of the most active, thorough-going, dashing business men in the county. He could haul more hay and load a boat quicker, go to New Orleans and back again sooner than anyone else. His very presence, with his usual fire and life, like a galvanic battery that emits electricity at the slightest touch, gave activity and new life to all around him. At heart Ben Tibbetts was an honest man, of generous impulses, and never intentionally wronged a neighbor."

He died in Manchester township at the home of his son Benjamin Jr. and is buried in the old burial ground on the farm of his nephew William Tibbetts, Sec. 28. The text at his funeral service was: "If a man died, shall he live again?" It is not possible to locate his grave nor his wife's grave. No gravestones are to be found. As described by one of his granddaughters, Mrs. Serelda Tibbetts Fielding, he was in personal appearance of medium height, had blue eyes, dark brown hair, fine features and was always smooth shaven. His sons Benjamin Jr., and Rev. Jonathan Snow Tibbetts greatly resembled him. He was very religious; had a keen sense of humor; enjoyed all outdoor life, especially hunting in winter. He was a Free Mason in Dearborn County.

His wife Hannah is buried in Elk Fork graveyard, Pleasant View Ridge, near Dillsborough, Manchester township, Dearborn Co., Ind. She was a woman of great strength of character, large and handsome, weighing over two hundred pounds. Her father, Capt. John Snow of Harpswell, Maine, served in the Revolution as Captain of 5th (Harpswell) co., 2nd Cumberland County regt. of Mass. militia; also Captain 2nd (Harpswell) co., 2nd regt.; also Captain 6th co., 2nd Cumberland County regt. of Mass. militia (See Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, vol. 14, p. 614.)

(Note: Capt. John Snow died before 1790. His widow is listed in United States Census of 1790 as a resident of Harpswell, Maine.)

Descendants of Benjamin and Hannah (Snow) Tibbetts are eligible to membership in Colonial and Revolutionary hereditary-patriotic societies and to the Society of Mayflower Descendants.

Her brother Jonathan Snow married her husband's sister, Mary, Tibbetts, and moved west in 1816. She was distantly related to and occasionally visited the Lemuel Snow family of Harrison, Ohio, who had come west from Barnstable, Cape Cod, in 1814.

Benjamin Tibbetts' sons and daughters frequently mentioned relatives living in Kittery, Maine. Another New England relative often mentioned was 'cousin Billy Gray' (William Gray, Esq.), merchant, who owned a line of ships, and the tradition is that this 'cousin Billy Gray' visited Benjamin and Hannah (Snow) Tibbetts after they moved in 1816 to Dearborn Co., Indiana and, if so, he undoubtedly came by stage coach to Pittsburgh, Pa., and from there down the Ohio river by boat to Lawrenceburg, Indiana. It is not known whether this William Gray was related on the Snow side, or through family of Lurana Young, or possibly further back, through the Atwood line of Apphia Atwood, wife of Deacon Isaac Snow (grandparents of Hannah (Snow) Tibbetts, who removed with their family from Truro, Mass. (Cape Cod), to Brunswick, Maine, early.

The Benjamin Tibbetts' were in some way connected with the Grant family and used to drive and spend Sunday with the parents of Gen. U.S. Grant, then living across the Ohio river in Ohio. They may have been related to the Grant families of Rochester, N.H., Berwick, Maine, or Kittery, Me.

Note: The above tribute to Benjamin Tibbetts, written by George W. Lane in his sketch of Manchester township, is to be found in the old History of Dearborn County, Indiana, which was published in 1885, and the same tribute was reprinted in a later History of Dearborn County which was published in 1916, the year in which Indiana celebrated her centennial anniversary. This was just one hundred years from the time when Benjamin Tibbetts removed from Bangor, Maine, to Manchester township, Dearborn Co., Indiana.

- A portion of Sec. 32 to Levi Hamblin

- A portion of Sec. 25 in 1816 to Thomas Farling.

William, Abner Jr. and David Tibbette were sons of Abner and Sarah (Davis) Tibbette of Corinth, Maine. John Tibbette was probably a relative; he afterward lived in Aurora, Ind. Rev. Paul Tibbette emigrated from the state of Maine. Other early settlers of this township were James P. Milliken from Bangor, Me., Joseph Luther and James Vaughn, Andrew Stevenson, Job Sylvester, John Farling, William Jordan, John Crocker (from Bangor, Me.), Charles W. Wright, the Ketchum, Freeman, Towell and other families.

The family of Matthew and Margaret (Matthews) Milliken removed from Bangor, Maine and settled in Manchester Township about 1817. They had nine children as follows: 1. Sally; 2. David; 3. Phoebe (married Abner, son of Benjamin and Hannah (Snow) Tibbette; 4. Elizabeth, died in childhood; 5. Margaret (married William Dunn, son of Micajah and brother of Gershom, and had two sons, namely, Micajah and Dr. William Dunn); 6. Susan, married Peter Platt; 7. Jane, (married first Alfred Cotton Jr.; married second John Freeland); 8. Heltire; 9. Priscilla. Mrs. Jane Milliken Freeland, born Aug. 3, 1825, in Manchester Township, Dearborn Co., spent the last years of her life in Indianapolis and died there about 1916, aged ninety years. To her we are indebted for various items of information in regard to the early families of this township. Her son, Dr. J. L. Freeland was for several years Supt. of City Hospital, Indianapolis. He removed with his family to Denver, Colo. about 1918.

Jonas and Margaret Matthews were brother and sister and married respectively Susan and Matthew Milliken, all from Bangor, Maine. Jonas and Susan (Milliken) Matthews from Bangor were early settlers here and had seven children as follows: 1. James P.; 2. Allen; 3. Mary, called Polly (married secondly Abner Tibbette and was his second wife; 4. Eliza; 5. Matthew; 6. Monroe, lived South Bend, Ind.;

7. Alfred, lived near Lansing, Mich.

Israel Noyes from Pownall, Maine settled in Manchester, Ind., and had nine children as follows: 1. Dorothy (married Judge Alfred J. Cotton); 2. Israel Jr., (married Abigail Milliken, she born in Bangor, Maine); 3. Benjamin; 4. Hugh; 5. Amos; 6. Sarah (married a Sylvester); 7. Daniel (married Mary called "Polly" Matthews); 8. Eliza (married a Wilcox); 9. Charles.

There are to-day few representatives of the early settlers of Manchester Township to be found in Dearborn County. Their descendants are scattered far and wide through all the western states.

A book of pioneer history relating to the early settlers of Dearborn County, entitled "Cotton's Keepsake" (published 1858) which is to be found in the Indiana State Library, Indianapolis, was written by Judge Alfred J. Cotton, for over fifty years a minister of the gospel in Southern Indiana, who was born in Pownall, Maine, and settled in Manchester Township, Dearborn Co., when quite a young man. He also taught the school in Manchester for many years, from 1820 to 1850 and was perhaps the only schoolmaster of the boys and girls of that community. He served as Associate Judge for a number of years and Probate Judge of the County for four years. He married in 1819 Dorothy Noyes, born in Pownall, Maine, daughter of Israel Noyes who came to Manchester, Ind. with the Daniel Plummer colony. Many wolf, bear and panther and rattlesnake stories were told by the pioneers. There was plenty. The forest settlers shot wild turkeys from their own doorsteps, and are said to have taken as many as one dozen and a half at one time out of a turkey-pen built up of poles or small logs. Quails were taken in the same way and on a smaller scale, or in a basket-trap or net.

Along the turnpike running through the center of the township east and west are four settlements designated as Upper Manchester (sometimes called Malstown), Middle Manchester, Lower Manchester (called Plummerstown), and Wright's Corners. The three places thus described, Lower Manchester, Middle Manchester and Upper Manchester are scattered along the road for a little more than a mile. Some two miles east of Plummerstown is Wright's Corners.

About 1825 Washington Wright kept a store, and was Postmaster here, hence the name.

Manchester Township.

Manchester township is bounded north by Jackson and York townships, south by Hogan and Sparta townships, west by Ripley County. The following history of the early settlers of the township was written in 1876 by George W. Lane, and published in the Aurora Independent (and reprinted in History of Dearborn County):

Soon after the War of 1812, one of the most important settlements for number and character was made in Manchester township. They suffered many hardships and indeed, many privations, but they stood their ground like Christian martyrs, and many lived to see tall oaks utilized for other purposes and removed to make room for houses and barns and meadows, and in less than a decade the ridge for miles was under a high state of cultivation, and in the fall rows of teams would be seen on the road hauling off the surplus of their farms and cooper shops. The last was carried on for a number of years, as Manchester was studded over with heavy timber, the tallest and largest trees this side of California, and to work up these great oaks into pork barrels required the labor of Mr. Jacquith and all his boys, and these boys were as good, jovial fellows as ever were turned loose in any big woods.

The writer remembers well the first time he ever saw Manchester. He rode out on a horse behind Henry, or as he was better known, "Hank" Jacquith, to attend a party that was on the tapis for that night. And if the party was too large for the house, they adjourned to the threshing floor in the great barn; it did not in any way mar the pleasure of the occasion.

A history of Manchester township as a settlement dates back to the year 1815 when Mark McCracken, his brother Robert, and their mother located on the present site of the village bearing the name of Manchester. In 1852 Robert stated over his signature that he in 1815 cut the road seven miles himself, and drove the first wagon that was ever on the ridge, and put up the first cabin in that neighborhood. It is understood that he cut the road from Cambridge to this site. He also stated that his nearest neighbor was four or five miles distant. Two years after, he sold out to the Rev. Daniel Plummer, but his brother, Col. Mark McCracken retained his portion to the day of his death, and erected that large and spacious mansion now occupied by William H. Baker.

In 1815 settled David and Abner Tibbatts, Simon Alexander, Benjamin Anderson and others. At this time throughout the eastern states, especially in Maine, the people had what was termed the "Ohio fever", and there was a great tide of immigration to that state. In the fall of 1817 fifteen families from about one neighborhood in Maine, and eleven of them, with ten wagons and 24 horses, and 78 souls, started off together from Cumberland County in one day. It was a great move and excited the curiosity of the country through which they passed; they were spoken of as the great "land fleet". Their route was through the beautiful cities of Portland and Haverhill to Albany; thence up the fertile valley of the Mohawk; thence across to Ocean Point, on the headwaters of the Allegheny; thence down the river in boats and on rafts to Pittsburgh; thence down the beautiful Ohio to Lawrenceburg in Indiana where they cast anchor, cabled up and sought each a resting place and a home in the then wilds of the west; and most of them located on what was then called Green Briar Ridge, now known as the pleasant village of Manchester, among whom was the Rev. Daniel Plummer, so favorably and extensively known.

Robert McCracken in referring to the coming of Daniel Plummer remarked, "In the section where Plummer located there were no less than five families living, and 100 acres or more cleared, and five acres cleared on the tract of land I sold him. Some twenty families were living within one mile of him when he came".

The McCrackens' built the first cabin and were the first settlers on what is known as Pleasant View Ridge.

Elise Heustis is our authority for saying that James Vaughn kept the first public house, dug the first well and had the first peach orchard in the township.

There are many reasons why the writer should find it agreeable employment to refer to the pioneers of Manchester township. In other years he has traded with most of them, visited their homes, attended their public meetings, and taken part with them on all important occasions as if one of them; and now, though many long years have passed, the recollection of them awakens feelings of gratitude that our pen cannot move fast enough to allay.

Judge Cotton came from Maine and settled in the township in 1818. In his book called "Cotton's Keepsakes" (published in 1858) he states that he "reared him a cabin" and settled in the woods. All was one vast unbroken wilderness around him, save here and there a little cabin and a small opening, the labors of the new-comers of the previous year. These were scattered about on what was known as Green Briar Ridge, so called by the hunters because of the prevalence of a briar of that color that abounded in the forest. Judge Cotton states "My cabin was solitary and alone at first. I had blasted out a wagon track and had also blazed a footpath, a nearer cut to the settlement. Many the time and oft that I have entered this dismal and solitary homeward path, where for a good part of the way it was so dark that I could not see my hand to save me - was compelled to feel out the path with my foot; with my heart in my mouth, my hair well-nigh erect and my blood nearly curdled, for the prowling wolves were about my path and had often raised their hideous yells in my very dooryard. Sometimes as you were going through the woods with a hickory torch you would frighten all the beasts and birds along your track, and they in turn would frighten you. Wild turkey, deer and moose - wolf, bear and panther, and rattlesnakes were to be found in this forest. Game was plenty. My neighbors have taken as many as one dozen and a half at a time out of a turkay-nest built up of poles or small logs. Quail were taken in the same way, and on a smaller scale, or in a bucket trap or net. The early history of the county abounds in Indian and wild beast stories".

There were few better and many worse men than Judge Cotton. His moral worth and religious devotion commended him to the respect of all good citizens; but his name and history are recorded in a more reliable shape than we can place them, yet we will add that he served as Associate Judge for a number of years and Probate Judge of the county for four years.

Page 545: The history of the township would be imperfect without a reference to Ben Tibbetts who, when the writer first knew him, was one of the most active, thorough-going, dashing business men in the county. He could haul more hay and load a boat quicker, go to New Orleans and back sooner than anyone else. His very presence, with his usual fire and life, like a galvanic battery that emits electricity at the slightest touch, gave activity and new life to all around him. At heart Ben Tibbetts was an honest man, of generous impulses, and never intentionally wronged a neighbor.

The Tibbetts's were from Maine. Benjamin Tibbetts died in 1853, aged eighty-four years.

The Heustis family were from New York State. Oliver Heustis purchased a portion of Sec. 11, in 1818. He was twice elected to the State Legislature, 1832 and 1844. As a member, he was regarded as a practicable man of principle and unyielding integrity. Oliver Heustis would have been recognized as a man of intelligence in any society. He was a constant reader, and it may be said, was a student all his life. He was well posted on all political questions and familiar with history. He was a good talker and very much enjoyed pleasant and intelligent conversation, indeed it might be said that was his forte, for Mr. Heustis was not a gifted public speaker, but when he did take part on important occasions, whatever he said was sensible and to the point.

Rev. Daniel Roberts emigrated from the state of Maine.

Prior to 1825 Oliver Heustis built a cording machine at Lower Manchester. It was first operated by horse power and later by steam, and on the adoption of the latter power, a couple run of stones were put in, and grinding done. This was in operation probably fifty years. Heustis and Plummer carried it on for a long time, and the business finally ceased in the hands of Daniel Plummer.

Near by was built and operated a small foundry by Russell Conan. A tan yard was also here carried on for years by Francis Russell and later by one Keeley.

Hamlets.

Along the turnpike running through the center of the township east and west are four settlements designated as Upper Manchester (sometimes called Huletown), Middle Manchester, Lower Manchester (called Plummertown), and Wright's Corners. Lower Manchester or Plummertown had its origin in the settlement made there in 1818, and took the latter name from the Plummers, several of whom settled there. This is the oldest of the places mentioned. Middle Manchester was first settled by Joseph Sylvester, who in 1818 was living in a log-cabin, the first built at this point. In 1818-19 several cabins were built there.

Early merchants along the pike were William Tibbetts (locally known as "Uncle Billy"), William Jordan and Samuel and Daniel McMullen. The three places, Lower Manchester, Middle Manchester and Upper Manchester are scattered along the road for a little more than a mile. Some two miles east of Plummertown is Wright's Corners, a very attractive little settlement, or hamlet. It has now a fine school (high school).

Page 549: Daniel Plummer made the first hay press used in the township. It is also said that he built the first frame house and the first frame barn in the township. In 1876 the house was standing after sixty years service. The barn was built not far from the same time, and was used as the first church in the township after it was built, the house serving for that purpose until the barn was erected. These ancient buildings, together with the homestead are the property of Ex-sheriff Brent S. Downen, who takes a pride in keeping them as near what they first were as possible.

But to return to the settlers. Among the number were Lucian, Sheldon and Alexander Fairbanks. They each raised families, but if the writer is not mistaken, none of the same remain in the township. David Tibbetts resided in the township a number of years, an influential and highly respected citizen. He moved west with his family in 1852, to Iowa, near Ft. Madison.

The writer finds it easier to commence on Manchester township than to get away from it, and unless he bridges his comments on the various characters that memory calls to mind, may not finish during the centennial summer now approaching. But that must not be, as the reader would weary of the subject long before we had done justice to the pioneers of other parts of the county, and while we would not slight any, we must be content with a brief notice.

where it can be given, the date of settlement and state from which the above-named settlers emigrated, are set forth below, with similar facts concerning other settlers, and incidents attending immigration and settlement.

Page 548: Daniel Plummer was a man worthy of remembrance and entitled to a more extended notice than the writer can indulge in, so favorably and extensively known. Robert McCracken in referring to the coming of Daniel Plummer remarked, "In the section where Plummer located there were no less than five families living, and 100 or more acres cleared, and five acres cleared on the tract of land I sold him. Some twenty families were living within one mile of him when he came."

(Rev. Daniel Plummer and Luther Plummer were brothers; Luther known as Capt.).

Luther Plummer was an unassuming man of sterling worth and strict integrity, looking to the welfare of his family, and attentive to his own interests. He put on no foolish style, nor attempts to appear in characters other than his own, but like ornaments made of pure gold they need no varnish nor gilding, so with a true-hearted man, who is the same at home as abroad, today and tomorrow, who acts well his part without pomp or dazzling parade. To say that Mr. Plummer was an honest man would be no compliment, for like the description we once heard of a certain person that he deserved no credit for being a gentleman, he was one naturally, so with Mr. Plummer, he deserved no credit for being an honest man, he was one naturally.

John Palmer lived on the State road. He was elected probate judge of the county and for a number of years was justice of the peace. He was honest and wanted to do right. Judge Palmer was a large merchant and farmer.

Charles W. Wright was a pioneer merchant of Wright's Corners; he was a sensible and industrious man.

Elder Zacheus Palmer officiated as a minister in the old log church at Wright's Corners for many years.

In 1617 David Palmer and family from New York City located in the northern part of York township.

Rev. Daniel Palmer and Rev. David Palmer preached in Sparta township.

Manchester Township.

"In 1818 William Tibbetts (known locally as "Uncle Billy") emigrated from the state of Maine to this township, and settled in Section 28 on the land now owned by David Crocker.

In the same year and from the same state came Daniel Plummer and located in Sec. 34 on the land now owned by Benjamin Plummer.

Daniel Plummer was in his day an able and efficient minister, and the impress of his influence and energy is still seen and felt.

Among the early settlers of this township were also Joseph and Luther Plummer, John and Isaiah Morris, James Vaughn, Andrew Stevenson, and Job Sylvester.

The first school in this township was taught in a log house on the land now owned by Wm. Baker, by Sarah Mayhew, for which services she received the sum of one dollar a week to be paid by the patrons of the school in proportion to the number of children sent.

The first school-house in the township was built on the present site of a Cooper Shop in Upper Manchester.

(Note: The above-named Sarah Mayhew was daughter of Elisha and Abigail (Tibbetts) Mayhew who removed from Levant (near Bangor), Maine, to Indiana in 1816 and settled a few years later in Shelbyville, Ind.).

The SNOW FAMILY of CAPE COD, MASS.

THE SNOW FAMILY.

(See New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 47, page 81.)

The Snow Genealogy, by Mrs. H.L. Alden of Troy, N.Y., a book of eighteen pages, is reprinted with additions from the New England Hist. and Genealogical Register 1899, and traces three generations of the descendants of Nicholas Snow of Eastham, Mass., and his wife Constance Hopkins.

Freeman's History of Cape Cod mentions first of Snow family, pages 365-371-373-389.

Baigor Historical Magazine, vol. 4, page 19; Vol. 5, page 12; Vol. 6, page 89, Ancient Landmarks of Plymouth, by Wm. T. Davis, mentions first of Snow family.

The Snow Genealogy, in two large volumes, compiled by William B. Snow, Esq., of 379 Dexter Street, Malden, Mass., traces several thousand descendants of Nicholas and Constance (Hopkins) Snow of Eastham, Mass. (Cape Cod).

The records of the descendants of Richard Snow of Woburn, Mass., were compiled by the late George B. Snow, Esq., of Long Beach, Calif.

Nicholas, Anthony and William Snow came over early. There was also a Richard of Woburn, and Thomas of Boston. Anthony married Abigail Barran and lived in Plymouth and Marshfield, and had one son Josiah and daughters. Josiah had no sons. William was an apprentice, married a Barker and went to Bridgewater. Mitchell has an account of his descendants which are found later in Providence. Nicholas Snow came in the "Ann" in 1623 and had share in division of land in Plymouth 1624; settled in Eastham, Cape Cod, 1645; a man of much note. He married Constance Hopkins, daughter of Stephen Hopkins, both of whom came in the Mayflower. She died in 1676.

Tablets to Eastham Founders. In August, 1916, five tablets, memorials to five of the seven settlers of Eastham, Mass., were dedicated in the new town hall. Descendants of the original families participated in the exercises, in connection with which there was the unveiling of a tablet on the exterior of the building in honor of Timothy Smith of Boston, who presented the new hall to the town.

In 1644 Governor Thomas Prentice, Edward Bangs, Deacon John Doane, Richard Higgins, Nicholas Snow, Josiah Cook and John Challey moved with their families from Plymouth to Huset and founded the town later named Eastham, and which then included Wellfleet and Orleans.

The tablets were to the memory of the first five of the above-named.

Tablet

To the Memory of Nicholas Snow

Who arrived at Plymouth in the Ann in 1623, and was an original purchaser and one of the first founders of Huset in 1644. An incorporator of the town renamed Eastham in 1651. The first clerk of the town, holding that office seventeen years, from 1646 to 1663. Deputy to the General Court from 1648 to 1652. Selectman from 1663 to 1670. Also surveyor of highways.

He was born in England and died in Eastham, Nov. 16, 1676.

About 1623 he married, at Plymouth, Constance Hopkins, daughter of Stephen Hopkins, both of whom came on the Mayflower in 1620.

From this union came twelve children. His home was at Skaket, now Orleans. To commemorate his sturdy manhood, with assurance of his faithful service to the company of pioneers with which he was associated, this memorial is erected by his descendants in five lines.

THE SNOW FAMILY.

See Freeman's History of Cape Cod, Vol. 2, page 365.

Nicholas, Anthony and William Snow are reported to have come over early. The two former brought families. The latter was an apprentice (in 1643 was of Plymouth) and settled in Duxbury.

Anthony was first at Plymouth (1638) then 1642 at Marshfield.

A Thomas Snow was of Boston 1656 and a Richard Snow settled at Woburn in 1646.

Nicholas Snow, born in England, came in the "Ann" 1623, and had share in the division of land at Plymouth and was one of those to whom land was allotted in 1624. He moved to Duxham, Mass. and was Town Clerk, and Deputy to the Gen. Court and Selectman. He was one of Gov. Prince's associates, a man of much note. He died at Duxham, Mass., 15 Nov. 1676.

He married at Plymouth, before 1626, Constance Hopkins who came with her father Stephen Hopkins on the Mayflower. Nicholas and Constance (Hopkins) Snow had twelve children.

Stephen Hopkins.

Stephen Hopkins (first wife's name unknown) married second, in London, Elizabeth, said by some to have been Elizabeth Fisher.

He and second wife Elizabeth and their children and two children by his first marriage, namely, Constance and Gyles, were all passengers on the Mayflower. He was one of the signers of the Mayflower Compact and a man of influence in Plymouth Colony. He died in Plymouth in 1644, his will dated 6 June 1644. His wife died between 1640-44.

Children by first wife:

- i. Constance², born in England; came with her father in the Mayflower in 1620. She married in Plymouth about 1625, Nicholas Snow who arrived in Plymouth in the "Anne" in 1623, and was one of the founders of Eastham; was first clerk of the town; Deputy to the General Court; Selectman. He died at Eastham, 16 Nov. 1676.
They had twelve children.

- ii. Gyles², born in England; came with his father in the Mayflower. He married, 1639, Katherine Wheldon and had ten children:

1. Mary³, born 1640, married Samuel Smith.
2. Stephen³, born 1642; married, first, Mary Merrick, and second, Bethiah Atkins.
3. John³, born 1643; died in infancy.
4. Abigail³, born October, 1644; married 23 May 1667, William (not Nathaniel) Merrick.

- vi. Deborah², born probably in 1622, married 1646, Andrew² Ring (William¹ and Mary Ring).
- vii. Elizabeth², died 1666 unmarried.
- viii. Oceanus², born on the voyage, died young.

Stephen Hopkins.

In Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth, Mass., there is a painting by Henry Sargent, a Boston artist, a member of the family to which the celebrated John Singer Sargent belongs. Among the figures there appearing on the canvas is a group representing Stephen Hopkins, his wife and four children.

Stephen Hopkins is said by some to have been a London merchant. He was one of the twelve Mayflower passengers who had a title (Mr.) prefixed to his name.

That Stephen Hopkins was a man of more than ordinary character and influence is shown by the part he played in the early history of the Colony. In "Howard and Crocker's Popular History of New England", we read: "No one can ponder the annals of the early settlement of New England without being profoundly impressed with the rare excellency of the material that went into its foundation.

Consider the names of such primitive Pilgrims as Carver, Bradford, Brewster, Standish, Winslow, Alden, Warren, Hopkins, and others"; and Moore, in his "Lives of the Colonial Governors", says: "Of the Pilgrims who remained in 1634, Stephen Hopkins, Miles Standish and John Alden were the most prominent individuals. Hopkins was then one of the principal magistrates."

Stephen Hopkins was one of the signers of the Mayflower Compact - the famous Compact drawn up and signed in the cabin of the Mayflower, November twenty-first, 1620."

(See also Freeman's History of Cape Cod.)

John² Snow (Nicholas¹), born about 1638 in Plymouth, Mass.; died in 1692 in Eastham, Mass. He was the fourth son and sixth child of Nicholas and Constance (Hopkins) Snow.

He married in Eastham, Mass., 19 Sept. 1667, Mary Smalley (twin), born in Barnstable, Mass., 11 Dec. 1647; daughter of John and Ann (Walden) Smalley. She and her twin brother Isaac were baptized in Barnstable Church, 27 Feb. 1648.

No will of John Snow; settlement of estate in County Court of Barnstable, 19 April 1692. His widow married Ephraim Doane of Eastham. She died in 1703 in Eastham.

We find no will of John Snow. The Inventory of the estate of John Snow was made by John Freeman and William Walker, 4 Apr. 1692. He doubtless lived within the present town of Eastham.

"The settlement of the estate of John Snow late of Eastham, deceased, at the County Court held at Barnstable April ye 19, 1692, as followeth: after debts paid, one third part of his real estate, to Mary Snow, widow, relict of sd. deceased during her natural life; and one third of the personal estate forever, and ye rest of sd. personal estate for bringing up ye children of sd. deceased, saving her paying to each of the daughters four pounds apiece as they come of age or married; and the sons of the deceased to have the land and housing according to law."

John and Mary (Smalley) Snow had nine children, all born in Eastham, Mass., as follows:

- i. Hannah³, born 26 Aug. 1670.

SMALLEY.

Ancestry of Mary Smalley, wife of John² Snow of Eastham, Mass.

(From Freeman's History of Cape Cod, page 559. Annals of Eastham.

Smalley (this family name often spelled Smalle and Small).
Mr. John Smalley was in Plymouth in 1632. He settled later at Eastham. (Tradition states that John Small of Eastham and Edward Small of Kittery were brothers or closely related, and many facts appear to substantiate this claim.)

(For notes on the Smalley family, see Maine Genealogy, vol. 3, p. . .)

The following is copied from "Descendants of Edward Small and Allied Families", vol. 1, page 19):

"John Small (or Smalley) came in the William and James from London, arriving at Boston, June 5, 1632 with Edward Winslow, afterwards Gov. of Plymouth Colony. The England record states that they were "to be transported to New England to be resident there upon a plantation" and "have taken the oath of allegiance according to the statute vij Marcij 1631". They went directly to Plymouth, where as early as 1637 "John Small" was appointed with others "honest and lawful men" to lay out hay-ground at Plymouth. "John Smalley" appeared in 1643 in a list of "all males that able to beare armes from xvi years old to 60 yeares within the severall Townships" in Plymouth County. In 1642 he had been made freeman. "John Smalley", Edward Bangs, Josiah Cook, Nicholas Snow and others who had been prominent at Plymouth, removed about 1644 to Nauset, afterwards Eastham, far down on Cape Cod. Two yeares Small was elected Constable, at that time an official of great importance, since the order of the community depended largely upon him and his local powers were almost unlimited.

He was a surveyor in 1649; of the "Grand Inquest" in 1654. "From all that can be learned, he was a valuable citizen, rather shunning the honours and troubles of office".

He married Ann Walden about 1638, and was still living in 1668, but no record of his death is found."

John and Ann (Walden) Smalley had children, the older ones born in Plymouth, viz.:

i. Hannah², born 14 June 1641; married John Bangs, 23 Jan. 1661.

ii. John², born 8 Sept. 1644.

iii. Isaac² (twin), born 11 Dec. 1647; bapt. at Barnstable, 27 Feb. 1648.

iv. Mary² (twin), born 11 Dec. 1647; bapt. at Barnstable 27 Feb. 1648. She married first, 19 Sept. 1667, John² Snow, the son of Nicholas and Constance (Hopkins) Snow of Eastham, Mass. He died in 1692. She married secondly, Ephraim Doane. She died in Eastham in 1703.

Nine children by first husband (surname Snow), viz., Hannah, Mary, Abigail, Rebecca, John, Isaac, Lydia, Elisha and Phoebe. (See footnote, vol. 1, page 20, "Descendants of Edward Small and Allied Families.") (See Maine Genealogy, vol. 3, page 1623) (See Annals of Harwich and Truro).

Descendants of John and Mary (Smalley) Snow are eligible to The Smalls of America.

The Ridley Family.

Copied from Maine Genealogy, Vol. 2, page 876.

The Ridley family is of very ancient origin. Sieur de Ridel whose name appears on the roll of Battle Abbey, the earliest record of the Normans who came with William the Conqueror, is said to have been the ancestor of all branches of the family which subsequently settled in England and Scotland.

The surname appears in the Domesday Book in a variety of forms, such as Ridel, Ridle, and Ridell. The name is supposed to be a place name from a place in Scandinavia called Rugdal, that is, Ryedale, the valley of Rye. Members of the Norman family settled in Yorkshire, England, and named their landed possessions Ryedale. There are about sixty variations of spelling, among the most common being Riddell, Riddle, Ridlon and Ridley.

The family has many coats of arms, borne by different branches.

RIDLEY.

(Copied from the Boston Transcript.)

Capt. Mark Ridley was at Truro, Mass., as early as 1666, and is occasionally mentioned in the Plymouth Colony records. He was from England. It appears that he followed the sea from boyhood, and made trips to New England some years prior to his settlement here. He had a son Thomas, and is believed to have had daughters Ann and Elizabeth, the latter marrying John Snow.

Family of Deacon Isaac and Apphia (Atwood) Snow of Brunswick, Maine, and Harpswell, Maine.

Deacon Isaac⁴ Snow (John³, John², Nicholas¹), born 11 Feb. 1715-14 at Truro, Mass. (Cape Cod), was the fifth son of John and Elizabeth (Ridley) Snow. He removed to Brunswick, Maine about 1738; pioneer of Harpswell; in old age removed to Thomaston, Maine, where most of his children lived; and died in 1799 at the home of his daughter Hannah Hall in St. George, Maine. The baptismal name of his wife is given in the Thomaston records as "Affier".

He married at Truro, Mass., 5 July 1733, Apphia Atwood, born at Truro, Mass., 28 July 1713, daughter of Malchiel and Prudence (Rogers) Atwood.

He was a member of Capt. Thomas Lombard's military company at Truro, Mass., prior to his removal to the District of Maine, which company consisted of seventy members.

About 1738, Deacon Isaac and Apphia (Atwood) Snow removed from Truro, Mass. (Cape Cod), to what is now Brunswick, Maine (Maine was at that time a District of Massachusetts and was not incorporated as a state until 1820). Their two oldest sons were born in Truro but their other children were born in Brunswick.

Deacon Isaac Snow was a very strong character. He was a member of the General Court as well as of the old Constitutional Convention and represented his section of what is now Maine. He was a very heavy land-holder as well as a prominent sea-captain, who sailed in nearly all parts of the world. Being a master mariner, he was generally known as Capt. Snow.

He lived to the age of eighty-six, although he had endured great hardships. He was the first one of that branch to move to Brunswick, Maine. The exact date of his removal to Brunswick is not known, but it was prior to 1739, as land was then granted to him at "New Meadows".

He was selectman in Brunswick in 1743, 1746, 1747, 1751, 1756 and 1758 (See Wheeler's Hist. of Brunswick, Topsham and Harpswell, Maine, page 919). In 1752 there were, according to a map of the Plymouth Company, but twenty dwelling houses in Brunswick, one of which belonged to Deacon Isaac Snow. Prior to 1747, Sebascodigan Island was deeded to him; before 1766, several small adjacent islands were deeded to his son Elisha, and prior to 1771, Long Island was deeded to his son John (afterward Capt. in the Revolution), all of which territory was in the "District of Harpswell".

Capt. John, Isaac and Joseph, the sons of Isaac and Apphia (Atwood) Snow, were all heavy land-holders in Harpswell, Brunswick and Thomaston, Maine. Isaac Jr. and Capt. John Snow married daughters of Captain Benjamin Larrabee of Brunswick, Maine.

Capt. John and his brothers, Isaac and Samuel Snow, are said to have once owned all the land on the east side of Great Island, Harpswell, where Mark Small later lived (See Hist. of Brunswick).

Another son of Deacon Isaac and Apphia (Atwood) Snow was Elder Elisha Snow, born 26 March 1739, in Brunswick, Maine, died 31 Jan. 1832, near the close of his 92nd year; married at Cape Elizabeth

6 Dec. 1759, Elizabeth, daughter of Robert Jordan of that place.

Their son, Capt. Israel Snow, in 1793 married his first cousin, Hannah Snow, a daughter of Joseph Snow, and removed to Bangor, Me., where he became quite prominent. The Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 4, page 19, gives a sketch of Capt. Israel Snow and states: "Capt. Israel Snow, son of Elder Elisha Snow, of Harpswell and Thomaston, Maine, was born in Harpswell, 2 Oct. 1771. He came to Bangor in 1807. He was a master mariner. He died 15 Sept. 1863, the oldest Free Mason and the oldest citizen in the city. He lived at the lower end of Broadway, then Oak Street, on the west side of the street. He previously lived in the Patten house near Hammond Street Church.

He married 15 Nov. 1793, his first cousin Hannah, daughter of Joseph Snow of South Thomaston, Maine. She was admitted to First Church in Bangor, 18 Aug. 1813; she died 28 Jan. 1865, aged 90 yrs., 9 mos., 22 days.

The Snows of this family were closely identified with Bangor, as it was the head of navigation and quite a shipping point.

Children of Deacon Isaac and Apphia (Atwood) Snow, all born in Brunswick, Maine, except the two older ones (dates of their birth copied from Wheeler's Hist. of Brunswick, Topsham and Harpswell, Maine, page 853):

- i. John⁵, born in Truro, Mass., 25 July 1734; served as a Captain in the Revolution.
He married Hannah Larrabee, daughter of Capt. Benjamin Larrabee, of Brunswick, Maine.
- ii. Isaac⁵, born in Truro, Mass., 18 May 1736; married a daughter of Capt. Benjamin Larrabee, of Brunswick.
- iii. Elisha⁵, born in Brunswick, Maine, 26 March 1739; Elder in the church. He married at Cape Elizabeth, 6 Dec. 1759, Elizabeth, daughter of Robert Jordan of that place. He died 31 Jan. 1832, near the close of his 92nd year.
- iv. Joseph⁵, born 2 Oct. 1740.

Stephen¹ Atwood of Plymouth (Mass.), and later of Eastham in the Plymouth Colony; granted land at Plymouth, 1641; is on list of freemen at Eastham, 1648, though likely not a resident yet.

He married 6 Nov. 1644, at Plymouth, Abigail Dunham, b. 1629, daughter of Deacon John and Abigail Dunham. He died in February, 1693-4.

Stephen² Atwood, born probably 1647-8, the son of Stephen and Abigail (Dunham) Atwood. He died in the spring of 1722.

He married about June, 1676, Apphia (Bangs) Knowles, widow of John Knowles and daughter of Edward and Rebecca Bangs. (Atwood Mss. in error.)

Malchiel³ Atwood (Stephen², Stephen¹), married 25 Oct. 1700, Prudence Rogers and lived in Truro, Cape Cod, Mass. (Prudence Rogers said to be widow of Joseph Rogers.)

Malchiel Atwood had grants of land in Truro in 1703 and in 1715. It is not clear who Malchiel's wife was before marriage, but we can find no other Prudence Rogers than the widow of Joseph and no further mention of her, except as considered to have married Malchiel. It would be a good idea for others to spell Malchiel's name as it is in the Bible and as spelled in the baptismal record of Truro instead of following some half illiterate town clerk.

Apphia⁴ Atwood (Malchiel³, Stephen², Stephen¹), born 28 July 1715; died at St. George, Maine. She married 5 July 1733, Isaac⁴ Snow (John³, John², Nicholas¹), b. 11 Feb. 1713-14, the son of John Snow, born 30 May 1678, and his wife Elizabeth Ridley, whom he married 25 Feb. 1700-1701. John was son of John Snow, born 1633, and Mary Smalley, whom he married 19 Sept. 1667, Eastham; first American ancestor was Nicholas Snow, who came 1623, married Constance Hopkins, daughter of Stephen, latter two of the Mayflower. The Isaac Snow family migrated to Maine, finally locating near Thomaston, where nearly all their grandchildren were born.

Their children were:

- i. John Snow (Capt. in the Revolution), born 5 July 1734; married Hannah Larrabee.
- ii. Isaac Snow, born 18 May 1736; married 14 July 1767, Elizabeth Larrabee.
- iii. Elisha Snow, born 6 March 1739; married 6 Dec. 1759, Betsy Jordan.
- iv. Joseph Snow, born 2 Oct. 1740; married 9 Feb. 1761, Hannah Baylie.
- v. Ambrose Snow, born 29 March 1742.
- vi. Elizabeth Snow, born 3 Nov. 1743; married 14 Jan. 1762, Abiezer Holbrook.
- vii. Samuel Snow, born 28 Feb. 1745; married 19 May 1767, Abigail Jordan; m. second, 24 May 1769, Mary Deane.
- viii. Mercy Snow, born 8 Dec. 1751; married Rev. Ephraim Hall.
- ix. Hannah Snow, born 30 Oct. 1756; married 16 Aug. 1773, Caleb Hall.

(Note: Rebecca, daughter of Isaac Snow, Jr., married Isaac Snow (Elisha, Jesse, John).

Family of Capt. John and Hannah (Larrabee) Snow of Harpswell, Maine.

Capt. John⁵ Snow (Deacon Isaac⁴, John³, John², Nicholas¹), was born 25 July 1734, in Truro, Mass. (Cape Cod), the eldest son of Deacon Isaac and Apphia (Atwood) Snow. He was taken by his parents to Brunswick, Maine about 1738. He settled in Harpswell, Maine. He was appointed collector of taxes by the House of Representatives Province of Massachusetts Bay, by General Court assembled, Dec. 31, 1760, for the District of Harpswell, including the "Great Sebasco-degan". He was also one of the selectmen of Harpswell in 1774. Prior to 1771, Long Island was deeded to him, which island was in the District of Harpswell. He served in the Revolution (See "Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, vol. 14, p. 614.) (His Revolutionary service record given in full below.)

Larrabee.

Stephen¹ Larrabee was one of the early settlers of North Yarmouth, District of Maine, who bought large tracts of land from the Indians between Royals river and Broad Cove. But he had no deed, so his sons were each given grants as the sons of original settlers.

He was killed by the Indians in King Philip's War. The inhabitants of North Yarmouth had fled for safety to Jewell's Island, Casco Bay, where they were attacked by a large body of Indians who were driven off but at the cost of many English lives.

Stephen² Larrabee (the son of Stephen¹) was of North Yarmouth, Malden and Portland. His gravestone, about 1718, is the oldest or next to the oldest in the Eastern cemetery, Portland, which is the oldest regular cemetery in Maine.

He had three sons, as follows:

- i. Capt. Benjamin Larrabee, of the Brunswick Fort.
- ii. Capt. John Larrabee, of the Boston fortifications.
- iii. Capt. Stephen Larrabee, of North Yarmouth.

The above information was contributed by Charles Thornton Libby, Esq., of Portland, Maine, lawyer, whose residence is at Yarmouth, Maine.

Page 841-2. Larrabee. This is said to be a French family of Huguenot extraction. Capt. Benjamin Larrabee, the ancestor of the Brunswick family of that name, is said by tradition to have been born in Falmouth. He came to Brunswick about 1727, and was commander of Fort George for some years. He was also agent for the Pejepscot proprietors. (He was the son of Stephen² Larrabee of Malden, Mass., and Falmouth, District of Maine.) He died 9 May 1748. His wife's name was Mary. She survived him and married John Oulton. (Note: The History of Brunswick gives Capt. Benjamin Larrabee's lineage wrong. The above statement is correct.)

The following is from History of Brunswick, Topsham and Harpswell, Maine, page 750:

Captain Benjamin Larrabee

Captain Benjamin Larrabee came from Portland (then Falmouth) to assume the command of the fort in Brunswick about 1727. In December of that year he petitioned the General Court of Massachusetts "for a recompense for services in going from Boston to Brunswick, the journey having consumed one month." He lived in the fort for some years, and his children were born there. He afterward lived at New Meadows, where the house of Andrew Thomas now stands. He was the agent of the Pejepscot proprietors, and before the incorporation of the town he had the principal management of the concerns of the township. In 1735 he superintended the building of the old West Meeting-house, purchasing all the material, attending to the transportation, etc. He died in 1748 and was buried in the graveyard attached to the fort. There are now no traces of this burying-ground.

Captain Larrabee was a worthy man, much beloved by those intimately acquainted with him. He was considered a good business man and was much respected for his integrity and faithfulness to his trust. His posterity are numerous and highly respectable. His son Nathaniel was town clerk for thirty-seven years, from 1766 to 1802; selectman from 1783 to 1800 and was otherwise prominent in town affairs.

Capt. Benjamin Larrabee was chairman of the board of Selectmen of Brunswick during the years of 1739-40 and 42, and was Captain of a Military Company during the Indian Wars from 1730 to 1748, serving in that capacity for three hundred and fifty weeks, as shown by the records. (See list of Selectmen of Brunswick, page 919, History of Brunswick, Topsham and Harpswell, Maine. Pub. 1878.)

She married in Bangor, Maine, June 28, 1792, Elisha Mayhew, b. April 27, 1769, d. March 22, 1839, in Shelbyville, Indiana. He was a descendant of Thomas Mayhew, Governor and Patentee of Martha's Vineyard, Nantucket and Elizabeth Isles, who removed from Watertown, Mass., and commenced a settlement at Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, in 1642.

Elisha Mayhew removed with his parents to Bangor, Maine, among the earliest settlers there. He was the son of either Nathaniel Mayhew who moved with his family to Bangor in 1774, or of John Mayhew, Revolutionary soldier, who was in Bangor in 1786, and had Lot 63.

Elisha Mayhew had brothers Andrew and James, and a sister Mable, born 1770, who married James Clark of Penobscot Co.; she was living in 1850, the only one of the generation, and had children, one of whom was Hannah who never married.

The above-named Andrew Mayhew had son John A. Mayhew who had children, namely Frederick (only son), and "Polly", who married 7 Dec. 1818, Timothy Colby, all of whom resided near Bangor. John A. Mayhew had lost his second wife in 1861; in politics he was a "Union" man, - a pattern man. His only son Frederick was a strong "Secessionist". Three of Andrew Mayhew's granddaughters went to Virginia in 1861 to teach school, one of whom, Rachel, the youngest, soon married a southern planter, a slave-owner.

The farm of Elisha and Abigail (Tibbetts) Mayhew was near Levant, Penobscot Co., Maine. In 1816, they removed, with their large family of children to Indiana, and lived near Lawrenceburg, Dearborn County, until 1821 when they settled at Shelbyville, Shelby County, and were among the earliest inhabitants, and where they built on Franklin Street the first two-story house (and second frame) that was erected in Shelbyville. Their home was headquarters for the Methodist preachers and circuit-riders of that early day.

Elisha Mayhew was County Commissioner for a number of years. Elisha and Abigail (Tibbetts) Mayhew had ten children, all born near Levant, Penobscot Co., Maine, as follows:

SHANNON GENEALOGY. By George E. Hodgdon. Rochester, N. Y. 1905. The Genesee Press. Three-fourths morocco; quarto; pp. xxxi and 578. 128 Illustrations.

The Shannon Genealogy was compiled by Hon. George E. Hodgdon of Portsmouth, N. H., who died in 1891, before the book was printed. After remaining ten years, the work was taken up by Col. Richard Cutts Shannon of Brockport, N. Y., and additional data was collected so as to bring the record of the Shannon family up to the year 1904. An edition of only three hundred copies was printed, wholly for private distribution.

Nathaniel Shannon was the first of the name in New England, and from him the Shannon family of this part of the country trace their descent. He was born in Londonderry, in the Province of Ulster, Ireland, in 1655. He belonged to a family of Scottish antecedents noted for their adherence to the Presbyterian faith.

In 1687, Nathaniel Shannon emigrated to Boston, Mass., where he resided the rest of his life. In 1699, he was appointed Naval Officer of the Port of Boston, which office he held for twenty-two years. He died August 27, 1623, and was buried in the "Old Granary Burial Ground", Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.

The above-named Abigail Tibbets Shannon (see p 382) born 16 Nov. 1805, was third child of Richard Cutts Shannon, M.D., and Mary Tebbets, his wife. She married Calvin Locke. Their daughter, Mary A. Locke, married Reuben Knight. Their daughter, Mamie C. Knight, born in Marshall, Texas, married Milton Lothrop. (D.A.R. Lineage Book, vol. 56, p. 226).

Family of Henry and Elizabeth (Abbot) Tibbets of Salem, Mass.

127. Henry⁶ Tibbets (Nathaniel⁵ (No. 69), Paul⁴, Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), a sea captain of Salem, Mass., was born in Rochester, New Hampshire; bapt. at Rochester 17 Nov. 1754; died in Salem, Mass., December, 1842, aged about 86 years; buried in family tomb in the old Howard Street cemetery, at the corner of Howard and Bridge Streets, Salem.

He was the son of Nathaniel and Hannah (Corson) Tibbets of Rochester, N. H., who removed to Boothbay, Maine, and still later to Bristol, Maine.

He was a well known sea captain of Salem, Mass., removing thence from Bristol, Maine, and on his sailing voyages went to India and other countries.

He married in Salem, Mass., 30 Dec. 1784, Elizabeth Abbot, the ceremony performed by Dr. John Prince. She was baptized 6 June 1762, in Salem, Mass. She died in Salem, Dec. 1848, aged 86 yrs., and is buried beside her husband in Howard Street cemetery. She was daughter of Robert and Hannah (Leach) Abbot, of Salem, Mass., who were married 17 Sept. 1761.

After his marriage, Capt. Tibbets and his wife resided on Winter Street, Salem. After their death, the Winter street home passed out of the family and was moved down near the Beverly bridge on a side street and remodeled.

In the community he was known as Capt. Tibbets, but by his relatives and neighbors he was always spoken of as 'Sir Tibbets', and his wife was known as 'Ms'am Tibbets'.

An oil portrait of him, in full regalia of sea captain, with his ship showing in upper right hand corner, was presented in 1923, by his descendant, Miss M. Helen Tibbets, of No. 6 Mason Street, Gloucester, Mass., in accordance with the wish of her brother, the late Fred W. Tibbets of Gloucester, to the East India Marine Society, Salem, Mass., and hangs on the wall of the Society's building on Essex Street.

Also, an Invoice of goods made out to him (Capt. Tibbets), dated Calcutta, 25 January 1802, has been framed and presented to the East India Society, Salem, by the above-named descendants.

The following note evidently refers to this voyage:

"Salem, Ship Hazard, Henry Tibbets, entered from Calcutta, May 1802".

He served in the Revolution and in his work of standing off armed vessel attacks on the coast, was considered a genius. (See Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War, vol. 15, page 468):

Henry Tibbets, Private, brigantine "Massachusetts", commanded by Capt. Daniel Souther; engaged Aug. 19, 1776; discharged Dec. 1, 1776; service 4 months, 2 days; reported rated one share.

Petition dated Boston, Oct. 22, 1781, signed by William Long in behalf of himself and others of Salem, asking that Henry Tibbets be commissioned as commander of schooner "Exchange", a privateer, and it was advised in Council, Oct. 12, 1781, that a commission be issued. (See Naval Records of the American Revolution 1775-1788, Washington, Government Printing Office, 1906):

No. 131

 Capt. Richard Salter⁶ Tibbets (Israel⁵ (No. 71), Paul⁴, Henry³, Jeremiah², Henry¹), of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, mariner, and one of the first officers selected for the new navy of the United States, whose rank in the navy was that of Lieutenant, but who, in his capacity as mariner, is always referred to in printed records and throughout the present article as Captain, was born in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, 10 May 1762; baptized June, 1762 by the Rev. Samuel Haven (See South Church Records of Portsmouth, N.H., New Eng. Hist. Gen. Register, vol. 82, page 142). He died in Jacmel, Hayti, West Indies in October, 1821, aged 59 years, 5 months.

He was the only son and second child of Israel Tibbets, b. in Rochester, N.H., settled in Portsmouth, N.H., and his wife Mehitabel Salter, b. 1738, daughter of Richard and Elizabeth (Odiorne) Salter and granddaughter of John Salter of Rye, N.H.

The statement is made on page 45. "John Salter, Mariner", that Israel Tibbets, the father of Capt. Richard Salter Tibbets, came from London to Portsmouth, N.H. This is an error. As shown by the vital records of Rochester, New Hampshire, Israel Tibbets was the son of Paul and Sarah Tibbets of Rochester, New Hampshire. When Israel was a lad but eight or nine years of age, his father, Paul Tibbets died, between 13 and 26 December 1742, aged 37 years, leaving widow Sarah and six children (Administration on the estate of Paul Tibbets, of Rochester, New Hampshire, husbandmen, granted to widow Sarah Tibbets, 25 May 1743 (Probate Records of New Hampshire, vol. 15, p. 263).

Capt. Richard Salter Tibbets married in New Castle, New Hampshire, 7 Dec. 1787, Sarah⁵ Frost (Joseph⁴, Hon. John³, Maj. Charles², Nicholas¹), born 11 June 1766, survived her husband thirty-one years, and died at her old homestead in Portsmouth, N.H., 4 Jan. 1852, aged 85 years, 6 mos., 24 days; buried in the family burying-ground at New Castle by the side of her father and grandfather. The inscription on her gravestone reads: "Sarah, widow of the late Capt. Richard S. Tibbets and youngest daughter of Joseph and Margaret Frost, aged 85." She was daughter of Joseph⁴ and Margaret (Colton) Frost; granddaughter of Hon. John³ and Mary (Pepperrell) Frost; and great-granddaughter of Maj. Charles² Frost of Kittery, Me. (References: Wentworth Genealogy, vol. 2, pp. 55, 802-3: "The Frost Family," N.E. Hist. Gen. Register, vol. 5, p. 170, for April, 1851: "John Salter, Mariner," pp. 36, 43, by William Tibbets Salter. Pub. 1900).

(Note: The above-named Joseph⁴ Frost, the father of Mrs. Sarah (Frost) Tibbets, was an extensive merchant in New Castle, N.H., b. 29 Sept. 1717; d. 14 Sept. 1768; buried in the family burying-ground at New Castle by the side of his father, where the inscription upon the stone still points out the grave. He married 20 Oct. 1744, Margaret⁴ Colton, b. 19 April 1724, daughter of Samuel³ and Margaret (Bliss) Colton of Springfield, Mass.; granddaughter of Ephraim² Colton by his first wife Mary Drake; and great-granddaughter of Georget Colton, who was the ancestor of all the Coltons of New England (See Wentworth Genealogy, vol. 2, p. 56). Mrs. Margaret (Colton) Frost, after twenty-four years of widowhood, married secondly, as his second wife, in 1792, Judge Ichabod Rollins of Rollinsford, New Hampshire, who died eight years later. She died at Rollinsford, 15 July 1813, aged 89 years, and was buried at Somersworth, New Hampshire. Judge Ichabod Rollins was the son of Jeremiah and Elizabeth (Ham) Rollins, and grandson of Ichabod and Mary (Tibbetts) Rawlins (2,ii), later spelling Rollins.

Joseph⁴ Frost was the son of Hon. John³ Frost, merchant, of New Castle, N.H., who was one of the Governor's Council in 1727, and his wife Mary Pepperrell, b. 5 Sept. 1685, daughter of Col. William and Margery (Bray) Pepperrell of Kittery, Me., and sister of Lieutenant-General Sir William Pepperrell.

Mrs. Sarah (Frost) Tibbets was but two years old when her father died and was the last survivor of a large family. After the death of her husband, Capt. Richard Salter Tibbets, she and her sister Abigail lived together many years in Portsmouth, N.H., in the Pleasant Street house, opposite the hill, in which house she died. Her sister, Jane Frost, married in New Castle, N.H., as his third wife, 1 Nov. 1783, John Salter, mariner, above-mentioned. Her sister, Mary Frost, married 28 April 1771, Stephen Chase, Jr., A.B. (Harvard, 1754), the son of Rev. Stephen and Jane (Wingate) Chase. Stephen Chase, Jr., was a merchant at Portsmouth, N.H., and was one of the founders of the Portsmouth (N.H.) Athenaeum, and drew up its constitution and by-laws. He d. in 1805. Mary, his widow, d. in Portsmouth, N.H., 15 Sept. 1819. They had children among whom was Sarah Chase who married Jeremiah Hall Woodman, Esq., of Rochester, N.H., and their daughter, Mary Esther Woodman, married Judge Noah⁷ Tibbets, A.B. (Boston, 1822) (No.), lawyer, of Rochester, N.H., who was appointed Circuit Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of New Hampshire, in 1845.

Capt. Richard Salter Tibbets was but eight years of age when his father died, and was taken (when eight years old) by his uncle (on his mother's side), Capt. John Salter, to London to be educated. He later took him to sea with him as an apprentice.

He was but thirteen years old when the American Revolution commenced; from this time on, he made various voyages during his years of apprenticeship as a seaman. When eighteen years of age he was captured, 14 June 1780, in a letter-of-marque brig called the Aurora, and committed to Old Mill Prison, Plymouth, England, and remained in this dismal prison more than a year, when, soon after the capture of the British general, Cornwallis, at Yorktown, Va., 19 Oct. 1781, there was a general exchange of prisoners.

In connection with his experience in Old Mill Prison and later, the following extracts from "John Salter, Mariner", pages 48, 49, 54, 55, are of interest. In no other way than by giving these extracts can we appreciate the real history of the man, and we therefore acknowledge great indebtedness to the author of this interesting booklet.

"Tibbets copied in his log-book the names of five hundred prisoners; names of vessels and dates of capture. The brig Fancy, taken in August, 1777, had Francis Salter from Marblehead, and Thomas Salter from Frenchman's Bay. The brig Dalton, taken December 24, 1776, had Joseph Shillaber of Portsmouth, who was exchanged; Captain Gerrish from Portsmouth, taken in brig Aurora, ran away."

Andrew Sherburne, in his Memoirs, published in Utica in 1828,

Capt. Richard Salter Tibbets of Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

gives an interesting account of his capture in the privateer Greyhound, Captain Jacob Willis of Salem. In the outer yard of the Old Mill Prison he found 'Old Aunt Anna', with her hand-cart to supply the prisoners with bread, butter, tobacco, needles and thread. 'I hailed from Piscataqua, and Piscataqua men were called and formed a circle around me. Mr. Tibbets was the only person amongst them with whom I had had any acquaintance, though most of the Portsmouth people had known my father'. Sherburne was sixteen, had been at school but a few months, and could not write nor figure. Tibbets offered to instruct him and he made rapid progress. Soon after, the capture of Cornwallis caused a general exchange of prisoners. Colonel Lawrence, United Minister to Holland, was released from the Tower and visited Mill Prison."

"After fifteen months' absence from America, Sherburne writes he arrived at Portsmouth. 'There was a letter-of-marque brig of eight carriage guns, called the Scorpion, fitting out for the West Indies, to be commanded by Captain Richard Salter; and my good friend Richard S. Tibbets, who was my tutor in Mill Prison, was going as one of the mates, and I had the offer of going as boat-swain. We had been out about five days, and were discovered by one of his most gracious majesty's frigates, which chased us from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M. under what the sailors would call a stiff and increasing breeze, and though our brig was an excellent sailor, she rather gained on us. We were therefore obliged to heave off our deckload of lumber and then very easily escaped her."

Tibbets's log-book reports various voyages in war times.

"On November 25, 1783, the British left New York and on Thursday, May 28, 1783, the brig Neptune, Captain Shackford, left Long Wharf, Portsmouth, and sailed to the West Indies with a load of lumber, which was exchanged for puncheons of rum, and landed in Portsmouth in September. In July they were in Jacmel Bay (where Tibbets died in 1821). Captain Shackford was taken down with the fever and was sick many days. At Port Antonio the Captain went ashore to the fort by desire of the commanding officer. Port Maria, Ocoya, Morro Castle, Havana, and other ports are mentioned. Another log shows Tibbets was near Havana, April 6, 1812."

Richard Salter Tibbets was one of the first officers selected for the new navy of the United States. He had been educated abroad, accustomed to the sea all his life, and was considered a very skillful navigator. He entered the service December 5, 1798, during the war with France. John Adams, who was then President, signed his commission January 7, 1799. C. W. Goldsborough, for Secretary of the Navy, wrote him four days later: 'The President of the United States by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, has appointed you a Lieutenant in the Navy of the United States. You will immediately repair on board the ship Portsmouth, commanded by Daniel McNeill'. The Portsmouth, twenty-four guns, built in Portsmouth, carried a crew of two hundred and twenty men."
